The Hieroglyphics of Space Neil Leach, 2005-06-29 An edited volume containing contributions from eminent theorists across visual culture architecture sociology art philosophy and US studies including Andrew Benjamin Barry Curtis Neil Leach Steven Pile and David Frisby The World Is a Ball John Doyle, 2010-10-12 Globe and Mail columnist John Doyle explores the international phenomenon of soccer In A Great Feast of Light John Doyle viewed his childhood in Ireland through the television screen Now he turns his eye to the most popular sport on the planet soccer It s a journey that begins with the first game John saw in 1960s era Ireland through soccer in the 21st century the World Cups in 02 and 06 the European Championships in 04 and 08 And Doyle has traveled the globe during the build up to the 2010 World Cup In between the drunken fans crazed taxi drivers leprechauns and lederhosen Doyle muses on the evolution of soccer as a global phenomenon He shows a sport where for 90 minutes on the pitch anything seems possible A game where colonized nations can tackle the power of their colonizers where oppressed immigrant groups can thoroughly trounce their host countries This book examines soccer from a new angle John Doyle offers a compelling social history of the ultimate sport each country and team competing in the historic 2010 World Cup and how the game has kept pace as the global village has sprung up around the playing field Feeling Time Amit S. Yahav, 2018-05-08 Literary historians have tended to associate the eighteenth century with the rise of the tyranny of the clock the notion of time as ruled by mechanical chronometry The transition to standardized scheduling and time discipline the often told story goes inevitably results in modernity s time keeper societies and the characterization of modern experience as qualitatively diminished In Feeling Time Amit Yahav challenges this narrative of the triumph of chronometry and the consequent impoverishment of individual experience She explores the fascination eighteenth century writers had with the mental and affective processes through which human beings come not only to know that time has passed but also to feel the durations they inhabit Yahav begins by elucidating discussions by Locke and Hume that examine how humans come to know time noting how these philosophers often consider not only knowledge but also experience She then turns to novels by Richardson Sterne and Radcliffe attending to the material dimensions of literary language to show how novelists shape the temporal experience of readers through their formal choices Along the way she considers a wide range of eighteenth century aesthetic and moral treatises finding that these identify the subjective experience of duration as the crux of pleasure and judgment described more as patterned durational activity than as static state Feeling Time highlights the temporal underpinnings of the eighteenth century s culture of sensibility arguing that novelists have often drawn on the logic of musical composition to make their writing an especially effective tool for exploring time and for shaping durational experience Confectioners Journal ,1924 180 Masterpieces You Should
