

Sociology 1101 Readings
Unit 5

- Harari: Germans and Gorillas
 - About 7 million years ago, chimpanzees and gorillas had common ancestors
 - Human tribes tend to coalesce over time into larger groups
 - Modern Germans were created from the merger of Saxons, Prussians, Swabians, and Bavarians
 - Mergers don't always last
 - Humankind was divided into countless isolated tribes but with each passing millennium these fuse into larger and larger groups
 - This creates fewer and fewer distinct civilizations
 - In recent generations, civilizations have been blending into a single global civilization
 - The process of human unification has taken two distinct forms:
 - Establishing links between distinct groups
 - Homogenizing practices across groups
 - War spreads ideas, technologies, and people far more quickly than commerce does
 - People across the globe are increasingly sharing identical beliefs and practices
 - Global politics thus follows the Anna Karenina principle:
 - Successful states are all alike, but every failed state fails in its own way, by missing this or that ingredient of the dominant political package
 - Each country in the world has an anthem that conforms to the same universal model
 - National flags display the same dreary conformity
 - People still have different religious and national identities, but when it comes to the practical stuff almost all of us belong to the same civilization
- Frank: Worldwide Trends in Criminal Regulation of Sex
 - Focuses on cross-national and longitudinal data on the criminal regulation of rape, adultery, sodomy, and child sexual abuse between 1945 and 2005
 - Reforms Across Countries and Domains of Sexual Activity
 - Between 1945 and 2005, criminal laws regulating sexual activity shifted all over the world
 - Ex) New Zealand, the Prostitution Reform Act shifted the burden of criminal sanctions from sex workers onto those who exploit them
 - Case-By-Case Approaches
 - The case-study approach to sex-law reforms enjoys advantages like data availability

lectures and essays offering insight into the philosopher and his ideas on politics natural law and social sciences Toward Natural Right and History collects six lectures by Leo Strauss written while he was at the New School and a full transcript of his 1949 Walgreen Lectures These works show Strauss working toward the ideas he would present in fully matured form in his landmark work Natural Right and History In them he explores natural right and the relationship between modern philosophers and the thought of the ancient Greek philosophers as well as the relation of political philosophy to contemporary political science and to major political and historical events especially the Holocaust and World War II Previously unpublished in book form Strauss s lectures are presented here in a thematic order that mirrors Natural Right and History and with interpretive essays by J A Colen Christopher Lynch Svetozar Minkov Daniel Tanguay Nathan Tarcov and Michael Zuckert that establish their relation to the work Rounding out the book are copious annotations and notes to facilitate further study Bulletin of the Public Library of the City of Boston Boston Public Library,1879

Folk Housing in Middle Virginia Henry Glassie,2025-03-14 In this fascinating analysis of eighteenth century vernacular houses of Middle Virginia Henry Glassie presents a revolutionary and carefully constructed methodology for looking at houses and interpreting from them the people who built and used them Glassie believes that all relevant historical evidence unwritten as well as written must be taken into account before historical truth can be found He is convinced that any study of man s past must make use of nonverbal and verbal evidence since written history the story of man as recorded by the intellectual elite does not tell us much about the everyday life thoughts and fears of the ordinary people of the past Such people have always been in the majority however and a way has to be found to include them in any valid history In Folk Housing in Middle Virginia Glassie admirably sets forth such a way The people who lived in Middle Virginia in the eighteenth century are almost unknown to history because so little has been written about them After Glassie selected the area roughly Goochland and Louisa counties for study he selected a representative part of the countryside recorded all the older houses there developed a transformational grammar of traditional house designs and examined the area s architectural stability and change Comparing the houses with written accounts of the period he found that the houses became more formal and less related to their environment at the same time as the areas established political economic and religious institutions were disintegrating It is as though the builders of the houses were deliberately trying to impose order on the surrounding chaotic world Previous orthodox historical interpretations of the period have failed to note this Glassie has provided new insights into the intellectual and social currents of the period and has rescued a heretofore little known people from historiographical oblivion Combining a fresh perceptive approach with a broad interdisciplinary body of knowledge Glassie has made an invaluable breakthrough in showing the way to understand the people of history who have left their material things as their only legacy

Coming to Terms with the Nation Thomas Mullaney,2011 Studies China s Ethnic classification project minzu shibie of 1954 conducted in Yunnan province Secularization in the Long 1960s Clive D. Field,2017-03-16 Secularization in the Long 1960s Numerating Religion in Britain provides a major empirical contribution to the literature of secularization. It moves beyond the now largely sterile and theoretical debates about the validity of the secularization thesis or paradigm. Combining historical and social scientific perspectives, Clive D. Field uses a wide range of quantitative sources to probe the extent and pace of religious change in Britain during the long 1960s. In most cases, data is presented for the years 1955-80, with particular attention to the methodological and other challenges posed by each source type. Following an introductory chapter which reviews the historiography, introduces the sources and defines the chronological and other parameters, Field provides evidence for all major facets of religious belonging, behaving and believing, as well as for institutional church measures. The work engages with and largely refutes Callum G. Brown's influential assertion that Britain experienced revolutionary secularization in the 1960s, which was highly gendered in nature and with 1963 the major tipping point. Instead, a more nuanced picture emerges, with some religious indicators in crisis, others continuing on an existing downward trajectory, and yet others remaining stable. Building on previous research by the author and other scholars, and rejecting recent proponents of counter secularization, the long 1960s are ultimately located within the context of a longstanding gradualist and still ongoing process of secularization in Britain.
