Human Resource Development Jeff Gold, Rick Holden, Paul Iles, 2017-09-16. This core textbook, edited by five leading scholars of the subject, provides a comprehensive overview of the key topics, debates and themes in this increasingly important field. Balancing research-led theory with industry best practice to provide students with a definitive overview of HRD, the book draws on the international experience of its authors to tackle topics as diverse as leadership and managing development, change and diversity, workplace learning and graduate employability. The book's approachable yet thorough writing style and lively presentation helps students to understand the topic from a critical perspective while also demonstrating how HRD plays out in reality. This is an essential textbook for undergraduate, postgraduate and MBA students of Human Resource Development, HRD or Business and Management degree programmes.

New to this Edition: New contributors and revised content including additional coverage of careers, career management and employability. More international coverage, especially of the EU. Inclusion of topical subjects including employee engagement, skills shortage and business partnering. Improved student-friendly pedagogy and updated figures and diagrams to appeal to different learning styles. Thoroughly updated references and web links.

Theoretical Turbulence in Intercultural Communication

Studies Garry Robson, 2014-07-03. A number of researchers, trainers and educators in intercultural communication acknowledge that the most popular models and theories of the field are insufficient even unsuitable to describe or explain our practical multicultural experiences today. This collection of articles offers new insights and critical evaluations of intercultural communication theory and research. Authors from a variety of disciplines discuss, for example, methodological concerns, Chinese exceptionalism, micro and macro level interactions, ways to teach and study, perceptions and self-awareness, and also provide new constructions for understanding communication and culture and their relationship.
