Operations And Tears A New Anthology Of Malawian Poetry:

Operations and Tears Anthony Nazombe, 2004 This new anthology is the product of some seven years of writing editing collecting and collating of poetry emanating from Malawi Many of the poems in the collection hark back to the time of major political changes between 1992 and 1994 The poets are predominantly women and men from Malawi both new and established voices They include Steve Chimombo Frank Chipasula Zangaphee Chizeze David Kerr Ken Lipenga Jack Mapanje Felix Munthali Lupenga Mphande Anthony Nazome Patrick O Malley and Francis Sefe Some poems by the Nigerian Niyi Osundare which he wrote for and dedicated to Jack Mapanje are also included Yoranivyoto Felix Mnthali, 2024-09-05 What keeps and attractive academic tied to the memory of a man she marries when he is about to die What do people who have been jailed without trial have to say to one another and to posterity What do they really long for as they languish in detention What is love How does it survive persecution Has the last word been written about Dr Banda What really brought him to power and how did he manage to wield it for so long In this his first novel the poet Felix Mnthali tries to answer some of these questions asked here He also gives us brief vignettes of his own life as well as sketches of the history of his beloved country of Malawi constructed in a fascinating way like a musical symphony one tune leading into another merging and accumulating a harmony or discord to form a satisfying whole it certainly stands the test of a literary work Literature succeeds better than history in bringing to life the reality of that history Pat Bryden Historical Dictionary of Malawi Owen J. M. Kalinga, 2012 Malawi established as the British protectorate of Nyasaland in 1891 gained its independence in 1964 and moved immediately into three decades of one party rule Since the mid 1990s however the country has held multi party elections as directed by its constitution and President Bingu wa Mutharika is currently serving his second term The fourth edition of the Historical Dictionary of Malawi now newly expanded and updated covers a wide range of areas in Malawi history including the rise and fall of state systems religious and socio political movements the economy environment transportation war disease and natural sciences Author Owen J M Kalinga charts developments from pre history to the post Banda Malawi from Tom Bokwito to James Sangala and from the UMCA mission at Magomero to the second term of Bingu wa Mutharika s presidency paying particular attention to the individuals groups communities and forces that have molded this South African country The dictionary itself contains over 1 000 cross referenced entries on crucial aspects of Malawi history and it is the most extensive single volume reference work on Malawi available In addition to the dictionary entries Kalinga provides a chronology containing important dates and events and an informative bibliographical section organized by subject The final part of the bibliography gives the reader a list of current and obsolete newspapers and periodicals related to Malawi an ideal resource for further research This newly updated edition is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Malawi The Columbia Guide to Central African Literature in English Since 1945 Adrian A. Roscoe, 2008 Columbia s guides to postwar African literature paint a unique portrait of the continent's rich and diverse literary traditions. This volume examines the rapid rise and growth of modern literature in the three postcolonial nations of Zimbabwe, Malawi, and Zambia. It tracks the multiple political and economic pressures that have shaped Central African writing since the end of World War II and reveals its authors' heroic efforts to keep their literary traditions alive in the face of extreme poverty and AIDS. Adrian Roscoe begins with a list of key political events. Since writers were composing within both colonial and postcolonial contexts, he pays particular attention to the nature of British colonialism, especially theories regarding its provenance and motivation. Roscoe discusses such historical figures as David Livingstone, Cecil Rhodes, and Sir Harry Johnston, as well as modern power players including Robert Mugabe, Kenneth Kaunda, and Kamuzu Banda. He also addresses efforts to create a literary historical record from an African perspective, an account that challenges white historiographies in which the colonized was neither agent nor informer. A comprehensive alphabetical guide profiles both established and emerging authors and further illustrates issues raised in the introduction. Roscoe then concludes with a detailed bibliography recommending additional reading and sources. At the close of World War II, the people of Central Africa found themselves mired in imperial fatigue and broken promises of freedom. This fueled a desire for liberation and a major surge in literary production, and in this illuminating guide, Roscoe details the campaigns for social justice and political integrity for education and economic empowerment and for gender equity, participatory democracy, rural development, and environmental care that characterized this exciting period of development.

Contradictions in Post-war Education Policy Formulation and Application in Colonial Malawi 1945-1961 I. C. Lamba, 2010. The post World War II colonial reconstruction programmes for economic recovery and general political and social development in Malawi, then known as Nyasaland, necessitated increased education. But the sincerity of metropolitan development plans for the colonies could only be adequately appraised through the degree of demonstrated commitment in the implementation of the announced plans. This study seeks to examine chronologically the development and application of colonial education policies during the period 1945 to 1961 in Malawi. The parties involved included the British Colonial Office, the Nyasaland Protectorate Government, and the Christian missionaries on the one hand, and the European settlers, Asian, Coloured, and African communities on the other, as the target groups of the policies. Devising educational policies of equitable benefit to all the racial and social groupings in Malawi posed enormous problems to the colonial administration. This study, examining the dynamics and course of policy, contends that given the prevailing economic and political conditions, non-European education, especially that of Africans, experienced retardation in favour of European education. Sometimes apparent government ineptitude combined with calculated needs for the Europeans produced underdevelopment for African education in Malawi and the country's economy. In the end, African education operated against the odds of missionary and government apathy. This book discusses the impact on education, generally, of the Nyasaland Post War Development Programme, the Colonial Office Commissions of 1947, 1951, and 1961, and the local Committees set up to inquire into the retardation of African education in its various categories including female and Muslim in response to both local and international pressure Although considered a priority African education developed slowly contrary to the declared goal of Post War colonial policy of self determination with its potential demands for trained local manpower The argument demonstrates the tenacity of the Federal Government of Rhodesia and Nyasaland in playing down African education as a political strategy from 1953 to 1961 at the same time as it accorded a better deal to Asian and Coloured education

Church, State, and Society in Malawi James Tengatenga, 2006 Missionary history in Africa asserts that political history on the continent cannot be understood without an in depth understanding of the workings of the missions missionary activities and ideologies were central to political consciousness The Anglican Church was involved in society education health and politics right from its first foray into Malawi This study considers the nature of the involvement of that Church in society and how it engaged with the State from its genesis in the colonial period through the post independence period to the new post Banda political dispensation in 1994 It illustrates how the Church was involved on both sides of the independence struggle and interrogates why it fell conspicuously silent thereafter
