INTRODUCTION

As artists in photography we had the common experience of searching a search led us to libraries where we resource books listing galleries and photography. We also hoped to find, in indication of the policies and procedures of museums. Needless to say, we did not. However, we did find three but all three had their faults. IN (1977) appears to be designed for a use. The Photography Catalog (1974) incomplete. Photography: Source is out of date, but provides excellent information. The faults common to all the lack of currency, and diverse objection we needed meant that we went to every gallery and museum that had announced exhibitions of photographs of gallery and museum space that we were developing a resource other artists working in photography possibility of eliminating or reducing every artist write to every photo to discover which ones were looking and also of reducing the number of unanswered by the same galleries and museums.

As instructors of photography from students as to how the graphs to galleries and museums; they should approach; which curatorial practical considerations were given a show. We saw the possibility to those and other questions with had been compiling. Our desire a needed in an efficient and helpful of using a questionnaire format. Significant questions we prepared timeline and cover letter to a.

Preliminary cover letter:

I am preparing a questionnaire to museums and galleries and will involve questions on the topics regarding the visual primary photographers. My aim is to provide a resource to photography curatorial staffs involved. will be published in book 2. Photographers with information, data and comments of the service to the museum and the number of independent and appointments, and telephone or gallery policy.

By filling out the questionnaire you will help to develop your needs. Please
