Sacred Weapons, Profane Enemies: Saint John Paul II's War on Communism Geoff Bardell, 2014-02-13 The 2014 canonization of John Paul II and the quarter century anniversary of the fall of Polish Communism were the main motivations in writing this book which is richly illustrated with nearly 100 pictures and very reasonably priced The book tells the story of how Saint John Paul II politically deployed sacred weapons and profane enemies in his war on communism The effects of his deployment chiefly during his three pilgrimages to communist Poland were to evoke and refashion nationalist and religious cultural memories shaped over centuries and thereby influence the prevailing political culture of opposition In his doing so the Polish Pope inspired the opposition to peacefully and successfully challenge a communist regime that had at its disposal a full panoply of repressive forces

After Evil Robert Meister, 2011-01-05 Mainstream human rights discourse speaks of such evils as the Holocaust slavery or apartheid in ways that put them solidly in the past Its elaborate techniques of transitional justice encourage future generations to move forward but the false assumption of closure enables those who are guilty to elude responsibility This approach to history common to late twentieth century humanitarianism doesn't presuppose that evil ends only when justice begins Rather it assumes that a time before justice is the moment to put evil in the past Merging examples from literature and history Robert Meister confronts the problem of closure and the resolution of historical injustice He boldly challenges the empty moral logic of never again or the theoretical reduction of evil to a cycle of violence and counterviolence that is broken once evil is remembered for what it was Meister calls out such methods for their deferral of justice and susceptibility to exploitation Specifically he spells out the moral logic never again in relation to Auschwitz and its evolution into a twenty first century doctrine of the Responsibility to Protect
