Making a Way out of No Way Lisa Krissoff Boehm, 2010-01-06 The Second Great Migration the movement of African Americans between the South and the North that began in the early 1940s and tapered off in the late 1960s transformed America This migration of approximately five million people helped improve the financial prospects of black Americans who in the next generation moved increasingly into the middle class Over seven years Lisa Krissoff Boehm gathered oral histories with women migrants and their children two groups largely overlooked in the story of this event She also utilized existing oral histories with migrants and southerners in leading archives In extended excerpts from the oral histories and in thoughtful scholarly analysis of the voices this book offers a unique window into African American women s history These rich oral histories reveal much that is surprising Although the Jim Crow South presented persistent dangers the women retained warm memories of southern childhoods Notwithstanding the burgeoning war industry most women found themselves left out of industrial work The North offered its own institutionalized racism the region was not the promised land Additionally these African American women juggled work and family long before such battles became a staple of mainstream discussion In the face of challenges the women who share their tales here crafted lives of great meaning from the limited options available making a way out of no way

No Way To Pick A President Jules Witcover, 2025-09-23 A premier political reporter considers our presidential politics and how to improve them an essential book as campaign 2000 gets under way Jules Witcover who has covered every presidential election since 1952 here combines unparalleled anecdotal knowledge about Presidential politics with scintillating wisdom about just what s wrong with those politics He shows us in memorable and dramatic detail how over the years an influx of professional mercenaries with no party loyalties and virtually no political principles has corrupted

American public life and formed a new technocracy that dominates every phase of electoral politics Along with this television has changed politics dramatically even destructively which only discourages voter participation and puts off some of our most promising candidates In this lively story filled book Witcover examines the many ways in which politicians have condoned or encouraged these developments and how they have responded to the new demands of a media driven money conscious age He assesses the effect of campaign funds both soft and hard and of a press corps that practices invasive gotcha journalism in its own quest for greater celebrity and financial reward He concludes with sage and experienced recommendations on how to improve our Presidential politics beginning even this year and revive public interest and confidence in American democracy
