My Body In Nine Parts:

Federman's Fictions Jeffrey R. Di Leo, 2012-01-02 This collection of essays offers an authoritative examination and appraisal of the French American novelist Raymond Federman's many contributions to humanities scholarship including Holocaust studies Beckett studies translation studies experimental fiction postmodernism and autobiography Although known primarily as a novelist Federman 1928-2009 is also the author of numerous books of poetry essays translations and criticism After emigrating to the United States in 1942 and receiving a Ph.D. in comparative literature at UCLA in 1957 he held professorships in the University at Buffalo's departments of French and English from 1964 to 1999 Together with Steve Katz and Ronald Sukenick he was one of the original founders of the Fiction Collective a nonprofit publishing house dedicated to avant garde experimental prose Far too many accounts treat Federman as merely a member of a small group of writers who pioneered metafictional or postmodern American literature Federman's Fiction will introduce or for some reintroduce to the broader scholarly community a creative and daring thinker whose work is significant not just to considerations of the development of innovative fiction but to a number of other distinct disciplines and emerging critical discourses Cosmodernism Christian Moraru, 2011 A study of the emerging cultural model of cosmodernism Reading the Human Body Mladen Popović, 2007-07-30 This study deals with physiognomic and astrological texts from the Dead Sea Scrolls that represent one of the earliest examples of ancient Jewish science For the first time the Hebrew physiognomic astrological list 4Q186 4QZodiacal Physiognomy and the Aramaic physiognomic list 4Q561 4QPhysiognomy are comprehensively studied in relation to both physiognomic and astrological writings from Babylonian and Greco-Roman traditions New reconstructions and interpretations of these learned lists are offered that result in a fresh view of their sense function and status within both the Qumran community and Second Temple Judaism at large showing that Jewish culture in Palestine participated in the cultural exchange of learned knowledge between Babylonian and Greco-Roman cultures

MUSIC RUDOLF STEINER, 2016 Our neurosensory system is inwardly configured music and we experience music as an artistic quality to the degree that a piece of music is in tune with the mystery of our own musical structure Rudolf Steiner What is music Rudolf Steiner regards the essence of music as something spiritual inaudible to the senses The world of tones borne on the vibrations of air is not the essential element The true nature of music the spiritual element in music he says is found between the tones lies in the intervals as an inaudible quality Rudolf Steiner spoke repeatedly about music as something inherent both in the cosmos and the human being It played an important role in many forms of ritual and worship and people once perceived a link between music and the world of stars which was seen as the dwelling place of the gods Nowadays our view of music is divorced from such religious outlooks but research repeatedly demonstrates the profound effect it continues to have on us In this unique anthology of texts compiled with a commentary and notes by Michael Kurtz Steiner describes the realm of the spiritually resonating harmonies of the spheres and our intrinsic connection to this cosmic music He also explores the phenomenon of musical listening and experience as well as Goethe s approach to music
