The McKinley and Roosevelt Administrations 1897-1909 (Classic Reprint) James Ford Rhodes, 2017-12-02 Excerpt from The McKinley and Roosevelt Administrations 1897 1909 New York City is a good point of survey and from this point Hanna s appearance in public life was like that Of a comet in the sky Although fifty nine years old in 1896 he had gradually but with steady ambition been working up to the place from which he was now to begin his most important achievements His restless mind had always cast about for a new enterprise and not being a student or reader of books and having no sympathy with a man who devoted his whole ability to the acquirement Of money he entered the field of politics Before he was thirty two he made an informal alliance with an enter prising young man oi Cleveland to break up the Repub lican machine that dominated city politics Both were good Republicans but objected to the manner in which city affairs were conducted Somewhat later when the Republican machine nominated one of their representa tive men for mayor Hanna led a revolt against the machine and with the aid of a number of independent associates nominated a Democrat of excellent business ability and elected him 1 although the rest of the Repub lican ticket was chosen In city and ward politics he was always noted for his independent action and Often showed no hesitation in supporting Democrats when they were
