Muslims, Minorities, and the Media Laurens de Rooij, 2023-03-01 Inspired by overtly negative coverage by the Western mainstream press of Muslims in particular and minorities in general this book asks Why are negative narratives and depictions of Muslims and other minorities so hard to change News reports about Islam and Muslims commonly relate stories that discuss terrorism violence or other unwelcome or irrational behaviour or the lack of integration and compatibility of Muslims and Islam with Western values and society Yet there is little research done on how studies on media reports about minorities seemingly fail to improve the situation Combining empirical research with a structural analysis of the media industry this volume presents evidence for the maligned representation of minorities by media corporations analysing why negative narratives persist and outlining how these can be effectively transformed It is an outstanding resource for students and scholars of media religion culture sociology and Islamic studies and is also of benefit for journalists media representatives and activists looking to effect change for minority representation in the media industry specifically or in society at large

Islam in British media discourses Laurens de Rooij, 2020-05-09 Media reporting on Islam and Muslims commonly relate stories about terrorism violence or the lack of integration with western values and society Yet there is little research into how non Muslims engage with and are affected by these news reports Inspired by the overtly negative coverage of Islam and Muslims by the mainstream press and the increase in Islamophobia across Europe this book explores the influence of these depictions on the thoughts and actions of non Muslims Building on extensive fieldwork interviews and focus groups Laurens de Rooij argues that individuals negotiate media reports to fit their existing outlook on Islam and Muslims Non Muslim responses to these reports de Rooij argues are not only reproductions of local and personal contextuality but are co dependent and co productive to the reports themselves Mediating Faiths Guy Redden,2016-04-29 Religion is living culture It continues to play a role in shaping political ideologies institutional practices communities of interest ways of life and social identities Mediating Faiths brings together scholars working across a range of fields including cultural studies media sociology anthropology cultural theory and religious studies in order to facilitate greater understanding of recent transformations Contributors illustrate how religion continues to be responsive to the very latest social and cultural developments in the environments in which it exists They raise fundamental questions concerning new media and religious expression religious youth cultures the links between spirituality personal development and consumer culture and contemporary intersections of religion identity and politics Together the chapters demonstrate how belief in the superempirical is negotiated relative to secular concerns in the twenty first century Media, Religion and Culture Jeffrey Mahan,2014-06-05 Religion has always been shaped by the media of its time and today we live in a media culture that informs much of what we think and how we behave Religious believers communities and institutions use media as tools to communicate but also as locations where they construct and express identity practice religion and build community This lively book offers a comprehensive introduction to the contemporary field of religion media and culture It explores the religious content of media texts and the reception of those texts by religious consumers who appropriate and reuse them in their own religious work how new forms of media provide fresh locations within which new religious voices emerge people reimagine the task of religion and develop and perform religious identity Jeffrey H Mahan includes case study examples from both established and new religions and each chapter is followed by insightful reflections from leading scholars in the field Illustrated throughout the book also contains a glossary of key terms discussion questions and suggestions for further reading Religious Television and Pious Authority in Pakistan Taha Kazi,2021-04-06 In Pakistan religious talk shows emerged as a popular television genre following the 2002 media liberalization reforms Since then these shows have become important platforms where ideas about Islam and religious authority in Pakistan are developed and argued In Religious Television and Pious Authority in Pakistan Taha Kazi reveals how these talk shows mediate changes in power belief and practice She also identifies the sacrifices and compromises that religious scholars feel compelled to make in order to ensure their presence on television These scholars of varying doctrinal and educational backgrounds including madrasa educated scholars and self taught celebrity preachers are given screen time to debate and issue religious edicts on the authenticity and contemporary application of Islamic concepts and practices In response viewers are sometimes allowed to call in live with questions Kazi maintains that these featured debates inspire viewers to reevaluate the status of scholarly edicts thereby fragmenting religious authority By exploring how programming decisions inadvertently affect viewer engagements with Islam Religious Television and Pious Authority in Pakistan looks beyond the revivalist impact of religious media and highlights the prominence of religious talk shows in disrupting
