The Political Economy of Education in South Asia John Richards, Manzoor Ahmed, Shahidul Islam, 2021-12-17. With the exception of Sri Lanka, South Asian countries have not achieved quality basic education, an essential measure for escaping poverty, inequality and social exclusion. In The Political Economy of Education in South Asia, John Richards, Manzoor Ahmed and Shahidul Islam emphasize the importance of a dynamic system for education policy. The Political Economy of Education in South Asia documents the weak core competency reading and math outcomes in government primary schools in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh and Nepal and the consequent rapid growth of non government schools over the last two decades. It compares the training, hiring and management of teachers in South Asian schools to successful national systems ranging from Singapore to Finland. Discussing reform options, it makes the case public good and public priorities are better served when both public and non government providers come under a strong public policy and accountability framework. The Political Economy of Education in South Asia draws on the authors' broad engagement in education research and practice in South Asia as well as analysis by prominent professors of education and NGO leaders to place basic education in a broad context and make the case that universal literacy and numeracy are necessary foundations for economic growth.

Building An Ethical School Robert J. Starratt, 2005-06-21. The author argues for much greater attention to ethical education and responds to sceptics who say that it can't be done in the face of a pluralistic, secular society badly fragmented over values. Seeking always for themes and issues that unite rather than divide, the author provides a conceptual foundation for ethical education broad enough for building consensus among teachers and parents yet focused enough to provide guidance for highly specific learning activities. The second half of the book takes the reader through a carefully devised series of steps by which a school community might proceed in building their ethical school. The final chapter reminds of the many difficulties to be met along the way but offers encouragement to strengthen the resolve of the school community. The book concludes with two helpful appendices: the first provides detailed information on existing initiatives already underway in ethical education; the second offers an annotated bibliography of books and essays which are available for those educators who need or want to read more on the topic of ethical education
