British Working Class women authors (born before 1962) a list Stefan Szczelkun ,2025-06-07 A collection of Wikipedia articles edited reformatting and with additions In chronological order References and sections on non literary activity are sometimes omitted hopefully not to the point of misrepresenting the author which might include feminist or political activism To my surprise the biographical material on Wikipedia was sometimes mesmerising although it was uneven Where there were gaps I have tried to fill them from other sources Refer back to the wikipedia articles for more context and references in some cases and if you have a verified source of information please update the Wikipedia article Wikipedia is published under a creative commons licence So this compilation also carries a creative commons licence Introduction Looking through Sarah Richardson s Writing on the Line 1996 I was struck by how many of the working class women writers were from North America and how many more were poets Howard Slater had made a list of British working class male novelists and I selected British woman writers from Writing on the Line and found that most of them now have Wikipedia pages I first made a list of links Wanting to take this further I first looked to focus on novels and short story writers but this category started to break up as many writers wrote in many idioms producing fact fiction poetry plays screenwriting and journalism I decided on an arbitrary cut off point of writers born before 1962 When I first made the list I was thinking how few working class women novelists had been published in this period But then the lists of books by each author started to stack up and there s plenty to read and much that I missed even really hearing about Of course it focuses on the most successful others who produced a community published autobiography or self published novel did not get a Wikipedia page and they should really be included every life counts Others only published an autobiography perhaps in the last years of life but were extraordinary writers and people We could also discuss the genre snobbery in literary circles that puts crime young peoples literature romantic and fantasy fiction and perhaps historical based narratives in a lower category than the novel The Piano Level 2 Oxford Bookworms Library Rosemary Border,2012-02-10 A level 2 Oxford Bookworms Library graded reader Written for Learners of English by Rosemary Border One day a farmer tells a farm boy to take everything out of an old building and throw it away It s all rubbish he says In the middle of all the rubbish the boy finds a beautiful old piano He has never played before but now when his fingers touch the piano he begins to play He closes his eyes and the music comes to him and the music moves his fingers When he opens his eyes again he knows that his life is changed for ever Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom Richard R. Day,Julian Bamford,1998-01-13 This comprehensive examination of extensive reading shows how reading large quantities of books and other materials can provide students with essential practice in learning to read and help them develop a positive attitude towards reading which is sometimes missed in second language classes The authors first examine the cognitive and affective nature of reading and then offer a wealth of practical advice for implementing extensive reading with second language learners Suggestions are provided for integrating extensive reading into the curriculum establishing a library selecting reading materials and keeping records for purposes of evaluation The text also describes a wide variety of classroom activities to supplement individualized silent reading The information will be useful both for pre service teachers and for teachers and administrators who want to improve the teaching of reading in their second language programs
