Reflections on Identity in Four African Cities S. B. Bekker, Anne Leildé, 2006 Identity has become the watchword of our times In sub Saharan Africa this certainly appears to be true and for particular reasons Africa is urbanising rapidly cross border migration streams are swelling and globalising influences sweep across the continent Africa is also facing up to the challenge of nurturing emergent democracies in which citizens often feel torn between older traditional and newer national loyalties Accordingly collective identities are deeply coloured by recent urban as well as international experience and are squarely located within identity politics where reconciliation is required between state nation building strategies and sub national affiliations They are also fundamentally shaped by the growing inequality and the poverty found on this continent These themes are explored by an international set of scholars in two South African and two Francophone cities The relative importance to urban residents of race class and ethnicity but also of work space and language are compared in these cities This volume also includes a chapter investigating the emergence of a continental African identity A recent report of the Office of the South African President claims that a strong national identity is emerging among its citizens and that race and ethnicity are waning whilst a class identity is in the ascendance The evidence and analyses within this volume serve to gauge the extent to which such claims ring true in what everyone knows is a much more complex and shifting terrain of shared meanings than can ever be captured by such generalisations

Moland, 2011-04-30 In Hegel on Political Identity Lydia Moland provocatively draws on Hegel's political philosophy to engage sometimes contentious contemporary issues such as patriotism national identity and cosmopolitanism Moland argues that patriotism for Hegel indicates an attitude toward the state whereas national identity is a response to culture The two combine Hegel claims to enable citizens to develop concrete freedom Moland argues that Hegel's account of political identity extends to his notorious theory of world history she also proposes that his resistance to cosmopolitanism be reassessed in response to our globalized world By focusing on Hegel's depiction of political identity as a central part of modern life Moland shows the potential of Hegel's philosophy to address issues that lie at the heart of ethical and political philosophy

Political Identity and Social Change Jamie Frueh, 2012-02-01 Political Identity and Social Change builds upon the constructivist theory of political identity to explore the social changes that accompanied the end of apartheid in South Africa To gain a better understanding of how structures of identity changed along with the rest of South Africa's institutions Frueh analyzes three social and political conflicts the Soweto uprisings of 1976 the reformist constitutional debates of 1983 1984 and post apartheid crime Analyzing these conflicts demonstrates how identity labels function as structures of social discourse how social activity is organized through these structures and how both the labels and their power have changed during the course of South Africa's transition. In this way the book contributes not only to the study of South African society but also provides lessons about the relationship between identity and social change.

Political Identity and Democratic Citizenship in Turbulent Times Kristensen, Niels Noergaard, 2020-06-19. Turbulent times challenge democratic politics and governance in Western countries. Party systems in many instances have failed to produce solutions to vital policy problems like immigration, state borders, welfare or environmental issues. While subjective perceptions of macroeconomic outcomes are consistently related to political trust at the micro level, few studies have explored how individuals develop political engagement and identity. New insights are needed from studies focusing on how people become politically active and how political identities develop. Political Identity and Democratic Citizenship in Turbulent Times is a critical scholarly research publication that investigates, discusses, deconstructs, analyzes and tests the concept of political identity and its evolving role in modern democracy. Moreover, it explores the contours of politics and brings together studies that examine the democratic potential of a diversity of participatory spheres, institutions and arenas. Highlighting topics such as political culture, consumerism and welfare states, this book is ideal for politicians, policymakers, government officials, sociologists, historians, academicians, professionals, researchers and students.

Reflections on Polarisation and Inequalities in Brexit Pandemic Times Katharine Tyler, Susan Banducci, Cathrine Degnen, 2025-03-05. This is the first interdisciplinary edited collection that examines the manifestation of social inequalities and polarisations in Britain throughout the dual crises of the Brexit vote and the Covid 19 pandemic. The volume demonstrates that Brexit and the pandemic are not self-contained events but rather are major ongoing processes that have impacted all aspects of British social and political life. Drawing on an array of empirical case studies conducted in the wake of the Brexit vote and during pandemic lockdowns, chapters trace how these processes illuminate, consolidate and amplify existing and entrenched social inequalities and polarisations that shape the fabric of British society, including racial, ethnic, class, migrant, national and gendered inequalities. The volume is divided into three parts: a) the nation, b) the community and c) the media. Each section draws on diverse analytical frameworks and methodological approaches from across the social sciences, arts and humanities to provide empirically grounded critiques of reductive media-led narratives, with the goal of accounting for and explaining the reproduction of social inequalities and emergence of polarisations in these Brexit pandemic times. In so doing, the case studies include critical analysis of lockdown novels, the speeches of political elites from across the political spectrum.

ordinary people's everyday traditional and social media practices as well as their opinions based on the findings of large scale surveys and in depth place based ethnographic fieldwork conducted across rural urban and suburban areas of England Each chapter also includes artwork by contemporary artist Helen Snell that complements develops and extends the book's core themes and arguments This collection will be insightful reading for students and academics across the social sciences arts and humanities especially from the disciplines of sociology politics social anthropology human geography sociolinguistics contemporary art and literature concerned with questions of social inequality and polarisation Chapters 1 2 7 and 11 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
