Studies in North American Violets Alexander Gershoy, 1928 Physiological Processes in Plant Ecology C.B. Osmond, O. Björkman, D.J. Anderson, 2012-12-06 In the spring of 1969 a small meeting was convened at the CSIRO Riverina Laboratory Deniliquin New South Wales to discuss the biology of the genus Atriplex a group of plants considered by those who attended to be of profound importance both in relation to range management in the region and as a tool in physiological research The brief report of this meeting Jones 1970 now serves as a marker for the subsequent remarkable increase in research on this genus and served then to interest the editors of the Ecological Studies Series in the present volume This was an exciting time in plant physiology particularly in the areas of ion absorption and photosynthesis and unknowingly several laboratories were engaged in parallel studies of these processes using the genus Atriplex It was also a time at which it seemed that numerical methods in plant ecology could be used to delineate significant processes in arid shrubland ecosystems Nevertheless to presume to illustrate and integrate plant physiology and ecology using examples from a single genus was to presume much The deficiencies which became increasingly apparent during the preparation of the present book were responsible for much new research described in these pages Proceedings RMRS. ,1998
