Environmental Law and Contrasting Ideas of Nature Keith H. Hirokawa, 2014-07-17 Law's ideas of nature appear in different doctrinal and institutional settings historical periods and political dialogues Nature underlies every behavior contract or form of wealth and in this broad sense influences every instance of market transaction or governmental intervention Recognizing that law has embedded discrete constructions of nature helps in understanding how humans value their relationship with nature This book offers a scholarly examination of the manner in which nature is constructed through law both in the hard sense of directly regulating human activities that impact nature and in the soft manner in which law's ideas of nature influence and are influenced by behaviors values and priorities Traditional accounts of the intersection between law and nature generally focus on environmental laws that protect wilderness This book will build on the constructivist observation that when considered as a culturally contingent concept nature is a self-perpetuating and self-reinforcing social creation

An Uncommon Cape Eleanor Phillips Brackbill, 2012-09-01 Three mysteries precipitate an investigation into an otherwise ordinary suburban property revealing a past inextricably woven into four centuries of American history When Eleanor Phillips Brackbill bought her suburban Westchester house in 2000 three mysteries came with it First from the former owner came the information that the 1930s house was a Sears house or something like that Thrilled to think it might be a Sears Roebuck Co mail order house Brackbill was determined to find evidence to prove it She found instead a house pedigree of a different sort Second and even more provocative was the discovery of several iron stakes protruding from the property's enormous granite outcropping bigger in square footage than the house itself When queried about them the former owner told her Someone a long time ago kept monkeys there chained to the stakes Monkeys Was this some kind of suburban legend A third mystery came to light at closing when a building inspector's letter contained a reference to the house having had at one time a different address Why would the house have had another address Her curiosity aroused and intent upon finding the facts Brackbill gradually peeled back layers of history allowing the house and the land to tell their stories and uncovering a past inextricably woven into four centuries of American history At the same time she found thirty-two owners across 350 years who had just one thing in common ownership of a particular parcel of land An Uncommon Cape not only tells the story of an eight-year odyssey of fact-finding and speculation but also answers the broader question What came before and through material presented in twenty-two sidebars offers readers

Tucumcari Tonite! David H. Stratton, 2022-04-01 Tucumcari New Mexico was founded in 1901 by the Rock Island Railroad and soon had major railroad lines converging there from Chicago Los Angeles and Memphis as well as a northern branch line from the Dawson coalfields The federal highway system established Route 66 the Main Street of America through the middle of town in 1926 Tucumcari flourished as a tourist mecca welcoming travelers with its blazing displays of neon lights But mergers reorganizations and financial problems of the railroads as well as the creation of the interstate highway system that bypassed small places brought a sharp decline to the once prosperous town Tucumcari Tonite blends in depth research and personal and family experiences to re create a memoir of Tucumcari Drawing on newspapers and government documents as well as business records personal interviews and archival holdings Stratton weaves a poignant tale of a western town s rise and decline providing a prime example of the destructive forces that have been inflicted on small towns in the West and all across America The 1950s William H. Young,2004-04-30 Have the 1950s been overly romanticized Beneath the calm conformist exterior new ideas and attitudes were percolating This was the decade of McCarthyism Levittowns and men in gray flannel suits but the 1950s also saw bold architectural styles the rise of paperback novels and the Beat writers Cinema Scope and film noir television variety shows the Golden Age of the automobile subliminal advertising fast food Frisbees and silly putty Meanwhile teens attained a more prominent role in American culture with hot rods rock n roll preppies and greasers and gasp juvenile delinquency At the same time a new technological threat the atom bomb lurked beneath the surface of the postwar decade This volume presents a nuanced look at a surprisingly complex time in American popular culture Affective Geographies of Transformation, Exploration and Adventure Hayley Saul,Emma Waterton,2018-06-27 Combining critical reflections from scholars around the globe as well as experiential records from some of the world s most tenacious explorers this book interrogates the concept of the frontier as a realm of transformation exploration and adventure We discover the affective power of social physical spiritual and political frontiers in shaping humanity s abilities to change and become We collectively unpack the enduring conceptualization of the frontier as a site of nation state identity formation violent colonization masculine prowess and the triumph of progress In its place this book charts a more complex and subtle emotional geography amidst an array of frontiers the expanding human psyche that is induced under free diving narcosis and tales of survival on one of the most technically difficult mountains in the world The Ogre Chapters consider solitude in the Sahara near death experiences in Tibetan Buddhism the aftermath of a volcanic eruption in Bali the Spanish Imaginary snatched moments of sexual curiosity and many more This book will be of upmost importance to researchers working on theories of affect the Anthropocene frontier theory and human geography It will be vital supplementary reading for undergraduates and postgraduates on courses such as Heritage Studies Human and Cultural Geography Anthropology Tourism Studies and History Muriel Rukeyser and Documentary Catherine Gander,2013-01-04 Provides a new perspective on the documentary diversity of Muriel Rukeyser s work and influences This study of twentieth century American poet Muriel Rukeyser explores the multiple avenues of her poetics of connection to reveal a profound engagement with the equally intertextual documentary genre It examines previously overlooked photo narratives poetry prose and archival material and demonstrates an enduring dialogue between the poet s relational aesthetics and documentary s similarly interdisciplinary and creative approach to the world By considering the sources of documentary in Rukeyser's work the study provides insight into her guiding poetic principles situating her as a vital figure in the history of twentieth century American literature and culture and as a pioneering personality in the development of American Studies Mobility without Mayhem Jeremy Packer, 2008-02-26 A cultural studies account of automobiles and concerns about safety in the U S from the 1950s to the present Zoomscape Mitchell Schwarzer, 2004-03 Although a few among us are intrepid architectural tourists visiting buildings and landscapes our cameras at the ready most of us experience architecture through the windshield of a moving vehicle the architectural experience reduced to a blurry and momentary drive by And the rest of our architectural tourism is through the images of cameras movies and television programs that is through the lens of another's eye Architectural historian Mitchell Schwarzer calls this new mediated architectural experience the zoomscape In this thought provoking book he argues that the perception of architecture has been fundamentally altered by the technologies of transportation and the camera we now look at buildings neighborhoods cities and even entire continents as we ride in trains cars and planes and or as we view photographs movies and television Zoomscape shows how we now perceive buildings and places at high speeds across great distances through edited and multiple reproductions Nowadays our views of the architectural landscape are modulated by the accelerator pedal and the remote control by studio production techniques and airplane flight paths Using examples from high art and popular culture from the novels of Don DeLillo to the opening credits of The Sopranos Mitchell Schwarzer shows that the zoomscape has brought about unprecedented and often marvelous new ways of perceiving the built environment

