Durfee, 2012-12-06 The American University Publications In From its inception Philosophy has continued the direction stated in the sub title of the initial volume that of probing new directions in philosophy As the series has developed these probings of new directions have taken the two fold direction of exploring the relationships between the disparate traditions of twentieth century philosophy and with developing new insights into the foundations of some enduring philosophic problems This present volume continues both of these directions The interaction between twentieth century Anglo Saxon and Continental philosophy which was an implicit theme of our first and third volumes and the explicit subject of our second volume is here continued in a series of studies on major figures and topics in each tradition In the context of these interpretative studies Professor Durfee returns again and again to the question of the relationships between the will and the reason and explores the conflicting goals of creativity and objectivity in formulating a philosophic position. In so doing he raises the issue as his title suggests of the foundations of philosophy itself. He seriously challenges the belief common to both phenomenology and analytic philosophy that philosophizing can be a presuppositionless activity objectively pursued independent of the personal and perhaps arbitrary commitments of the philosopher. This issue critical as it is to all forms of philosophy is surely a worthy one for a series such as ours.

Suicidal Thoughts provides readers with a better understanding of the reasons why some individuals give serious consideration to killing themselves.

Truthfulness and Tragedy Stanley Hauerwas, 2025-02-15 In Truthfulness and Tragedy Stanley Hauerwas provides an account of moral existence and ethical rationality that shows how Christian convictions operate or should operate to form and direct lives. In attempting to conceptualize the basis of Christian ethics in a manner that will render Christian convictions morally intelligible the author casts fresh light on traditional theoretical issues and articulates the distinctive Christian response to contemporary concerns such as suicide medical ethics and child care. The first section of the book deals with methodological issues the meaning and nature of practical reason obligation claims natural law and self deception and the affinity of story and ethics. It focuses on the relation of truthfulness and tragedy and the need for a story a set of religious convictions or grammar of theology that does justice to the tragic character of human existence. The second section addresses substantive issues suicide euthanasia and the value of survival the moral limits of population growth the definition of person for medical reasons and social involvement and Christian ethics. The overall theme is the need for a community in which truthfulness is a way of life. In the final section devoted to the problem of how to care for disabled children the implications of the author's ethical position are given concrete expression. He discusses the assumptions underlying the willingness to have children criteria for humanness medical ethics and how truthful communities deal with suffering. In Truthfulness and Tragedy Stanley Hauerwas extends and clarifies the ethical position set forth in his earlier books Character and the Christian Life and Vision and Virtue.
