Design and Implementation of Web-enabled Teaching Tools Mary Hricko, 2003-01-01 Exploring the myriad issues regarding web accessibility this book specifically focuses on the design and implementation of web enabled teaching tools Educators from across the United States and Canada present their ideas on such topics as legal implications overcoming organizational barriers and course designs for the electronic classroom Also discussed are special opportunities provided by web accessibility in education such as web based distance learning and teaching technology for blind or visually impaired faculty Handbook of Research on Transformative and Innovative

Pedagogies in Education Keengwe, Jared, 2022-05-13 Various pedagogies such as the use of digital learning in education have been used and researched for decades but many schools have little to show for these initiatives This contrasts starkly with technology supported initiatives in other fields such as business and healthcare Traditional pedagogies and general digital technology applications have yet to impact education in a significant way that transforms learning A primary reason for this minimal impact on learning is that digital technologies have attempted to make traditional instructional processes more efficient rather than using a more appropriate paradigm for learning As such it is important to look at digital technology as a partner and use transformative applications to become partners with students not teachers to empower their learning process both in and out of school The Handbook of Research on Transformative and Innovative Pedagogies in Education is a comprehensive reference that identifies and justifies the paradigm of transformative learning and pedagogies in education It provides exemplars of existing transformative applications that if used as partners to empower student learning have the potential to dramatically engage students in a type of learning that better fits 21st century learners Covering topics such as gamification project based learning and professional development this major reference work is an essential resource for pre service and in service teachers educational technologists instructional designers educational administration and faculty researchers and academicians seeking pedagogical models that inspire students to learn meaningfully

Creating Accessible Online Instruction Using Universal Design Principles Brady Lund, 2020-09-28

What is accessibility Who needs it Often accessibility is defined narrowly with emphasis on physical limitations Accessibility needs however come in many forms from vision and hearing impairment to developmental disorders like Autism to psychiatric conditions like anxiety depression ADHD and PTSD Unfortunately accessibility does not come with a simple set of checkboxes It is a philosophy and practice that embraces social physical and informational elements Universal design does not come in the form of a quick and easy guide It is a philosophy To implement it completely requires more than just screen readers and video captions Creating Accessible Online Instruction Using Universal Design Principles introduces the need for accessibility in online education and library services and the framework of universal design for learning It takes a scoping rather than a purely technical approach It will help you not only o create accessible content but with how to communicate with students in an accessible manner This LITA Guide covers accessibility law Universal Design for Learning and Web Content Accessibility guidelines and communication and educational research and theory The content is interspersed with practical examples and case studies

Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world s disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches
