Decolonization of Psychiatry in Jamaica Frederick W. Hickling, 2021-09-14 This book traces the historical postcolonial journey of four generations of Jamaican psychiatrists challenging the European colonial civilizing mission of psychiatric care It details the process of deinstitutionizing patients with chronic mental illness using psychohistoriographic cultural therapy by engaging them in creating sociodrama and poetry writing not only to express and reverse the stigma contributing to their marginalized status but also to reconnect them to a centuries long history of oppression The author thereby demonstrates that psychological decolonization requires a seminal understanding of the complex mental inter relationship between slaves and slaveowners Further it is shown how the model analyzes the antipodal dialectic history of descendants of Africans enslaved in the New World by brutish British Imperialists suffering from the European psychosis of white supremacy Drawing together a detailed description of the sociopoem Madnificent Irations with an examination of Jamaica s political and social history and the author s personal experience this compelling work marks an important contribution to decolonial literature It will be of particular interest to students and scholars of postcolonial studies critical race theory the history of psychology and community psychology Decolonization and the Other Sharon C. Sewell,2010-04-16 In 1962 Jamaica and Trinidad and Tobago became independent countries Barbados followed in 1966 In the years leading up to these events the history of the British West Indies was written largely by the British the colonial power who focused on the process of decolonization and the key local players involved After independence local scholars also focused on the role of political leaders in the newly independent countries To date scholars have paid little attention to the impact of these events on the local populations of these islands Decolonization and the Other The Case of the British West Indies explores the local perspectives on and reactions to events by using West Indian literature to supplement the historical record Beginning in the 1930s when local demands for political participation increased through the process of decolonization and into the early years of independence West Indian writers used their life experiences to document local reaction West Indian literature first appeared in 1950 when British publishers became interested in island authors and their novels By using the novels to supplement the historical record we can gain a better understanding of the process of decolonization and the early years of independence in the British West Indies Achieving Inclusive Education in the Caribbean and Beyond Stacey N. J. Blackman,Dennis A. Conrad,Launcelot I. Brown,2019-05-28 This book offers an international perspective of philosophical conceptual and praxis oriented issues that impinge on achieving education for all students It sheds light on the historical systemic structural organizational and attitudinal barriers that continue to be antithetical to the philosophy and practice of inclusive education within the Caribbean The first section of the book examines how globalized views of inclusion informed by philosophical ideas from the North have influenced and continue to influence the equity in education agenda in the region The second section considers how exclusion and marginalization still occur across selected Caribbean islands It provides both quantitative and qualitative data about the nature and experience of exclusion in selected Caribbean islands the UK and USA The third section tackles the practical realities of transforming education systems in the Caribbean for inclusion In particular it identifies teacher practices as the mainsite of interrogation that needs to be tackled if inclusion is to be successful The fourth and final section examines the contribution of principals and exemplars to the development and advocacy for inclusive education It discusses how educational leadership is understood as well as the role of school principals in making inclusion a reality in schools the challenges experienced and the qualities of education leaders The Third World in the Global 1960s Samantha Christiansen,Zachary A. Scarlett,2013 Decades after the massive student protest movements that consumed much of the world the 1960s remain a significant subject of scholarly inquiry While important work has been done regarding radical activism in the United States and Western Europe events in what is today known as the Global South Asia Africa and Latin America have yet to receive the attention they deserve This volume inserts the Third World into the study of the 1960s by examining the local and international articulations of youth protest in various geographical social and cultural arenas Rejecting the notion that the Third World existed on the periphery it situates the events of the 1960s in a more inclusive context building a richer more nuanced understanding of the era that better reflects the dynamism of the period

Quo Vadis Paul J. Erriah, 2011 Quotes from this Book Spain brought nothing to the New World except the horse and Roman Catholicism The French wished to expand the Spanish wished to hold on to everything they could the Dutch wished to be left alone the English planters wished to make money at whose expense was irrelevant and the English Government also wished to make money at the expense of the English planters in a chain of exploitation irrespective of place and people Thus the only way in which whites can protect their economic power is to accommodate to black political power which means the weakening of social distinctions associated with race Its general the Garveyite Africanist orientation did not sufficiently appreciate that it was impossible to restore a racial and tribal community and continuity violently broken for more than two hundred years Jamaican Democratic Socialism and Guyanese Cooperative Socialism can be directly traced to the appeal to the trade unions for mass support Party politics ante dated organized unionism in Trinidad thus Eric Williams collective nationalism Barbadian conservatism can be traced to its apparent socio psychological difference from the other states of the area The economy of the country floundered and the country remained in tact by massive foreign borrowing from willing lenders There also seems to be a creeping social and moral malaise in the country we obviously will have to find some means whereby the problem of trade in the world is made the subject of political management by agreement The intellectuals of the Caribbean are at arms with frustrations due to the lack of vision of their governments in implementing meaningful and cohesive policies for the national good Even the concept of MDCs and LDCs is being questioned Conflict also exists between CARICOM states with different natural resource endowments like oil and gas rich Trinidad and Tobago and the Windward Islands over the banana issue The question that must be asked is Is CARICOM running behind the metaphoric bus The Commonwealth Caribbean States should individually and collectively forge economic relations with Brazil in the vast area of the manufacturing of parts for various goods especially in light manufacturing

Worldmaking After Empire Adom Getachew, 2020-04-28 Decolonization revolutionized the international order during the twentieth century Yet standard histories that present the end of colonialism as an inevitable transition from a world of empires to one of nations a world in which self determination was synonymous with nation building obscure just how radical this change was Drawing on the political thought of anticolonial intellectuals and statesmen such as Nnamdi Azikiwe W E B Du Bois George Padmore Kwame Nkrumah Eric Williams Michael Manley and Julius Nyerere this important new account of decolonization reveals the full extent of their unprecedented ambition to remake not only nations but the world Adom Getachew shows that African African American and Caribbean anticolonial nationalists were not solely or even primarily nation builders Responding to the experience of racialized sovereign inequality dramatized by interwar Ethiopia and Liberia Black Atlantic thinkers and politicians challenged international racial hierarchy and articulated alternative visions of worldmaking Seeking to create an egalitarian postimperial world they attempted to transcend legal political and economic hierarchies by securing a right to self determination within the newly founded United Nations constituting regional federations in Africa and the Caribbean and creating the New International Economic Order Using archival sources from Barbados Trinidad Ghana Switzerland and the United Kingdom Worldmaking after Empire recasts the history of decolonization reconsiders the failure of anticolonial nationalism and offers a new perspective on debates about today s international order
