Images and Objects in Ritual Practices in Medieval and Early Modern Northern and Central Europe Krista Kodres, Anu Mänd, 2014-07-18 This multidisciplinary collection of essays explores the functions meanings and use of images and objects in various late Medieval and Early Modern social practices which were linked by their ritual character The book approaches ritual as an action which is discussed under the general umbrella term performative practice and is characterised by a synthesis between the repetitive and the extraordinary that carries an intense symbolic meaning and is emotionally charged Images spaces and rituals were closely interconnected in both the religious and the secular spheres and played a relevant role in the symbolic communication of the time The essays in this volume are devoted to a complex study of these phenomena in Northern and Central Europe including regions which due to linguistic or cultural barriers have thus far received comparatively little attention in Anglo American scholarship including Scandinavia Poland and the Baltic states

Glowacki, Scott Van Keuren, 2012-02-01 The mid thirteenth century AD marks the beginning of tremendous social change among Ancestral Pueblo peoples of the northern US Southwest that foreshadow the emergence of the modern Pueblo world Regional depopulations long distance migrations and widespread resettlement into large plaza oriented villages forever altered community life Archaeologists have tended to view these historical events as adaptive responses to climatic environmental and economic conditions Recently however more attention is being given to the central role of religion during these transformative periods and to how archaeological remains embody the complex social practices through which Ancestral Pueblo understandings of sacred concepts were expressed and transformed The contributors to this volume employ a wide range of archaeological evidence to examine the origin and development of religious ideologies and the ways they shaped Pueblo societies across the Southwest in the centuries prior to European contact With its fresh theoretical approach it contributes to a better understanding of both the Pueblo past and the anthropological study of religion in ancient contexts This volume will be of interest to both regional specialists and to scholars who work with the broader dimensions of religion and ritual in the human experience Audience and Reception in the Early Modern Period John R. Decker, Mitzi Kirkland-Ives, 2021-09-09 Early modern audiences readerships and viewerships were not homogenous Differences in status education language wealth and experience to name only a few variables could influence how a group of people or a particular person received and made sense of sermons public proclamations dramatic and musical performances images objects and spaces The ways in which each of these were framed and executed could have a serious impact on their relevance and effectiveness The chapters in this volume explore the ways in which authors poets artists preachers theologians playwrights and performers took account of and encoded pluriform potential audiences readers and viewers in their works and how these varied parties encountered and responded to these works The contributors here investigate these complex interactions through a variety of critical and methodological lenses Ancient Art Revisited Christopher Watts, Carl Knappett, 2022-09-21 Ancient Art Revisited develops new perspectives on ancient art by weaving together diverse strands within archaeology and art history exploring it through recent developments in archaeological theory In order to foster dialogue among various subfields contributors are drawn from a wide range of domains Classical archaeology Aegean prehistory Near Eastern archaeology Egyptology Pre Columbian South America and North America are brought together to explore ancient art from multiscale perspectives and through the lenses of entanglement theory network thinking assemblage theory and other recent theoretical developments Representing a new wave in research on ancient art considering both the proximal and distributed operations of artworks

A. Van Beek, Harrie M. Leyten, 2023 What is the meaning of masks and masquerades in African traditions and how can we understand their role in rituals and performances Why do we find masks in some African regions and not in others and what does this mask habitat say about the general dynamics of masquerades in Africa Though masks are among the most famous art icons of Africa exploration of their uses and the way in which they articulate social characteristics of African societies has been underexamined This book takes an anthropological perspective on the phenomenon of masquerades on the African continent to show how mask rituals are an integral part of African indigenous religions and societies and are informed by and linked to specific types of social and ecological conditions Having established the commonalities of mask rituals and a mask typology the authors look at the varieties of mask performances and the types of rituals in which masks function in rites of passage and in rituals of gender power and identity     Ritual and Christian Beginnings Risto Uro, 2016-04-28 The rise of early Christianity has been examined from a myriad of perspectives but until recently ritual has been a neglected topic Ritual and Christian Beginnings A Socio Cognitive Analysis argues that ritual theory is indispensable for the study of Christian beginnings It also makes a strong case for the application of theories and insights from the Cognitive Science of Religion a field that has established itself as a vigorous movement in Religious Studies over the past two decades Risto Uro develops a socio cognitive approach to the study of early Christian rituals seeking to integrate a social level analysis with findings from the cognitive and evolutionary sciences Ritual and Christian Beginnings provides an overview of how ritual has been approached in previous scholarship including reasons for its neglect and introduces the reader to the emerging fields of Ritual Studies and the Cognitive Science of Religion In particular it explores the ways in which cognitive theories of ritual can shed new light on issues discussed by early Christian scholars and opens up new questions and avenues for further research The socio cognitive approach to ritual is applied to a number of test cases including John the Baptist the ritual healing practiced by Jesus and the early Christians the social life of Pauline Christianity and the development of early Christian baptismal practices The analysis creates building blocks for a new account of Christian beginnings highlighting the role of ritual innovation cooperative signalling and the importance of bodily actions for the generation and transmission of religious knowledge     The Lives of Paintings Elsje van Kessel, 2017-04-24 In sixteenth century Venice paintings were often treated as living beings As this book shows paintings attended dinner parties healed the sick made money and became involved in love affairs Presenting a range of case studies Elsje van Kessel offers a detailed examination of the agency paintings and other two dimensional images could exert This lifelike agency is not only connected to the seemingly naturalistic style of these images works by Titian Giorgione and their contemporaries illustrated here in over 150 plates It is also brought in relation to their social historical contexts meticulously unravelled through archival research Grounded in the theoretical literature on the agency of material things The Lives of Paintings contributes to Venetian studies as well as engaging with wider debates on the attribution of life and presence to images and objects
