E. Abelian, 2006 Psychotherapy is the treatment of mental and emotional disorders using psychological methods Psychotherapy thus does not include physiological interventions such as drug therapy or electroconvulsive therapy although it may be used in combination with such methods Behaviour therapy aims to help the patient eliminate undesirable habits or irrational fears through conditioning Techniques include systematic desensitisation particularly for the treatment of clients with irrational anxieties or fears and aversive conditioning which uses negative stimuli to end bad habits Humanistic therapy tends to be more optimistic basing its treatment on the theory that individuals have a natural inclination to strive toward self fulfilment Therapists such as Carl Rogers and Abraham Maslow used a highly interactive client therapist relationship compelling clients to realise exactly what they are saying or how they are behaving in order to foster a sense of self awareness Cognitive therapies try to show the client that certain usually negative thoughts are irrational with the goal of restructuring such thoughts into positive constructive ideas Such methods include rational emotive therapy where the therapist argues with the client about his negative ideas and cognitive restructuring therapy in which the therapist works with the client to set attainable goals Other forms of therapy stress helping patients to examine their own ideas about themselves The Pineal Gland and Cancer C. Bartsch, H. Bartsch, D.E. Blask, D.P. Cardinali, W.J.M. Hrushesky, Dieter Mecke, 2012-12-06 The link between the pineal gland and cancer is a rapidly emerging research field due to promising experimental and clinical trials with melatonin The pineal gland acts as a transducer of environmental light to regulate rhythmic processes including reproductive function in seasonally breeding animals and the entrainment of circadian rhythms such as the sleep wake cycle in man This book elucidates the physiological significance of the pineal gland and surveys phenomena and mechanisms of pineal tumor interaction at the neuroendocrine neuroimmune neural and molecular levels Yet unidentified low molecular weight pineal substances with tumor inhibiting capacity a possible involvement of melatonin in electromagnetic field effects on cancer and the oncotherapeutic potential of melatonin are also addressed The
