Man's Rage for Chaos Morse Peckham, 2003 Man's Rage For Chaos Morse Peckham, 1965 Toward an Integrative Theory of Urban Design Hossein Bahraoui, Ameneh Bakhtiar, 2016-05-13 This book takes a bold epistemological approach to address the fundamental questions that urban design has faced since its inception questions concerning its legitimacy definition nature content purpose theory methods jurisdiction and above all its knowledge base The appropriate level of urban design global or local is another critical and emerging question discussed At the end an integrative theory of urban design is introduced on the basis of which a set of principles is developed for application by practicing urban designers These principles are presented at three essential levels general global and local Iranian Toward an Integrative Theory of Urban Design is intended to dispel many of the ambiguities still troubling urban design as a discipline and profession The Oxford Handbook of Cognitive Literary Studies Lisa Zunshine, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Cognitive Literary Studies applies developments in cognitive science to a wide range of literary texts that span multiple historical periods and numerous national literary traditions Domesticating the Invisible Melissa S. Ragain, 2021-01-12 Domesticating the Invisible examines how postwar notions of form developed in response to newly perceived environmental threats in turn inspiring artists to model plastic composition on natural systems often invisible to the human eye Melissa S Ragain focuses on the history of art education in Cambridge Massachusetts to understand how an environmental approach to form inspired new art programs at Harvard and MIT As they embraced scientific theories of composition these institutions also cultivated young artists as environmental agents who could influence urban design and contribute to an ecologically sensitive public sphere Ragain combines institutional and intellectual histories to map how the emergency of environmental crisis altered foundational modernist assumptions about form transforming questions about aesthetic judgment into questions about an ethical relationship to the environment To Dance is Human Judith Lynne Hanna, 1987-09-15 Exploring dance from the rural villages of Africa to the stages of Lincoln Center Judith Lynne Hanna shows that it is as human to dance as it is to learn to build or to fight Dance is human thought and feeling expressed through the body it is at once organized physical movement language and a system of rules appropriate in different social situations Hanna offers a theory of dance drawing on work in anthropology semiotics sociology communications folklore political science religion and psychology as well as the visual and performing arts A new preface provides commentary on recent developments in dance research and an updated bibliography Mainland China Yu-ming Shaw, 2019-04-05 Over the past several years Mainland China has undertaken reforms in various domestic areas including culture and society education the economy and the Communist Party In addition since September 1982 Peking has begun to pursue an independent course in foreign relations In this volume based on the Thirteenth Sino American Conference in Tai The Ibsen Cycle Brian Johnston, 1992 Attempting no less a task than to demonstrate that Ibsen planned his last twelve plays beginning with Pillars of Society as a cycle paralleling exactly

Hegel's account of the evolution of the human consciousness. The Phenomenology of Mind Johnston offers a fresh look at the Norwegian master. Although there is little specific biographical data in support of the author's thesis, he argues compellingly for it in his analysis of the texts themselves. After discussing Hegel's dramatic method of exposition and Ibsen's philosophy, Johnston examines each of the twelve plays in considerable detail. Provocative and sophisticated in its approach, this volume should be widely available to scholars and advanced students of modern drama. Library Journal I Think I Am a Verb

Thomas A. Sebeok, 2013-11-11. My writing career has been at least in this one respect idiosyncratic: it had to mark and chart step by step its own peculiar campaign. My earliest papers, beginning in 1942, were technical articles in this or that domain of Uralic linguistics, ethnography, and folklore, with a sprinkling of contributions to North and South American linguistics. In 1954, my name became fecklessly associated with psycholinguistics, then successively with explorations in mythology, religious studies, and stylistic problems. It now takes special effort for me to even revive the circumstances under which I came to publish in 1955 a hefty tome on the supernatural, another in 1958 on games, and yet another in 1961 utilizing a computer for extensive sorting of literary information. By 1962, I had edged my way into animal communication studies. Two years after that, I first whiffled through what Gavin Ewart evocatively called the tulgey wood of semiotics. In 1966, I published three books which temporarily bluffed some of my friends into conjecturing that I was about to metamorphose into a historiographer of linguistics. The topmost layer in my scholarly stratification dates from 1976, when I started to compile what eventually became my semiotic tetralogy, of which this volume may supposably be the last. In the language of Jabberwocky, the word tulgey is said to connote variability and evasiveness. This notwithstanding, the allusion seems to me apt. Volume

Kenneth FitzGerald, Rudy VanderLans, 2012-04-17. Volume, a word that refers to sound collections and the measurement of space, is a crucial characteristic of both graphic design and popular music. While expressing different aspects of these two pervasive cultural mediums, the term also introduces a discussion on their many links. Volume: Writings on Graphic Design, Music, Art, and Culture is a collection of both new and classic writings by frequent Emigre contributor and educator Kenneth FitzGerald that surveys the discipline of graphic design in context with the parallel creative fields of contemporary music and art. The topics of the writings are diverse: the roles of class in design, design education, Lester Bangs and Creem magazine, pornography, album cover art, independent record labels, anonymity, and imaginary creative identities, and design as cultural chaos maker.
