Redheaded Rebel Susan L Mitchell Poet And Mystic Of The Irish Cultural Renaissance:

Red-headed Rebel Hilary Pyle, 1998 Poet and mystic of the Irish cultural renaissance of the early 20th century Susan Mitchell was a friend of Lily Yeats Constance Markiewicz and Seamas O Sullivan Her name was linked in Dublin with that of painter and mystic AE Raised by her unionist aunts in Dublin she rebelled against the privileged Protestant society in which she was reared to become a journalist on Plunkett's far sighted publications The Irish Homestead and The Irish Statesman at a time when Home Rule was imminent Objective despite her Republican views she lampooned contemporary politics and the literary world alike Her satirical commentary provides essential reading for a background to the present situation in Northern Ireland Women and the Irish Nation J. MacPherson, 2012-10-16 At the turn of the twentieth century women played a key role in debates about the nature of the Irish nation Examining women's participation in nationalist and rural reform groups this book is an important contribution to our understanding of Irish identity in the prelude to revolution and how it was shaped by women Protestant Nationalists in Ireland, 1900–1923 Conor Morrissey, 2019-10-10 An innovative and original analysis of Protestant advanced nationalists from the early twentieth century to the end of the Irish Civil War From the Grand Canal to the Dodder Beatrice M. Doran, 2021-01-18 The Dublin suburbs situated between the Grand Canal and the River Dodder consist of distinct neighbourhoods each with their own character and style It is an area that was and continues to be home to poets writers artists politicians and academics all of whom in their own way contributed to Irish life Those featured include Jack B Yeats artist Mother Mary Aikenhead Founder of the Religious Order Brendan Behan writer and dramatist Mary Lady Heath aviator and international athlete Sophie Bryant mathematician educationist and suffragette James Franklin Fuller architect and Seamus Heaney poet In this book Dr Beatrice M Doran tells of the lives of some of the most fascinating people who once lived on the leafy roads and avenues of this interesting area of the city Renegades: Irish Republican Women 1900-1922 Ann Matthews, 2010-08-01 The history of the Irish republican movement is dominated by the story of the men who took up arms in Ireland's fight for freedom against the British The names of men like Pearse Connolly Collins and Barry still resonate today as heroes who won independence for Ireland However the critical role of women in this fight for freedom has often been overlooked Renegades examines the part played by women in the major political and social revolutions that took place from 1900 1922 It explores the growing separation of republican women into two distinct groups those active on the military side in Cumann na mBan and those involved on the political side particularly with Sinn Féin It also looks at the often ignored war on women which manifested itself in the form of physical and sexual assaults by both sides during the War of Independence and the fury of female republicans as the political establishment accepted the Anglo Irish Treaty In this evocative account Renegades restores the women of the republican movement to the prominent place they deserve in Irish history The Waters and the Wild Gwen Wilkinson, 2023-04-06 In 2019 Gwen Wilkinson set herself the challenge of building a canoe and paddling it the length of Ireland along a network of inland waterways She set out from the shores of Lough Erne and navigated a 400 km journey to the tidal waters of the River Barrow in Ireland More than just a travelogue The Waters and the Wild explores the interwoven histories of the people and wildlife that shaped Gwen's journey As the adventure unfolds she also shines a light on pioneering women who have left their mark on Ireland's landscape both natural and cultural From wild camping on deserted islands to drifting on lakes in the company of restless lapwings this book invites the reader to share an intense engagement with the natural world The charming text is accompanied by the author's own striking lino and woodcut prints beautiful and though provoking interpretations of the flora and fauna she observed on her travels Palgrave Advances in Irish History M. McAuliffe, K.

O'Donnell, L. Lane, 2009-04-27 This book provides a much needed historiographical overview of modern Irish History which is often written mainly from a socio political perspective This guide offers a comprehensive account of Irish History in its manifold aspects such as family famine labour institutional women cultural art identity and migration histories The Child Savage, 1890-2010 Elisabeth Wesseling, 2016-12-05 Taking up the understudied relationship between the cultural history of childhood and media studies this volume traces twentieth century migrations of the child savage analogy from colonial into postcolonial discourse across a wide range of old and new media Older and newer media such as films textbooks children's literature periodicals comic strips children's radio and toys are deeply implicated in each other through ongoing remediation meaning that they continually mimic absorb and transform each other's representational formats stylistic features and content Media theory thus confronts the cultural history of childhood with the challenge of re thinking change in childhood imaginaries as transformation through repetition patterns rather than as rise shine decline sequences This volume takes up this challenge demonstrating that one historical epoch may well accommodate diverging childhood repertoires which are recycled again and again as they are played out across a whole gamut of different media formats in the course of time

