The Second Sense Robin Maconie, 2002-05-07 In a visual culture hearing is the second sense and music is the art of hearing Kandinsky believed that music transcended painting and visual representation because it had the power to act directly and invisibly on the human spirit Because it is the only art to deal unequivocally with the real world of sound and its attendant perceptions of time motion and human mortality music remains a powerful and often controversial influence on human behavior Defining music in the broadest sense as any acoustic activity intended to influence the behavior of others and written in a clear conversational style for a non specialist readership The Second Sense draws on over 100 examples of recorded musical sources from throat singing to Beethoven and from traditional Japan to Boulez including a great many popular classics On the basis that Everything you hear is true true of yourself true of the music and true of the relationship between what you hear and how you hear it the author teases out the signs symbols and patterns of thought that arise from the way people hear the sounds people make and the instruments and environments that are designed and constructed to enhance the listening experience Maconie aims to do for music what Klee and Kandinsky did for art education and Marshall McLuhan for media studies

Maria Callas's Lyric and Coloratura Arias Ginger Dellenbaugh, 2021-10-21 More than 40 years after her death the legend of Maria Callas La Divina Assoluta remains unsurpassed Much has been written about her sensational opera career and fraught private life from her definitive mastery of iconic opera roles to her love affairs and tantrums The prototype for the 20th century celebrity diva Callas emblemizes the cliché of tormented talent genius in the ring with catastrophe Her extraordinary voice in particular has become an object of cult like adoration and cultural significance almost with a life of its own as fetish object as sophisticated sonic signifier and most recently as the lifeblood for a Callas hologram Such adoration is not without consequences When Callas is transformed into a vessel for such transcendent magic it overshadows what is perhaps her most superhuman ability the masterful technique she deployed to shape and craft her astounding instrument Singing bodies are working bodies enacting an intimate and complex form of artistic labor and cultural signification Using one of Callas's first recital recordings from 1954 this book envisions each aria as a lens to examine various aspects of vocalization and cultural reception of the feminized voice in both classical and pop culture from Homer's Sirens to Star Trek With references to works by Marina Abramovic Charles Baudelaire Michel Chion Wayne Koestenbaum Greil Marcus and Farah Jasmine Griffin as well as films by Pier Paolo Pasolini Jonathan Demme and Rainer Werner Fassbinder each chapter explores phenomena unique to the singing voice including the operatic screaming point the politics of listening and the singing simulacrum WOMBS. the Tale of Four Foetuses Beba Papakyriakou, 2010-09-29 Four foetuses one Jewish one English two Mexicans three wombs much reacting to and commenting on everything taking place inside and outside the womb including tidal waves in the womb travels to the Far East penis envy at the cricket being attacked by bees heavy breathing and frogs legs Bulletin of the Center for Children's Books University of Chicago. Center for Children's Books, 1983 Contemporary German-Chinese Cultures in Dialogue Haina Jin, Anna Stecher, Rebecca Ehrenwirth, 2023-05-16 This book provides a unique perspective on contemporary German and Chinese cultural encounters Moving away from highlighting exchanges between the two countries in terms of colonial connections religious influences and philosophical impacts the book instead focuses on the vast array of modern cultural dialogues that have influenced both countries especially in literature theatre and film The book discusses issues of translation adaptation and reception to reveal a unique cultural relationship The editors and contributors examine the existing programs and strategies for cultural interchange and analyse how these shape or have shaped intercultural dialogue and what kind of intercultural exchange is encouraged This book is of interest to students and researchers of film and media studies Sinophone studies transnational studies cultural studies and social and cultural anthropology The Best in Children's Books University of Chicago. Center for Children's Books, 1986-08 Designed to aid adults parents teachers librarians in selecting from the best of recent children's literature this guide provides 1 400 reviews of books published between 1979 and 1984 This volume carries on the tradition established by Zena Sutherland's two earlier collections covering the periods from 1966 to 1972 and 1973 to 1978 Her 1973 edition of The Best in Children's Books was cited by the American School Board Journal as one of the outstanding books of the year in education The American Organist, 1984 Literacy and the Arts for the Integrated Classroom Nancy Lee Cecil, Phyllis Lauritzen, 1994 The Horn Book Magazine, 1983 My Life as a Splatted Flat Quarterback Bill Myers, 2006-10-29 In his newest original outing bungling hero Wally McDoogie runs into trouble by unfairly judging others and gossiping behind people's backs But it's not until he tries to see people through the eyes of God that he realizes it's better to love than to judge Televising the Performing Arts Merrill Brockway, Brian Geoffrey Rose, 1992-08-30 This is an exciting inside look at the professional careers of America's leading cultural TV directors Merrill Brockway Kirk Browning and Roger Englander have directed some of television's most memorable programming including Dance in America the Arturo Toscanini concerts Amahl and the Night Visitors Live from Lincoln Center and the Young People's Concerts with Leonard Bernstein Together they revolutionized the way television covers music dance opera and theater In interviews with TV historian Brian Rose they offer an engaging survey of five decades of American television The challenges they faced as cultural directors are brought vividly to life particularly the difficult task of translating works created for one medium to another They discuss what it was like to make concert music resonate for the home viewer how to squeeze grand opera onto the small screen and what steps to take in choreographing cameras to film ballet The interviews in Televising the Performing Arts reveal the complexities of television production as seen from the vantage point of the director In detailed examples Merrill Brockway Kirk Browning and Roger Englander illustrate the formidable operations involved in shooting large scale events like a live concert or staging an opera in the narrow confines of a TV studio They also explore their collaborations with some of the great artists of our time including George Balanchine Martha Graham Leonard Bernstein and Gian Carlo Menotti In addition to its analysis of the production process Televising the Performing Arts also documents the pressures both economic and creative in network television and the significant changes over the years at CBS NBC PBS and the cable networks Through his critical introductions Brian Rose provides a historical context to understanding the evolution of cultural programming and the lasting achievements of each of the three directors
