Research into Nurse Education Bryn D. Davis, 2025-09-17 Originally published in 1983 this book provides a revealing and comprehensive perspective on nurse education in the 20th Century The opening chapters look at the students themselves the sort of people who come into nursing and it examines why the drop out rate is high and how reality differs from expectations The following section examines teaching on the wards and the final part is concerned with the education and support of those involved in nurse teaching It includes a discussion of the nature of teaching and of ways of studying the teaching process as well as analysis of developments in the provision of library and information services to nurse educators nurse administrators and clinical nursing staff FM for Education Franklin Dunham, Gertrude Golden Broderick, Ronald Redvers

Lowdermilk, 1948 Complexity and Values in Nurse Education Martin Lipscomb, 2022-07-06 This work explores the interplay of complexity and values in nurse education from a variety of vantages Contributors who come from a range of international and disciplinary backgrounds critically engage important and problematic topics that are under investigated elsewhere Taking an innovative approach each chapter is followed by one or more responses and on occasion a reply to responses This novel dialogic feature of the work tests animates and enriches the arguments being presented Thought provoking challenging and occasionally rumbustious in tone this volume has something to say to both nurse educators who may find cherished practices questioned and students Given the breadth and nature of subjects covered the book will also appeal to anyone concerned about and interested in nursing s professional development trajectory Using Patient

Experience in Nurse Education Tony Warne, Sue McAndrew, 2004-11-04 Current health policy places an emphasis on the greater involvement of health service users and carers in all aspects of their care including planning provision and evaluation

However the focus is usually on after the event accounts i.e. when individuals have become consumers of health care services. There is little patient involvement in before the event experiences such as planning to meet health care needs or in the training of health care practitioners. This book fills that gap and meets a growing demand for educational approaches that address the perspectives of patients and carers. Nurse Education Reauthorization Act of 1988 United States. International Partnerships for Strengthening Health Care Workforce Capacity: Models of Collaborative Education Jeanne Mahoney Leffers, Jennifer Gail Audette, Kevin S. Hardwick, William Van Cleve, 2018-07-31. A critical problem in resource scarce countries across the globe is the shortage of appropriately trained health care providers. According to the World Health Organization the current global health workforce shortage of 7.2 million providers is estimated to increase to 12.9 million by 2035. This disproportionately affects resource scarce countries denying basic health care to millions and limiting access to life saving treatments. Due to limited resources in these countries not enough health professionals receive training, few have the opportunity for continuing education and the ability to develop or implement educational programs and curricula is constrained. Additionally many existing providers choose to emigrate in pursuit of professional advancement opportunities contributing to the overall shortage of qualified health care providers in these environments Efforts to strengthen health workforce capacity not only increases access safety and availability of care but is critical to building resilient health systems capable of caring for the world s neediest populations This requires not only cultivating new health care providers but also providing ongoing professional development to retain and support current providers advancing the level of practice in accordance with current clinical science cultivating educators and enhancing training curricula It is critical also to contribute to the limited body of research documenting the effectiveness and impact of various models of collaborative education and partnership to improve health worker training and retention This Research Topic examines strategies for building health workforce capacity through the prism of educational partnerships offering significant examples of effective models of international collaborative education as well as insight and guidance on the structure and operation of successful global partnerships Collectively the 31 articles accepted and included in this eBook represent a diversity of health professions and geographies across academic non governmental organizations and other global partnership forms The published manuscripts highlight various elements of partnerships with several consistent themes emerging capacity building local empowerment mutual trust and respect long term commitment equity collaboration and the importance of integrating theory and practice for a balance of academic and clinical development The manuscripts provide examples of partnership and educational programs that are in the formative early stages of implementation and others which have been sustained long term some for decades The following eBook is divided into two parts with each part broken down into sections Part I of the eBook includes 18 manuscripts that showcase long term educational programs that strongly exemplify multiple foundational aspects of international partnerships in education including mutual collaboration and project management empowerment of host partners to lead and sustain programs and capacity building While individual manuscripts included in Part I look broadly at multiple aspects of successful international partnerships in education Part II manuscripts focus intently on one two elements Part II includes 13 articles that highlight partnership through short rather than long term educational initiatives as well as program development and broad academic partnerships This Research Topic was sponsored by Health Volunteers Overseas a United States based non profit that collaborates with over eighty international universities and health institutions to send volunteer health professionals to low resource countries to provide continuing education train the trainer courses professional support and consultation on academic program and curricula development
