From Third World To World Class Peter Marber,1998 Presenting a bold new vision of the global economy in which greater participation of developing countries means greater opportunities for for most but not all Marber reveals new sources of conflict as values clash in the game of global economic integration

New Realities John R. Deni,2015 Revolutionary changes among energy producers and dramatically altered patterns of energy consumption across the planet are having profound implications for American national security in general and the U S Army specifically The U S Army War College gathered experts from the policymaking community academia think tanks the private sector and the military services at the Reserve Officers Association in Washington DC in November 2013 to address first the major new realities both geographically and technologically and then the specific military implications The chapters of this compendium are based on the presentations delivered at that conference which was funded through the generous support of the U S Army War College Foundation Publisher s web sit

The Urbanising Dynamics of Global China Hyun Bang Shin,Yimin Zhao,Sin Yee Koh,2025-05-02 The book focuses on the urban dimension of global China especially regarding the impacts of its urbanising dynamics on the re imaginings and manifestations of global urban futures It situates China s urban question in contemporary global change and vice versa by understanding the rise of global China as an urban process that weaves together compressed spaces variegated times and trans scalar power dynamics in the making of global capitalism The overseas expansion of China s economic influence has long been foregrounded in media reports and policy debates especially with the rise of the Belt and Road Initiative that has turned China into one of the key investors in the global South The term global China has been widely adopted to depict the geopolitical dimension of this immense flow of capital This edited volume explores the urban manifestation of global China at different scales and involving diverse actors discussing the ways in which the urban has been reconfigured by China's global expansion and uncovering the differentiated modes of speculative and spectacular urban production at present. Observing from Ghana, India, Malaysia, and China, chapters in this book collectively make theoretical, methodological, and empirical contributions to recognise the dynamics of speculation, articulation, and translation in global capitalism where China plays an increasingly significant role. Three main themes have guided the book's interrogation of what global China implies. These include a) transplanting models and urbanism, b) multi-scalar construction of temporality, and c) situating the urban China model in global capitalism. These aspects mark the core of the book's endeavour to extend the critique of our changing urban conditions at present. This book was originally published as a special issue of Urban Geography. The Oxford Handbook of Education and Globalization Paola Mattei, Xavier Dumay, Eric Mangez, Jacqueline Behrend, 2023. The Oxford Handbook on Education and Globalization brings together in a unique way leading authors in social theory and in political science and reflects on how these two disciplines deal with the relation between globalization and education. The handbook develops a firmer and tighter dialogue between social theory and education research and analyzes the political and institutional factors that shape the adoption of global reforms in education at multiple levels of governance. It is a must read for anyone looking for a comprehensive overview of how globalization and education interact to result in distinct and varying outcomes across world regions.
