Maxfield Parrish Edison Mazda Collection:

Maxfield Parrish Collectors Press Staff, Collectors Publishing Co, Collectors Press, 1995-01-01 Maxfield Parrish
Maxfield Parrish, 1995 Maxwell Parrish's work ranges from advertisements book illustrations and magazine covers to art prints and murals but he is best known for his calendar illustrations for the Edison Mazda Lamp Division of General Electric. This book is devoted entirely to this collection. Widely considered to be among the artist's finest works, these prints were so popular that GE printed a total of over 20 million Parrish calendars. They are notable for their accuracy of detail, skilful use of colour and their fantastic themes and settings displaying Parrish's artistic skill and imagination and his gradually changing emphasis from human figures to his real love, landscapes.

Signs of the Signs William Brevda, 2011-05-16 This book is a study of signs in American literature and culture. It is mainly about electric signs but also deals with non electric signs and related phenomena such as movie sets. The sign is considered in both the architectural and semiotic senses of the word. It is argued that the drama and spectacle of the electric sign called attention to the semiotic implications of the sign. In fiction, poetry and commentary the electric sign became a sign of manifold meanings that this book explores: a sign of the city, a sign of America, a sign of the twentieth century, a sign of modernism, a sign of postmodernism, a sign of noir, a sign of naturalism, a sign of the beats, a sign of signs systems, the Bible to Broadway, a sign of tropes, the Great White way to the neon jungle, a sign of the writers themselves, a sign of the sign itself. If Moby Dick is the great American novel then it is also the great American novel about signs as the prologue maintains. The chapters that follow demonstrate that the sign is indeed a sign of American literature. After the electric sign was invented it influenced Stephen Crane to become a nightlight impressionist and Theodore Dreiser to make the fire sign his metaphor for the city. An actual Broadway sign might have inspired F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby. In Manhattan Transfer and U.S.A. John Dos Passos portrayed America as just a spectacular sign. William Faulkner's electric signs are full of sound and fury signifying modernity. The Last Tycoon was a sign of Fitzgerald's decline. The signs of noir can be traced to Poe's The Man of the Crowd. Absence flickers in the neons of Raymond Chandler's Los Angeles. The death of God haunts the neon wilderness of Nelson Algren. Hitler's empire was an non intentional parody of Nathanael West's California. The beats reinvented Times Square in their own image. Jack Kerouac's search for the center of Saturday night was a quest for transcendence.

Worlds of Enchantment Maxfield Parrish, Jeff A. Menges, 2010-02-18
Maxfield Parrish enjoyed tremendous popularity throughout the early decades of the twentieth century. Bruce Watson writing in Smithsonian magazine deemed Parrish the common man's Rembrandt. It's said that during the Depression a Parrish illustration was displayed on the walls of one out of every four American homes. The artist's romantic richly colored images of winsome maidens and faraway places continue to appeal to modern audiences. Selected from hundreds of the artist's images for books, magazines and calendars, this original collection spotlights Parrish's work from 1897 through the 1920s. Illustrations include art from publications such as Century Magazine, Collier's and Scribner's. Numerous advertisements include the famed Edison Mazda Lamp series along with ads for Jell O, Ferry's Seeds and Swift's Premium Ham. A wide selection of book illustrations comprises scenes from The Arabian Nights, Eugene Field's Poems of Childhood, Louise Saunders' The Knave of Hearts, Nathaniel Hawthorne's Tanglewood Tales and other treasured works. Printers' Ink Monthly, 1924. The National Electrical Contractor, 1923. Journal of Electricity, 1920. Step-by-step Graphics, 1996. How electric light created new spaces that transformed the built environment and the perception of modern architecture. In this book Sandy Isenstadt examines electric light as a form of architecture as a new uniquely modern kind of building material. Electric light was more than just a novel way of brightening a room or illuminating a streetscape; it brought with it new ways of perceiving and experiencing space itself. If modernity can be characterized by rapid incessant change and modernism as the creative response to such change, Isenstadt argues, then electricity—instantaneous, malleable, ubiquitous, evanescent—is modernity's medium. Isenstadt shows how the introduction of electric lighting at the end of the nineteenth century created new architectural spaces that altered and sometimes eclipsed previously existing spaces. He constructs an architectural history of these new spaces through five examples ranging from the tangible miracle of the light switch to the immaterial and borderless gloom of the wartime blackout. He describes what it means when an ordinary person can play God by flipping a switch, when the roving cone of automobile headlights places driver and passenger at the vertex of a luminous cavity, when lighting in factories is seen to enhance productivity, when Times Square became an emblem of illuminated commercial speech, and when the absence of electric light in a blackout produced a new type of space. In this book, the first sustained examination of the spatial effects of electric lighting, Isenstadt reconceives modernism in architecture to account for the new perceptual conditions and visual habits that followed widespread electrification. The publishing boom of the early twentieth century led to an entirely new vocation: that of art direction for editorial publications and advertising. In 1921 the recently formed Art Directors Club resolved to show that their profession involved more than just signage for selling products. Their exhibition of paintings and drawings intended to prove their work worthy of artistic consideration was judged by a jury that featured some of the era's most distinguished names in illustration and art, including Ashcan School painter Robert Henri, Charles Dana Gibson, creator of the Gibson Girl, and outstanding New York artist Joseph Pennell, among others. This reproduction of the exhibition's catalog offers a generous selection of more than 300 halftone images accompanied by an appendix of the ads corresponding sources. New to this edition are added pages of brilliant color reproductions of a selection of the best materials. Entries by leaders in the field include J. C. Leyendecker's ads for Arrow shirts, Maxfield Parrish's Mazda Lamp calendar pages, Franklin Booth's line
