Handbook of Health Behavior Research IV David S. Gochman, 2013-06-29 Volume 4 considers the importance of health behavior research in practical settings. Particularly notable are treatments of the narrative approach, the taxonomy of health behavior, and the organization of health behavior knowledge. Each volume features extensive supplementary and integrative material prepared by the editor, the detailed index to the entire four volume set, and a glossary of health behavior terminology. Mental Health, United States, 1998 Mental Health, United States, 1996 Ronald W.

Manderscheid, Mary A. Sonnenschein, 1998-05 Provides summaries of statistical information on topics that will be of concern in health care. Chapters on managed care include policy considerations, lessons learned from behavioral managed care approaches, the status of managed behavioral health care in America, behavioral health care in HMOs. Other chapters provide mental health epidemiological data for adults, children, information on mental health in Medicare/Medicaid programs, mental health services in rural areas, data on mental health providers. Most chapters cover topics not included in previous editions.

Mental Health Policy and Practice Today Ted R. Watkins, James W. Callicutt, 1997-02-26 Mental Health Policy and Practice Today is the only textbook available in recent years that reflects the dynamic nature of mental health practice in today's rapidly changing society. This book begins with an overview of societal and cost issues related to mental health problems, including the formats now used for mental health delivery and the public planning and agencies involved. It then focuses on the expanding base of knowledge in mental health. Important areas of neuroscientific and social research are covered along with the significant contributions of psychoeducation and self-help and advocacy groups. Ten groups are specifically discussed, including the homeless, whose numbers have risen to crisis proportions in recent years in part due to their mass expulsion from institutional care. It then guides the reader through implications for the 21st century, including the influences of technology and funding shifts to managed care. Finally, it concludes with an exploration of issues that will need to be resolved based on the analysis of current policy, practice, and future projections. Readers will appreciate the multiple perspectives of this book and the blending of contributors' expertise in both research and service in the trenches. The broad spectrum of topics covered makes this book not only an effective text for traditional and specialized courses in the mental health professions but also an informative and stimulating resource for the current practitioner. It is an essential, timely book that illustrates that policy and practice in the mental health fields must be reconciled. Mental Health, United States, 1998

Ronald W. Manderscheid, Marilyn J. Henderson, 1999-07 Covers the emergence of managed behavioral health care, assessment of outcomes and assessment of performance, key factors in managed care, including risk adjustment, workforce competencies, and rural/served population based analyses for populations who are seriously mentally ill and severely emotionally disturbed, and for costs incurred through Medicare/Medicaid and private sector insurance plans. Motwani, Victor E. Sower, 2006 Benchmarking is defined as an improvement process in which a company measures its performance against that of best in class companies determines how those companies achieved their performance levels and uses the information to improve its own performance Bemowski 1992 p 20 Under the best of circumstances benchmarking can be difficult time consuming and costly Service benchmarking is made more difficult than benchmarking in manufacturing because it appears that those things which are important to the customer may differ significantly from one service industry to another Sower et al 2001 Because of the question about the universality of the definition of quality in the service industry and the impact on benchmarking activities the editors obtained as broad a cross section of papers for this special issue as possible The industries represented by the nine papers in this issue cover a broad spectrum of service industries from sports to banking from laboratory services to hospitality and tourism
