Writing the Pacific Jen Webb, Kavita Ivy Nandan, 2007 Writing the Pacific is a new anthology of stories and poems that re-envisions the myths traditions and lived reality of Pacific ness Book jacket Targeting Commitment Rodney Scott, Ross Boyd, 2022-03-08 New Zealand's deceptively simple but effective program to improve public services New Zealand has long been considered at the forefront of public administration experimenting with new ways of organizing and delivering public services Even so successive New Zealand governments had mixed results from using traditional public management tools to lift the performance of the public service and address persistent problems that required multi agency action In 2012 the government decided to try something different As part of a reform package called Better Public Services the government challenged the public service to organize itself around achieving just ten results that had proven resistant to previous interventions The plan was deceptively simple set ambitious targets and publicly report on progress every six months hold small groups of public managers collectively responsible use lead indicators and learn from both success and failure This book explores how and why the New Zealand government made progress and how the program was able to create and sustain the commitment of public servants and unleash the creativity of public entrepreneurs The authors combine case studies based on the experience of people involved in the change together with public management research They explain how ambitious targets and public accountability were used as levers to overcome the bureaucratic barriers that impeded public service delivery and how data evidence and innovation were used to change practice New Zealand experimented failed succeeded and learned from the experience over five years This New Zealand experience demonstrates that interagency performance targets are a potentially powerful tool for fostering better public services and thus improving social outcomes

The Search for Better Educational Standards Martin Thrupp, 2017-08-22 This book deals with the development of New Zealand's standards system for primary school achievement Kiwi Standards which took effect from 2010 onwards and is becoming increasingly embedded over time The approach where teachers make Overall Teacher Judgements based on a range of assessment tools and their own observations rather than using any particular national test has created predictable problems with moderation within and across schools It has been claimed that this bold Kiwi Standards approach avoids the narrowed curriculum and mediocre outcomes of high stakes assessment in other countries Yet this book suggests it just produces another variant of the same problems and demonstrates that even a relatively weak high stakes assessment approach still produces performative effects The book provides a blow by blow account of the development of a policy including the continuous repositioning of New Zealand's Government as it has sought to justify the policy in the face of opposition from educators Indeed the Kiwi Standards tale provides a world class example of teachers fighting back against policy with the help of academics There is an indigenous M ori aspect to the story as well Finally this book also provides comparative international perspectives including responses from well known US English and Australian academics
