David Coen, Jeremy Richardson

Protectionism And The European Community:

The European Union between Free Trade and Protectionism Anes Ridha, 2022-01-18 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Economics International Economic Relations grade 1 3 University of Duisburg Essen Social Economics language English abstract This thesis deals with the European Union and its tension between free trade on the one hand and protectionism on the other A closer look at the EU reveals an inconsistency in its policies Thus in its domestic policy the EU represents a strongly free trade oriented attitude by standing for a single market without any restrictions Externally however the EU tends to take a protectionist stance in some sectors such as agricultural policy In order to be able to deal with this topic more exactly all bases must be understood as for example terms and theories For this purpose the concept of free trade and protectionism will be introduced in detail Then in chapter two the term economic justification of free trade is defined in more detail Trade Protection in the European Community Ludger Schuknecht, 2017-10-10 This book first published in 1992 provides an in depth analysis of the EC policy making processes relating to trade protection It argues that the decision making process is biased towards national policy makers leading to the political determination of the EC's administered protection with the outcome being that protection is geared towards domestic producer interests seeking relief from import competition This study offers a unique perspective because it locates the analysis of EC trade protection within the wider framework of EC decision making processes

Company Law and Economic Protectionism Ulf Bernitz, Wolf-Georg Ringe, 2010-12-23 A collection of essays examining the conflict between EU law and company law covering a broad range of topics including takeovers mergers and restructuring sovereign wealth funds and proportionality of ownership and control

Lobbying the European Union David Coen, Jeremy Richardson, 2009-06-04 It is universally accepted that there has been a huge growth in EU lobbying over the past few decades There is now a dense EU interest group system This entirely new volume inspired by Mazey Richardson's 1993 book Lobbying in the European Community seeks to understand the role of interest groups in the policy process from agenda setting to implementation Specifically the book is interested in observing how interest groups organise to influence the EU institutions and how they select different coalitions along the policy process and in different policy domains In looking at 20 years of change the book captures processes of institutional and actor learning professionalisation of lobbying and the possible emergence of a distinct EU public policy style More specifically from the actors perspective the editors are interested in assessing how the rise of direct lobbying and the emergence of fluid issue based coalitions has changed the logic of collective action and what is the potential impact of venue shopping on reputation and influence From an institutional perspective the contributors explore resource and legitimacy demands and the practical impact of consultation processes on the emergence of a distinct EU lobbying relationship It will be essential reading for academics and practitioners alike EU Coordination in International Institutions Peter Debaere, 2015-08-11 This book examines the European Union EU coordination of the G7 G8 and G20 Gx The author comprehensively maps out the different coordination processes for each Gx forum and assesses the procedures used the actors involved as well as the evolution of the Gx forum over time

The Effects of Greater Economic Integration Within the European Community on the United States, 1990

The European Community and the Developing Countries Enzo R. Grilli, 1993

The European Community has long been the largest trading bloc in the world It is also on the way to becoming the world's largest integrated economic zone Its trade aid and development cooperation policies are therefore of great importance to developing countries At the same time the developing countries have continued to be of interest to the Community both as outlets for its exports and capital investments and as sources of raw materials This 1993 book analyses and evaluates European Community trade aid and industrial policies towards developing countries their origin main features logic evolution and effectiveness in reaching the goals assigned to them The author sums up the state of Europe's development policies by describing them as regional in scope colonial in geographical emphasis discriminatory in their effects and lacking in overall cogency This incisive re-evaluation illustrates the different strategies the EC countries might pursue in their relations with the outside world as they progress towards fuller economic integration

The European Community after 1992 Silvio Borner, Herbert Grubel, 2016-07-27

The liberalization of trade and factor movements and the adoption of a common currency proposed for the EEC in 1992 have important implications for the rest of the world Nineteen experts from academia different countries and regions and international organizations analyze these implications theoretically and empirically In general the authors expect Europe

1992 to generate positive effects on trade and welfare although concerns are raised over possible inward looking policies by the Community For many small and distant countries the effects are shown likely to be insignificant in any case The European Union and Turkey Mehmet Ugur,2019-05-23 First published in 1999 this volume draws on the theories of integration credible policy commitments and convergence this book demonstrates that the problematic evolution of the EU Turkey relations has been due to an anchor credibility dilemma neither Turkey s European orientation was a credible commitment nor was the EU s anchoring capacity resolute enough to make policy reversals in Turkey less likely The way out of this dilemma is to re write the existing contracts so that non transparency and the scope for discretion are minimised

Making Trade Policy in the European Community J.P. Hayes,2016-07-27 Commentators often see wide differences between policy as they consider how it should be conducted and how it actually emerges Those who are involved in making trade policy for their part commonly accuse commentators of not living in the real world There is often a dialogue of the deaf Part of Mr Hayes object has been to try to build bridges between practitioners and commentators with suggestions for ways of improving the policy making process in the future Hugh Corbet Consultant Trade Policy Research Centre London The external trade policies of the European Community are of great importance both for its own people and for trading partners in the remainder of the world Yet the processes by which the European Community of twelve countries attempts to reach agreement have remained somewhat mysterious What has been the relative influence of principles of policy and of various political bureaucratic and private interests at both the Community and the national levels This volume is based on a number of case studies and also contains chapters on the formation of attitudes to trade policy in three of the largest countries of the Community Germany France and the United Kingdom New Zealand, Britain, and European Integration Since 1960

Hamish McDougall,2023-12-26 This book explores how New Zealand a small country almost as far from Western Europe as it is possible to be assumed political importance in Britain s accession to the European Community vastly out of proportion to its size proximity and strategic position At several points in accession negotiations the issue of New Zealand s continued trade with Britain threatened to derail UK Government attempts to join the Community This issue also interacted with the broader context of the Cold War economic shocks and decolonisation materially affecting the terms of entry into the European Community and altering Britain s relations with its European partners and the British public s perceptions of British membership After entry New Zealand continued to resurface as a continued source of tension between Britain and an integrating Europe The role that New Zealand played sheds light on Britain s attempts to retain global influence after the demise of its formal empire Contributing to a growing body of research which challenges the traditional historical narratives of British decline and colonial independence in the second half of the twentieth century this book fills an important gap in the historiography of Britain following the 1973 enlargement of the European Communities Trade and Cooperation with the European Union in the New Millenium Cheryl Saunders,Gillian D. Triggs,2021-10-18 This is the second volume in the series

The Melbourne Studies in Comparative International Law It contains the revised and updated versions of papers presented at the conference Trade Cooperation with the European Union in the New Millennium held at The University of Melbourne from 14 15 December 2000 The collection by leading international scholars and expert practitioners explores the current and future challenges which the European Union presents to Australia and Australasia and addresses broader issues of globalisation of markets and harmonisation of international trade law