Survival City Tom Vanderbilt, 2010-04-15 On the road to Survival City Tom Vanderbilt maps the visible and invisible legacies of the cold war exhuming the blueprints for the apocalypse we once envisioned and chronicling a time when we all lived at ground zero In this road trip among ruined missile silos atomic storage bunkers and secret test sites a lost battleground emerges amid the architecture of the 1950s accompanied by Walter Cotten's stunning photographs Survival City looks deep into the national soul unearthing the dreams and fears that drove us during the latter half of the twentieth century A crucial and dazzling book masterful and for me at least intoxicating Dave Eggers A genuinely engaging book perhaps because Vanderbilt is skillful at conveying his own sense of engagement to the reader Los Angeles Times A retracing of Dr Strangelove as ordinary life Greil Marcus Bookforum

Driven Wild Paul S. Sutter, 2009-11-23 In its infancy the movement to protect wilderness areas in the United States was motivated less by perceived threats from industrial and agricultural activities than by concern over the impacts of automobile owners seeking recreational opportunities in wild areas Countless commercial and government purveyors vigorously promoted the mystique of travel to breathtakingly scenic places and roads and highways were built to facilitate such travel By the early 1930s New Deal public works programs brought these trends to a startling crescendo The dilemma faced by stewards of the nation's public lands was how to protect the wild qualities of those places while accommodating and often encouraging automobile based tourism By 1935 the founders of the Wilderness Society had become convinced of the impossibility of doing both In Driven Wild Paul Sutter traces the intellectual and cultural roots of the modern wilderness movement from about 1910 through the 1930s with tightly drawn portraits of four Wilderness Society founders Aldo Leopold Robert Sterling Yard Benton MacKaye and Bob Marshall Each man brought a different background and perspective to the advocacy for wilderness preservation yet each was spurred by a fear of what growing numbers of automobiles aggressive road building and the meteoric increase in Americans turning to nature for their leisure would do to the country's wild places As Sutter discovered the founders of the Wilderness Society were driven wild pushed by a rapidly changing country to construct a new preservationist ideal Sutter demonstrates that the birth of the movement to protect wilderness areas reflected a growing belief among an important group of conservationists that the modern forces of capitalism industrialism urbanism and mass consumer culture were gradually eroding not just the ecology of North America but crucial American values as well For them wilderness stood for something deeply sacred that was in danger of being lost so that the movement to protect it was about saving not just wild nature but ourselves as well

Walker,2009-11-23 Winner of the Western History Association s 2009 Hal K Rothman Award Finalist in the Western Writers of America Spur Award for the Western Nonfiction Contemporary category 2008 The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world s most beautiful cities Despite a population of 7 million people it is more greensward than asphalt jungle more open space than hardscape A vast quilt of countryside is tucked into the folds of the metropolis stitched from fields farms and woodlands mines creeks and wetlands In The Country in the City Richard Walker tells the story of how the jigsaw geography of this greenbelt has been set into place The Bay Area s civic landscape has been fought over acre by acre an arduous process requiring popular mobilization political will and hard work Its most cherished environments Mount Tamalpais Napa Valley San Francisco Bay Point Reyes Mount Diablo the Pacific coast have engendered

some of the fiercest environmental battles in the country and have made the region a leader in green ideas and organizations. This book tells how the Bay Area got its green grove from the stirrings of conservation in the time of John Muir to origins of the recreational parks and coastal preserves in the early twentieth century from the fight to stop bay fill and control suburban growth after the Second World War to securing conservation easements and stopping toxic pollution in our times. Here modern environmentalism first became a mass political movement in the 1960s with the sudden blooming of the Sierra Club and Save the Bay and it remains a global center of environmentalism to this day. Green values have been a pillar of Bay Area life and politics for more than a century. It is an environmentalism grounded in local places and personal concerns close to the heart of the city. Yet this vision of what a city should be has always been informed by liberal even utopian ideas of nature, planning, government and democracy. In the end, green is one of the primary colors in the flag of the Left Coast where green enthusiasms like open space are built into the fabric of urban life. Written in a lively and accessible style, The Country in the City will be of interest to general readers and environmental activists. At the same time it speaks to fundamental debates in environmental history, urban planning and geography.
