Minutaglio,2010-03-01 The rich complex lives of African Americans in Texas were often neglected by the mainstream media which historically seldom ventured into Houston's Fourth Ward San Antonio's East Side South Dallas or the black neighborhoods in smaller cities When Bill Minutaglio began writing for Texas newspapers in the 1970s few large publications had more than a token number of African American journalists and they barely acknowledged the things of lasting importance to the African American community Though hardly the most likely reporter as a white Italian American transplant from New York City for the black Texas beat Minutaglio was drawn to the African American heritage seeking its soul in churches on front porches at juke joints and anywhere else that people would allow him into their lives His nationally award winning writing offered many Americans their first deeper understanding of Texas's singular complicated African American history This eclectic collection gathers the best of Minutaglio's writing about the soul of black Texas He profiles individuals both unknown and famous including blues legends Lightnin' Hopkins Amos Milburn Robert Shaw and Dr Hepcat He looks at neglected even intentionally hidden communities And he wades into the musical undercurrent that touches on African Americans joys longings and frustrations and the passing of generations Minutaglio's stories offer an understanding of the sweeping evolution of music race and justice in Texas Moved forward by the musical heartbeat of the blues and defined by the long shadow of racism the stories measure how far Texas has come or still has to go

A Print Of A Man Edmond Alcide, 2007 I had walked out of the bush an old man How Old I did not know The years had passed without the need to celebrate the remembrance of a birth date There was something familiar about the place I stood Slowly faint memories recalled past moments of my life As a young man I had walked across this field many times I noticed a man rocking lazily on an open porch across the field I know the man approaching there is a twinkle in his eye We pause and stop our eyes studying each and every feature of the other He is familiar I search my memory for names to place with the face before me Thomas Yes I am Thomas Chapais Thomas I am Nicolas Two old men stood there dumbfounded with nothing to say but to repeat each other's name with favour contempt anger sadness and an undying love that only kinship knows Without an embrace nor a handshake we bonded as brothers need to Our eyes were reluctant to gaze away for fear of the image disappearing
