Developing Asian Bondmarkets Takatoshi Ito, Yung Chul Park, 2014-01-10 The absence of vibrant bondmarkets in East Asia was a significant contributor to the 1997 98 financial crisis Ever since the development of local bondmarkets has been a major objective of financial reforms in many East Asian economies This effort has been frustrated by the inability to reach a consensus on whether Asian bondmarkets are truly needed in East Asia whether they can be made viable in the competitive environment of the global economy how they should be created and what role intergovernmental cooperation should play in their definition and creation Developing Asian Bondmarkets helps build this consensus proposing how to develop robust and efficient bondmarkets in East Asia This book the first of its kind comes from the Finance Forum of the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council

Practices of Poverty Measurement and Poverty Profile of Nepal Devendra Chhetry, 2009-03 Reviews the poverty measuring practices available measures of poverty and economic growth figures of Nepal The poverty rates for FY 1976 77 1984 85 and 1995 96 are found to be not comparable due to change in methodology over time The three poverty rates average 40% Nepal has experienced high economic growth during the 7th 1985 86 to 1989 90 and 8th 1992 93 to 1996 97 Plan periods with no strong evidences of poverty reduction This incompatible result is partially explained by comparing growth of the agricultural sector with the role of the sector in providing employment and income generation at the household level and by comparing social indicators particularly literacy rate with the growth of the nonagricultural sector Tables disturbing new look at Japan's post war economy and the key factors that shaped it. It gives special emphasis to the 1980s and 1990s when Japan's economy experienced vast swings in activity. According to the author, the most recent upheaval in the Japanese economy is the result of the policies of a central bank less concerned with stimulating the economy than with its own turf battles and its ideological agenda to change Japan's economic structure. The book combines new historical research with an in-depth behind-the-scenes account of the bureaucratic competition between Japan's most important institutions: the Ministry of Finance and the Bank of Japan. Drawing on new economic data and first-hand eyewitness accounts, it reveals little-known monetary policy tools at the core of Japan's business cycle, identifies the key figures behind Japan's economy, and discusses their agenda. The book also highlights the implications for the rest of the world and raises important questions about the concentration of power within central banks.

From Monobank to Commercial Banking Jens Kovsted, John Rand, Finn Tarp, Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 2005. Here the history of financial sector liberalization is traced and close attention paid to the activities and autonomy of the State Bank of Vietnam, the institution responsible for the supervision and regulation of the financial sector in Vietnam.

Making Financial Globalization Clara Park, 2024-10-29. In Making Financial Globalization Clara Park challenges the conventional wisdom that finance has always been global. Drawing on original datasets of financial trade restrictions and domestic financial regulations in over 100 countries, archival research of international negotiations, and case studies of the US and China, Park details how financial firms used multilateral lobbying strategies to create an international framework for financial service liberalization. As she shows, the powerful coalition across industries and countries exerted considerable pressure on national governments who had to weigh the costs and benefits of liberalization and facilitated international negotiations. A novel political economic explanation for financial globalization, this timely book challenges state-centric views in international relations and emphasizes the interplay of firms and politics as a central factor shaping financial globalization.