Ireland of the Welcomes, 1998 The Irish Scene in Somerville and Ross Julie Anne Stevens, 2007 Ireland's foremost female writers of the nineteenth century Edith Somerville and Martin Ross advocated the High Art of Comedy during the period of transition and turbulence in the Irish countryside This critical biography of their collaboration from 1890 to Martin Ross's death in 1915 studies the self conscious artistry of the creators of the finest novel of the nineteenth century The Real Charlotte 1894 It considers the influence of both popular culture and high art in the treatment of the volatile Irish landscape and looks for the first time at the contexts of the immensely popular Irish R M stories and Edith Somerville's accompanying illustrations The writers sly send ups of romantic notions of Irishness are revealed while using certain expectations of a picturesque countryside to their own advantage The book recontextualizes the writers fiction and illustrations through inter disciplinary and cross cultural methods by considering the influence of the visual arts theatrical production antiquarian study and literature derived from Irish British and European sources In addition to Somerville and Ross's interest in popular and elite art forms the book stresses the writers all consuming interest in land politics suffragism

the Irish character and the Irish language the workings of the law in the Irish countryside and above all money and its lack in the small farms and cottages of Ireland Royal Historical Society Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History: Publications of 1998 Austin Gee, 1999-10-28 The Royal Historical Society's Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History provides a comprehensive and authoritative survey of books and articles on historical topics published in a single calendar year. The volume covers all periods of British and Irish history from Roman Britain to the late twentieth century and also includes a section on imperial and commonwealth history. It is the most complete and up to date bibliography of its type and an indispensable tool for historians Yeats Annual, 1982 Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History, 1998

Cesca's Diary, 1913-1916 Hilary Pyle, 2005 Born in England into a unionist clerical family the artist Frances Georgiana Chenevix Trench became a convinced nationalist and quickly involved herself in the movement for Home Rule and political freedom in Dublin. This is an account of the life of a young woman in early twentieth century Ireland. Cesca as she was better known took the name Sadhbh Trinseach during the Gaelic Revival and kept a detailed diary of her involvement in the national movement as a member of Cumann na mBan during the build up to Home Rule as well as writing a personal account of her presence in the Howth gunrunning and the events of Easter Week 1916. Before the outbreak of the First World War she was at art school in Paris where she associated with students from other small countries seeking freedom. Her passion for Ireland affected her art, her love life and relations with her unionist family. The seven manuscript journals written in Irish, English and French have been translated and set in the context of their times by Hilary Pyle. The book is liberally illustrated with her portrait sketches of friends and associates in the movement as well as examples of her oil paintings and pastels. This book is an invaluable resource for historians, students of the history of art and researchers in the fields of history, sociology, politics, Irish studies and women's studies. BOOK JACKET Current Contents, 1999 Kathleen Lynn Margaret Ó hÓgartaigh, 2006 The life of this prominent female doctor mirrored many of the changes in Irish life between 1874 and 1955. She was vice president of Sinn Féin as well as a TD between 1923 and 1927 and her career as a politician is discussed. She established St Ultan's Hospital for Infants in 1919 and her work in the hospital provides a way of analysing medical politics during a public health revolution in mid twentieth century Ireland. Kathleen Lynn is remembered as a doctor who did her utmost for the poor of Dublin. Her biography deals with a wide range of issues including suffragism, education, sectarian politics, maternal feminism, ecclesiastical subterfuge, public health, spirituality, ecumenism, the medical profession and social housing. She is an important figure in international women's affairs as she was to the forefront in new medical practices in Ireland. New Contexts Heidi Hansson, 2008 This edited work reintroduces 19th century Irish women novelists and prose writers into the context of literary history and brings new critical and theoretical perspectives to bear on their writing. Exploring the History and Heritage of Irish Landscapes Patrick J. Duffy, 2007 This book highlights the principal themes and elements in the making of the landscape and the sources which can assist historians and historical geographers in studying and understanding Irish landscape history Major and local sources relating to the natural environment cultural landscapes and the built environment are explored The book also looks at representations of landscapes in literature painting and other artistic sources which can provide insights into the nature of real and imagined worlds of the past The ultimate source which features prominently throughout this study is the landscape itself on which generations before us have inscribed the marks of their presence in fields farms houses villages towns roads lanes and the infrastructure of settlement
