McKinsey Marvin Bower Vision Leadership And The Creation Of Management Consulting:

McKinsey's Marvin Bower Elizabeth Haas Edersheim, 2010-12-13 I had the privilege of working closely with Marvin and McKinsey for many years. This book makes Marvin come to life and perpetuates him as a role model. Peter F. Drucker: A wonderful book about a wonderful man. In many ways, Marvin's McKinsey framed the hypotheses in our own search for excellence: for example, passion for values, belief in people as the prime resource, and willingness to let people experiment. As well as I thought I knew Marvin, however, this remarkable book, drawing on the collective memories of those who worked most closely with him, taught me a ton about how extraordinary the man really was and what made him that way. Many have called Drucker the man who invented management; I think history will conclude that both he and Marvin Bower share that pedestal. Bob Waterman, coauthor of In Search of Excellence: Marvin Bower became a legend not just within McKinsey Company but within professional services and the business world more broadly. In everything he did and said, he embodied the professional approach and the importance of values. This book sheds remarkable insight on a remarkable man and on the power of constancy of purpose. Ian Davis, Worldwide Managing Director, McKinsey Co: It is as Marvin would have wanted it: simple, honest, fact-based, wonderful stories with a long-term perspective. An insightful read about the father of management consulting. Lois Juliber, retired COO, Colgate Palmolive: This book provides fascinating insight into the early days of modern management consulting. It is an extremely enlightening look at the origin of one of America's most important professions and one of America's most innovative leaders. Thomas H. Lee, founder, Chairman and President, Thomas H. Lee Partners L.P.

Opening Strategy Richard Whittington, 2019-03-21 Strategy is becoming more open, more transparent, and more inclusive. Opening Strategy tells the story of how corporate strategists and strategy consultants have worked since the middle of the last century to open up the strategy process. First strategic planning, then strategic management, and now open strategy have all brought more people into the strategy process and provided more strategic information for the benefit of both business and society at large. Informed by interviews with corporate strategists and consultants at leading firms such as General Electric and McKinsey Co, and drawing on the historical archives of strategy's pioneers, this book provides vivid insights into the trials and tribulations of practice change in the strategy profession. Above all, it stresses the hard work of the little recognized and sometimes eccentric individuals who have been leaders in practice change. By building on a wide range of illustrations covering both successes and failures, the book draws out general lessons for practice innovation in strategy. Those studying the topic will be able to set standard strategy techniques in historical and social context and develop new areas for investigation, while practising executives and consultants should gain a sense of how to innovate in strategy and how not to. An Introduction to Management Consultancy Marc Baaij, 2013-12-10 Whether you are looking to build on your management studies or experience of working in business, you are likely to have come across management consultancy and will need a clear and concise introduction to this area to help you understand its practices and techniques in order to hire

Personalised Learning Schools Andrew Bills, 2020-06-23 Thousands of young people from disadvantaged backgrounds are forsaking education in secondary mainstream schools across Australia This book places a sociological and lived experience phenomenological lens on public policy that is working against school inclusion learning engagement and post school opportunity The school case studies provided here highlight the damage done and the opportunity for refreshed policy approaches to address this malaise Across the educational landscape there are a number of fine examples of schools that are choosing to do schooling against the grain of unhelpful regulatory policy that works to exclude many from their educational entitlement These schools and their practices are examined in this book and are presented as examples for policy learning If education systems learn to embrace an ongoing culture of research and inquiry where the evidence based and contextual learning experiences of students teachers and Principals are equally valued and heard in the policy realm the phenomenon of early school leaving can begin to turn around This work calls upon Principals in the first instance to become more radical and pragmatic in their leadership of schools collectively working with courage to ensure that the experience of schooling is personalised to the learning needs and career aspirations of all young people Managing the Knowledge-Intensive Firm

Nicolaj Ejler, Flemming Poulsen, Fiona Czerniawska, 2012-04-27 Over the last decade there has been a substantial rise in the number of knowledge intensive firms constituted primarily of professionals The core assets of these businesses are the people themselves Handle them badly and they may defect or stall Successful managers of knowledge intensive firms must create meaning among and inspire their employees to ensure high performance To achieve this leaders must understand how to target each employee s ambitions and challenges to facilitate their personal and professional development This book examines what sets knowledge intensive firms apart from other types of organizations and the resultant organizational and strategic differences in business models talent management and client handling approaches The authors bring their own complementary perspectives on the subject one as the manager of a private consulting firm with a strong research background another as a business school professor whose practice based skills are fundamental to his work and a third a world leading commentator on professional service firms acting as a consultant business school researcher and a manager Ejler Poulsen and Czerniawska present a new model for transforming the management of knowledge intensive firms which is supported throughout with practical examples and cases
