Rineke Dijkstra:

Rineke Dijkstra Rineke Dijkstra, Hripsimé Visser, 2005      Rineke Dijkstra Rineke Dijkstra, Carol Ehlers, James Rondeau, 2002 Tall skinny short round squat awkward slouched tanned bashful and sometimes unknowingly beautiful the adolescents in Rineke Dijkstra's Beach Portraits stand alone the ocean rolling behind them Clad in little more than bathing suits these young people are striking to behold Remarkably clear and formally classical each subject is frontally posed and shot straight on the resulting photographs participate in a cold quasi scientific categorization reminiscent of the work of August Sander and Thomas Ruff Yet Dijkstra's pictures are not just that there is also something of the eccentric in them something that comes closer to Diane Arbus's images Seen together the complete series of 20 Beach Portraits creates a kind of collective portrait of the existential insecurity and awkward beauty of youth      Rineke Dijkstra, 2001      Rineke Dijkstra Rineke Dijkstra, Sandra S. Phillips, Jennifer Blessing, 2012 This volume is the first comprehensive monograph on Rineke Dijkstra to be published in the United States accompanying the first U S mid career survey of this important Dutch artist's work in photography and video The catalogue features the Beach Portraits and other early works such as the photographs of new mothers and bullfighters together with selections from Dijkstra's later work including her most recent video installations Also featured are series that the artist has been working on continuously for years such as Almerisa 1994 which documents a young immigrant girl as she grows up and adapts to her new environment Exhibition curators Jennifer Blessing Senior Curator Photography Solomon R Guggenheim Museum and Sandra S Phillips Senior Curator of Photography San Francisco Museum of Modern Art contribute essays accompanied by an interview with the artist by Jan van Adrichem selected interviews with several of the artist's subjects and entries on the artist's series by Chelsea Spengemann as well as the most comprehensive exhibition history and bibliography to date      Rineke Dijkstra Rineke Dijkstra, Michael Bracewell, Joanna Lowry, 1997      Rineke Dijkstra Rineke Dijkstra, Jessica Morgan, Katy Siegel, Institute of Contemporary Art (Boston, Mass.), 2001 Artist Rineke Dijkstra has appropriated the formal qualities of the studio portrait from the early part of this century taking the convention of the full length frontal and centrally composed portrait to its logical limits she is able to penetrate to the core of her subjects Each photograph is marked with a precise date and location suggesting a conscious evocation of the work of the early 20th century photographer August Sander and his project to document the Citizens of the Twentieth Century Dijkstra's photographs stand by themselves bearing no reference to personal circumstances or the specific geographical details of the location the power of her images lies in an intimate psychological connection between artist sitter and viewer For Dijkstra's best known series of photographs an extensive series of beach portraits of teenagers and children taken on beaches all over the world between 1992 and 1996 the artist sought out a certain introversion or unease in her subjects capturing with rare perfection the human condition of feeling not at home in the world This brilliant new monograph documents Dijkstra's recent photographic and video work      Photography Mary Warner Marien, 2006
