Stereoatlas of Ophthalmic Pathology Peter Meyer, Karin U. Löffler, 2006 This stereoscopic atlas is based on the slide collection of the late Professor B Daicker Basel who was renowned for his merits in ophthalmopathology the world over From the compilation of on the whole 12 000 stereoscopic slides of interesting and rare eye diseases the editor selected 216 pairs to make them available to interested health professionals These images can be viewed through stereo glasses provided with the atlas to obtain a stereoscopic depth perception The atlas is divided into seven chapters Each chapter starts with a short introduction followed by the slides which are complemented by a description of the disease and by additional images which can be found on the also included CD ROM The technical efforts made together with the carefully selected content make this atlas unique and indispensable The stereoscopic visualization enhances the comprehension of eye disorders and makes it a much welcomed tool for the differential diagnostic process

Ophthalmic Pathology Interactive with Clinical Correlation I. S. Othman, 2009 Ophthalmic pathology is a mainstay in ophthalmic practice A deep understanding of ophthalmic pathology is essential to being a good clinician since what is seen from other disease entities in ophthalmic practice is simply an interpretation of gross pathology and sometimes a microscopic evaluation of diseases Ophthalmic pathology is usually directed to ophthalmologists by general pathologists Ophthalmologists are not used to identifying diseases at a histopathological or cellular level The pathogenesis of diseases is dependent on ongoing changes over time something that is difficult to ill

Mills,2012-07-16 A strong grounding in basic histology is essential for all pathologists However there had always been a gap between histology and pathology in which histologic information specifically for the pathologist was often lacking Histology for Pathologists deals with the microscopic features of normal human tissues from the perspective of the surgical pathologist This is the only text that uses human vs animal tissues for the histology It is the best reference in the literature for information on normal histology and as such is essential for all clinical pathologists Written by pathologists for pathologists the new edition updates the pathologist s understanding of normal histology up to date with the incremental advances made in the last five years The 3rd edition has become a classic purchased by virtually all residents beginning their pathology training as well as pathologists in practice The 4th edition builds on that substantial foundation The table of contents remains essentially the same with the exception of some changes in authorship National Library of Medicine Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1966

Ophthalmic Histopathology W.R. Lee,2013-04-17 The first edition of this book was written prior to 1991 and it seemed appropriate to revise and update the text in view of the rapid expansion in information which has occurred in the last decade Furthermore in the first edition the reproduction of some of the illustrations was not of sufficient standard to be of value to the reader Accordingly some of the inadequate figures have been replaced by colour figures which have been inserted into the text Colour has also been included because many histopathological illustrations e g special stains such as Gram PAS trichrome stains etc and immunohistochemical reactions are much better appreciated With regard to references I have taken advantage of the currently available access to all the medical literature which is what I anticipate will be the course of action of the reader Glasgow 2001 Acknowledgements It is a pleasure to record the support I have received in the last decade from Professors Wallace Foulds Colin Kirkness and Gordon Dutton and from Mr Bertil Damato in their continuing efforts to educate me in the subtleties of clinical ophthalmology I am particularly indebted to Dr Sarah Coupland who provided the information on lymphoid neoplasia which is included in this book and I must thank Dr Weng Sehu who established the computer equipment which has been so valuable in the preparation of the new illustrations

Eye Pathology Ralph C. Eagle, 2012-03-28 Eye Pathology An Atlas and Text is a basic introduction to eye pathology that can be read and mastered during an ophthalmic pathology rotation. In addition, it will serve as a well-illustrated resource for residents who are studying for the OKAP examinations or Board certification in ophthalmology. Completely written and illustrated by Dr. Eagle, this single-author text is primarily designed for ophthalmology residents and the comprehensive ophthalmologist not looking for a comprehensive text on the subject.
