(anchorite),1993 The desert stood in stark opposition to the oikoumene the inhabited world of the fourth century Not because the world was a bad place but because the desert understood geographically religiously spiritually and mystically was the harsh uncompromising place where the Christian could be perfected by God Far from the Christian metropolis of Alexandria removed from the well known and much visited monastic settlements of the Thebaid and infinitely remote from Rome lay the garrison towns of Aswan and Philae There Christians and pagans coexisted Integral to the Christian community on this desert frontier of Empire were the local monks ascetics intercessors contemplatives and miracle workers The Difficult Saint Brian Patrick McGuire,1991 Born in 1090 Bernard of Clairvaux died sixty three years later and was canonized in 1174 His friends and brothers began writing his official life even before he died so convinced were they of his personal holiness and his importance to the Church of his day Not everyone who knew him however liked him no matter how much they may have admired his holiness For nine centuries those who have read his works and studied his activities have experienced a similar ambivalence Some regard this most controversial and provocative of saints as a great director of souls others consider him an ecclesiastical busybody In The Difficult Saint Brian Patrick McGuire examines various facets of Bernard s life and the legend that survived him from the perspective of the Middle Ages and of the modern world I want to suggest he writes that Bernard becomes more understandable as one grows older and gains more life experience Homilies on the
