

A Mother's Reflections

Our girls, now gone, move forward with their lives ...

Two parts of me – and yet, not me at all,
They've fashioned their own ways, and what survives
Is Beauty that's more colorful than fall.

Two boys – nay, men – still linger under roof
And yet their launchings happened long before
My heart concurred. They come, they go, aloof,
Preparing for their lives beyond our door.

And here I sit, maternal thoughts in tow,
Amazed by these four creatures! Can it be
They've sailed the world but managed to forego
The moorings that would lash their ships to me?
My second half of life – this empty nest –
Proposes new adventures: I am blessed.

Poems of reflection Ella Wheeler Wilcox,2025-04-24 In her evocative collection Poems of Reflection Ella Wheeler Wilcox marries lyrical beauty with profound introspection offering readers a tapestry of thoughts that grapple with the complexities of human emotion and experience The poems showcase her mastery of rhythm and rhyme set against the backdrop of the late 19th century literary landscape marked by Romanticism and Transcendentalism Wilcox s poignant verses invite readers to contemplate themes of love loss and the fleeting nature of life rendering an intimate experience that resonates across time and space Ella Wheeler Wilcox was more than just a poet she was a social advocate and a pioneer in addressing the universal concerns of the human condition Growing up in Wisconsin her exposure to both the hardships and triumphs of life informed her writings and her belief in the transformative power of positivity shines through her work Wilcox s keen observation of society s dynamics and her personal belief in self reliance motivate her to explore deeper themes providing not just a reflection of her times but also a timeless insight into the human soul Poems of Reflection is a profound journey into the heart of existential considerations making it a must read for anyone interested in exploring the intricate relationship between emotion and expression Wilcox s work is not only a mirror to the soul but also a beacon of inspiration encouraging readers to engage with their own reflections and understand the world more deeply

Bodies as Sites of Cultural Reflection in Early Childhood Education Rachael S. Burke,Judith Duncan,2014-10-30 Taking the body as a locus for discussion Rachael S Burke and Judith Duncan argue not only that implicit cultural practices shape most of the interactions taking place in early childhood curricula and pedagogy but that many of these practices often go unnoticed or unrecognized as being pedagogy Current scholars inspired by Foucault acknowledge that the body is socially and culturally produced and historically situated it is simultaneously a part of nature and society as well as a representation of the way that nature and society can be conceived Every natural symbol originating from the body contains and conveys a social meaning and every culture selects its own meaning from the myriad of potential body symbolisms Bodies as Sites of Cultural Reflection in Early Childhood Education uses empirical examples from qualitative fieldwork conducted in New Zealand and Japan to explore these theories and discuss the ways in which children s bodies represent a central focus in teachers pedagogical discussions and create contexts for the embodiment of children s experiences in the early years
