Nursing The Dying:

Nursing Care at the End of Life Joyce V Zerwekh, 2005-12-28 Nursing Care at the End of Life Palliative Care for Patients and Families explores the deep issues of caring for the dying and suffering. The book is based on the Hospice Family Caregiving Model previously published by the author and focuses on the practice implications of care for the dying. The book is written in a clear and user friendly style and is ideal for undergraduate nursing students learning about dying, suffering and caring for individuals and their families.

Nursing Support for Families of Dying Patients Rosemary McIntyre, 2001-11-28 When a patient has an advanced disease considerable demands are placed on the whole family. Whilst coping with their own profound emotions close relatives commonly have to support their loved ones through a range of treatments as the disease progresses through stages of remission and recurrence until finally a shift to a palliative mode of treatment must be faced. In such situations family roles and relationships are likely to be disrupted and family members coping resources can be stretched to the limit. It is clear from this that by the time the terminal stage of the patient's illness is reached the family may have travelled a long and difficult road and close relatives are likely to be emotionally vulnerable and in need of support. This study explores the needs of relatives of terminally ill patients and the concerns of nurses who provide care in the hospital. The research data is used to design, implement and evaluate clinical standards for improved family support.

Nursing the Dying Patient John Costello, 2004-08-27 This text introduces the reader to the key issues surrounding care of the dying patient as well as highlighting the importance of context in the social management of dying. Written in a pragmatic style it provides a foundation from which to consider the theoretical and practical concerns that are central to terminal care in institutional as well as community based settings. Illustrated with case studies that demonstrate how the themes of the book can be applied in practice this text encourages readers to reflect on research findings so that they are stimulated to formulate their own ideas about caring for dying patients.

Compassionate Person-Centered Care for the Dying Bonnie Freeman, 2015-02-23 This groundbreaking reference for palliative care nurses is the first to provide realistic and achievable evidence based methods for incorporating compassionate and humanistic care of the dying into current standards of practice. It builds on the author's research based CARES Tool a reference that synthesizes five key elements demonstrated to enable a peaceful death as free from suffering as possible: Comfort, Airway Management, Management of Restlessness and Delirium, Emotional and Spiritual Support and Self Care for Nurses. The book describes step by step how nurses can easily implement the basic tenets of the CARES Tool into their end of life practice. It provides a clearly defined plan that can be individualized for each patient and tailored to specific family needs and facilitates caring for the dying in the most respectful and humane way possible.
