Historical Collections Michigan State Historical Society, 1886 54 Soudias Jenifer Neils, 2025-01-30

Founded in 1881 the American School of Classical Studies at Athens is the oldest American overseas research institute It has hosted and trained hundreds of classical scholars and archaeologists and more recently expanded its mission to include Byzantine and later Greek history and culture This book compiled by the School's first female director in its 140 years traces for the first time the growing presence and prestige of this academic facility which sponsors the long term excavations of ancient Corinth and the Athenian Agora as well as one of the most important laboratories for archaeological science in Europe

Collection Thinking Jason Camlot, Martha Langford, Linda M. Morra, 2022-09-07 Collection Thinking is a volume of essays that thinks across and beyond critical frameworks from library archival and museum studies to understand the meaning of collection as an entity and as an act It offers new models for understanding how collections have been imagined and defined assembled created and used as cultural phenomena Featuring over 70 illustrations and 21 original chapters that explore cases from a wide range of fields including library and archival studies literary studies art history media studies sound studies folklore studies game studies and education Collection Thinking builds on the important scholarly works produced on the topic of the archive over the past two decades and contributes to ongoing debates on the historical status of memory institutions. The volume illustrates how the concept of collection bridges these institutional and structural categories and generates discussions of cultural activities involving artifactual arrangement, preservation, curation, and circulation in both the private and the public spheres. Edited and introduced collaboratively by three senior scholars with expertise in the fields of literature, art history, archives, and museums, Collection Thinking is designed to stimulate interdisciplinary reflection and conversation. This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners interested in how we organize materials for research across disciplines of the humanities and social sciences. With case studies that range from collecting Barbie dolls to medieval embroideries and with contributions from practitioners on record collecting, the creation of sub culture archives, and collection as artistic practice, this volume will appeal to anyone who has ever wondered about why and how collections are made.

Migrations Alexandra Barratt, Stephanie Hollis, 2009-05-27. Over two hundred items are catalogued in Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in New Zealand Collections 1989. Most are in institutional collections and were donated by late nineteenth and early twentieth century book collectors, notably Sir George Grey 1812-98, Governor and later Premier of New Zealand. Having been transported across the globe, the manuscripts have remained for the most part beyond the purview of northern hemisphere scholars. The contributors to this interdisciplinary collection of essays include international experts such as Christopher de Hamel, Richard Gameson, Margaret Manion, and Michael Orr, curators of New Zealand manuscript collections. New Zealand academics and a PhD student. Migrations has two main aims: to lodge the Early European manuscripts in New Zealand within the international discourse of postcolonial heritage and to place them within the mainstream of manuscript studies by drawing attention to their intrinsic significance and their relationship with manuscripts held in overseas collections. Part One focuses on the motives and historical circumstances underlying the formation of the principal collections and the subsequent changes in the ways that this heritage has been regarded. Three of the essays centre upon the bibliophiles who donated their manuscripts to public libraries. Others consider specific manuscripts as indices of changing attitudes to European, particularly British, cultural heritage. National identity, pedagogy, and curatorial practices are among the issues canvassed. Part Two consists of new scholarly studies of particular manuscripts which examine them in relation to the cultural and documentary context in which they were produced or transmitted. Manuscripts studied include a twelfth century copy of music treatises by Boethius and Guido of Arezzo, probably from Christ Church, Canterbury; a Perugian breviary owned by an Augustinian friar, Antonio da Macerata; a book of hours adapted for Scottish use, the Rosdhu Hours; and a fragment of an early fifteenth century book of hours produced by a London workshop and added to the Hours of Margery Fitzherbert. Migrations is an imaginative and ambitious contribution to twenty-first century manuscript studies. Most notably, the editors have invited manuscript scholars to address the issues raised by the manuscripts' location: New Zealand itself and its colonial history become tools for thinking with about dispersal, about cultural memory, about access, about the meanings ascribed to artefacts The editors have assembled a distinguished group of scholars in order to produce a collection of essays that is a coherent whole and at the same time individually driven by the intellectual curiosity that is the true sign of distinction The book is a triumph Professor Felicity Riddy Deputy Vice Chancellor and Professor of English University of York This excellent book makes a major contribution to the study of medieval manuscript collections in New Zealand and will open up a little known area of extremely important material to an international audience The quality of the scholarship throughout the book is very high and the essays on the individual manuscripts present the material in the context of recent new approaches in the study of medieval and Early Modern manuscripts Nigel Morgan Hon Professor of Art History University of Cambridge Head of Research Parker Library MSS Project Corpus Christi College Report Upon the Condition and Progress of the U.S. National Museum During the Year Ending June 30 ...
