Reflective Theory and Practice in Teacher Education Robyn Brandenburg, Kathryn Glasswell, Mellita Jones, Josephine Ryan, 2017-03-30 This book offers a detailed examination of reflective practice in teacher education In the current educational context where reflective practice has been mandated in professional standards for teachers in many countries it analyses research based evidence for the power of reflective practice to shape better educational outcomes The book presents multiple theoretical and practical views of this often taken for granted practice so that readers are challenged to consider how factors such as gender and race shape understandings of reflective practice Documenting approaches that enhance learning the contributions discuss reflective practice across the globe with a focus on pre service in service and university teachers At a time when there is pressure to measure teachers work through standardised tests the book highlights the professional thinking that is integral to teaching and demonstrates ways it can be encouraged in beginning teachers Aimed at the international community of teacher educators in schools and universities it also includes a critical examination of methodological issues in analysing and evaluating reflective practice and showcases the kind of reflective practice that empowers teachers and pre service teachers to make a difference to students

Reimagining Narrative Therapy Through Practice Stories and Autoethnography Travis Heath, Tom Stone Carlson, David Epston, 2022-06-19

Reimagining Narrative Therapy Through Practice Stories and Autoethnography takes a new pedagogical approach to teaching and learning in contemporary narrative therapy based in autoethnography and storytelling The individual client stories aim to paint each therapeutic meeting in such detail that the reader will come to feel as though they actually know the two or more people in the room This approach moves beyond the standard narrative practice of teaching by transcripts and steps into teaching narrative therapy through autoethnography The intention of these teaching tales is to offer the reader an opportunity to enter into the very heart and soul of narrative therapy practice much like reading a novel has you enter into the lives of the characters that inhabit it This work has been used by the authors in MA and PhD level classrooms workshops week long intensive courses and conferences around the world where it has received commendations from both newcomer and veteran narrative therapists The aim of this book is to introduce narrative therapy and the value of integrating autoethnographic methods to students and new clinicians It can also serve as a useful tool for advanced teachers of narrative practices In addition it will appeal to established clinicians who are curious about narrative therapy who may be looking to add it to their practice as well as students and scholars of autoethnography and qualitative inquiry and methods

Human Rights-Based Community Practice in the United States Kathryn R. Libal, Scott Harding, 2014-12-16

A transformative model for community social work rooted in basic social and economic rights is the basis of this timely Brief With specific chapters spotlighting the rights to health care nutritious food and adequate and affordable housing the book describes in depth the role of community practice in securing rights for underserved and vulnerable groups and models key aspects of rights based work such as empowerment participation and collaboration Case examples relate local struggles to larger regional and statewide campaigns illustrating ways the book s framework can inform policymakers and improve social structures in the larger community This rights based perspective contrasts sharply with the deficits based approach commonly employed in community social work and has the potential to inspire new strategies for addressing systemic social inequality Features of Human Rights Based Community Practice in the United States A conceptual basis for a rights based approach to community practice Detailed analysis of legal and social barriers to health care housing and food Examples of effective and emerging rights based community interventions Methods for assessing the state of human rights at the community level Documents discussion questions resource lists and other valuable tools

Community Practice Skills Dorothy N. Gamble, Marie Weil, 2010 Dorothy N Gamble and Marie Weil differentiate among a range of intervention methods to provide a comprehensive and effective guide to working with communities Presenting eight distinct models grounded in current practice and targeted toward specific goals Gamble and Weil take an unusually inclusive step combining their own extensive experience with numerous case and practice examples from talented practitioners in international and domestic settings The authors open with a discussion of the theories for community work and the values of social justice and human rights concerns that have guided the work of activists from Jane Addams and Martin Luther King Jr to Cesar Chavez Wangari Maathai and Vandana Shiva They survey the concepts knowledge and perspectives influencing community practice and evaluation strategies Descriptions of eight practice models follow incorporating real life case examples from many parts of the world and demonstrating multiple applications for each model as well as the primary roles competencies and skills used by the practitioner Complexities and variations encourage readers to determine through comparative analysis which model at which time best fits the goals of a community group or organization given the context culture social economic and environmental issues and opportunities for change An accompanying workbook stressing empowerment strategies and skills development is also available from Columbia University Press

African American Community Practice Models Iris Carlton-LaNey, N. Yolanda Burwell, 1996 African American Community Practice Models shows you what you can see and learn when people of African American descent are put in the center of community analysis and change This text celebrates African American experiences and challenges you to understand the black experience from the inside out rather than from the outside in The contributors provide excellent historical and current case studies of leaders and programs that provide you with models for program and community development in African American communities today For the contemporary social worker these historical comparisons reveal what strategies have been needed in African American communities in the past because of political and social climates The studies of current successful programs instruct those in community based African American programs general service networks and students on how to continue to better serve the black community The contributing authors use a new lens for understanding social welfare history and social service development They encourage social workers to explore new model building and to pursue new knowledge about African Americans in the social work classroom In addition to tracing the history of community development African American Community Practice Models specifically presents the black community from a position of strength and leadership documents leadership in the black community to ground national advocacy organizations traces women's leadership in community development documents the unrecognized history of African Americans in the development of the Settlement Movement highlights examples of current self-help programs sponsored by African American communities to change negative behavior patterns documents the impact of racism on service delivery and the response to develop community support programs presents a challenge to expand community development for both internal and external advocacy Professors of the core courses in social work HBSE research policy and practice and of specialized courses in community practice macropractice and African Americans would benefit from teaching from African American Community Practice Models Students and faculty in these and other study areas concerned with this community will get community tactics and program development ideas from this book that connect with African American people The importance of community development from within the African American community historical and current methods of dealing with the ongoing impact of racism and economic disadvantage the responsibility of professionals and community leaders to build empowerment strategies within African American communities and the need to advocate for rights and opportunities in larger society for black Americans are key issues addressed throughout the book which begins to fill the void of positive presentations of black community development

Ideological and Political Bias in Psychology

Craig L. Frisby, Richard E. Redding, William T. O'Donohue, Scott O.
