Conservation of the Black-Tailed Prairie Dog John

Hoogland,2013-04-09 The prairie dog is a colonial keystone species of the grassland ecosystem of western North America. Myriad animals regularly visit colony sites to feed on the grass there to use the burrows for shelter or nesting or to prey on the prairie dogs. Unfortunately prairie dogs are disappearing and the current number is only about 2% of the number encountered by Lewis and Clark in the early 1800s. Part I of Conservation of the Black Tailed Prairie Dog summarizes ecology and social behavior for pivotal issues such as when prairie dogs breed how far they disperse how they affect other organisms and how much they compete with livestock. Part II documents how loss of habitat poisoning plague and recreational shooting have caused the precipitous decline of prairie dog populations over the last 200 years. Part III proposes practical solutions that can ensure the long term survival of the prairie dog and its grassland ecosystem and also are fair to private landowners. We cannot expect farmers and ranchers to bear all the costs of conservation while the rest of us enjoy all the benefits. With 700 references 37 tables 75 figures and photographs and a glossary Conservation of the Black Tailed Prairie Dog is a unique and vital contribution for wildlife managers politicians environmentalists and curious naturalists. Prairie Tapestry:

Federal Register, 2013-10 Soil Survey, 2003 The Codex of the Endangered Species Act Lowell E.

Baier, 2023-07-25 The Endangered Species Act of 1973 (ESA) is one of the most cherished and reviled laws ever passed. It mandates protection and preservation of all the nation's species and biodiversity, whatever the cost. It has been a lightning rod for controversy and conflicts between industry, business, and environmentalists. The year 2023 marks the 50th anniversary of this law and provides an opportunity for a measured and thorough evaluation thereof. We cannot know today's challenges and opportunities without understanding their histories. This book is the most comprehensive history of the ESA ever published and the first to consider the entire history of the law from all angles in a single volume. The history of the ESA has been one of increasing impact, complexity, and controversy. In 1978, the Supreme Court declared that Congress intended for the U.S. government to save all species at any cost, and thereafter, application of the ESA became steadily more controversial, as seen in the example of the northern spotted owl and the timber wars in the Pacific Northwest in the late 1980s and early 90s, and then everywhere as the ESA became a political football in the highly partisan environment of the late 1990s and 2000s. Amendments to the law ceased. This book is not only a history but a call to action. It will take more conservation, more funding, and more innovative solutions if we are to save our wildlife and biodiversity. It will take the engagement of every American to muster the collective will to meet this challenge. The hope of this book is that we will be able to look back and say that we accomplished more in the second 50 years of the ESA than we did in the first. Library of Congress Subject Headings

Southwestern United States, 2004 Assessment of Grassland Ecosystem Conditions in the Southwestern United States: without special title, 2004 Theodore Roosevelt & Bison Restoration on the Great Plains Keith Aune, Glenn Plumb, 2019-09-23 This history chronicles the 19th-century plan to reintroduce wild bison into Western Montana and the rise of Roosevelt's conservation movement. In the late 1800s, the rapid depletion of the American bison population prompted calls for the preservation of wildlife and wild lands in North America. Following a legendary hunt for the last wild bison in central

Montana Dr William Hornady sought to immortalize the West's most iconic species. Activists like Theodore Roosevelt rose to the call initiating a restoration plan that seemed almost incomprehensible in that era. This thoroughly researched history follows the ambitious project from the first animals bred at the Bronx Zoo to today's National Bison Range. Glenn Plumb, a former chief wildlife biologist for the National Park Service, and Keith Aune, the former Wildlife Conservation Society director of bison programs, demonstrate how the success of bison repopulation bolstered Roosevelt's broader conservation efforts.
