Pottery and Social Life in Medieval England Ben Jervis, 2014-07-31 How can pottery studies contribute to the study of medieval archaeology How do pots relate to documents landscapes and identities These are the questions addressed in this book which develops a new approach to the study of pottery in medieval archaeology Utilising an interpretive framework which focuses upon the relationships between people places and things the effect of the production consumption and discard of pottery is considered to see pottery not as reflecting medieval life but as one actor which contributed to the development of multiple experiences and realities in medieval England By focussing on relationships we move away from viewing pottery simply as an object of study in its own right to see it as a central component to developing understandings of medieval society The case studies presented explore how we might use relational approaches to re consider our approaches to medieval landscapes overcome the methodological and theoretical divisions between documents and material culture and explore how the use of objects could have multiple implications for the formation and maintenance of identities The use of this approach makes this book not only of interest to pottery specialists but also to any archaeologist seeking to develop new interpretive approaches to medieval archaeology and the archaeological study of material culture

English Medieval Industries John Blair, Nigel Ramsay, 1991-01-01 This work is intended as a modern successor to L F Salzman's English Industries in the Middle Ages 1913 The approach to each industry is by material discussing its acquisition working and sale as a finished product Only industries that resulted in the production of consumer goods and where substantial numbers of artefacts survive from the Middle Ages are dealt with fishing and brewing are therefore omitted the text is illustrated by pictures of surviving objects and contemporary representations of medieval work

London's Waterfront and its World, 1666-1800 John Schofield, Stephen Freeth, 2023-12-21 This volume covering the period 1666-1800 considers the archaeology of the port of London on a wide scale from the City down the Thames to Deptford During this period with the waterfront at its centre London became the hub of the new British empire contributing to the exploitation of people from other lands known as slavery

Studies in the Roman and Medieval Archaeology of Exeter Stephen Rippon, Neil Holbrook, 2021-04-28 This second volume presenting the research carried out through the Exeter A Place in Time project presents a series of specialist contributions that underpin the general overview published in the first volume Chapter 2 provides summaries of the excavations carried out within the city of Exeter between 1812 and 2019 while Chapter 3 draws together the evidence for the plan of the legionary fortress and the streets and buildings of the Roman town Chapter 4 presents the medieval documentary evidence relating to the excavations at three sites in central Exeter High Street Trichay Street and Goldsmith Street with the excavation reports being in Chapter 5 7 Chapter 8 reports on the excavations and documentary research at Rack Street in the south east quarter of the city There follows a series of papers covering recent research into the archaeometallurgical debris dendrochronology Roman pottery Roman ceramic building material Roman querns and millstones Claudian coins an overview of the Roman coins from Exeter and Devon medieval pottery and the human remains found in a series of medieval cemeteries

Excavations at Medieval Cripplegate, London Gustav Milne,2013-01-15 The Cripplegate area of London was the site of a Roman fort and later of medieval structures and artefacts Excavations between 1946 and 1968 by Professor W F Grimes for the Roman and Medieval London Excavation Council were carried out on 25 bomb damaged sites and were preliminarily reported by him in 1968 As part of a major post excavation programme funded by English Heritage from 1992 to 1997 the archived material from these excavations are being fully published in a series of five volumes of which this book is one This report analyses the material afresh and re appraises Grimes work It discusses the post Roman structures and artefacts of the medieval defences secular buildings including evidence of Saxon London parish churches and a medieval hospital Finally these structures are put into a more contextual framework in a discussion of the dating and development of the street pattern of medieval Cripplegate

Medieval Archaeology Chris Gerrard,2003-10-04 Chris Gerrard looks at the people and excavations that have been important in medieval archaeology and the core theory and methodology used creating an essential text for all medieval archaeologists

Medieval Pottery in Britain, AD 900-1600 Michael Robin McCarthy,Catherine Margery Brooks,1988

Excavation of the Iron Age, Roman and Medieval settlement at Gorhambury, St Albans David S Neal,Angela Wardle,Jonathan Hunn,2012-01-15 Gorhambury just north of Verulamium was the site of a substantial Roman villa complex which was excavated between 1972 and 1982 as part of a programme designed to test the interrelationships between villa sites in the Verulamium area and to examine trends in their growth decline and prosperity The villa was found to have grown out of a settlement belonging to the late Iron Age A series of ditches of this phase enclosed an aisled barn a nine post granary and a circular house these were the beginnings of a sequence of structures on the same spot which show increasing signs of Roman influence all of which lay within the limits of the farmstead established at this early period Timber buildings of the first half of the first century were followed around AD100 by a small but luxurious villa rebuilt in the late second century and thereafter in a gradual decline until its apparent abandonment around AD 350 Work on virtually the whole of the farmstead area has enabled a full sequence of plans of the main houses and all the ancillary structures including barns subsidiary housing and bath houses to be presented in the report The catalogue of finds is an attempt to show the full range of material recovered from this working farmstead

The Bull Ring Uncovered Catharine Patrick,Stephanie Ratkai,2008-12-12 The excavations in the centre of Birmingham uncovered evidence of habitation from prehistoric and Roman times but the 12th to

19th centuries presented by far the most evidence from artefacts environmental samples and structural remains The medieval industrial past was of particular interest with tanning and the manufacture of hemp and linen all playing a large role in the city s prosperity Metal working reached its peak in the seventeenth century with brass founding becoming important from the eighteenth century onwards Most of the artefactual evidence attests to Birmingham s industrial past indeed the evidence for domestic life is comparatively scant with an anomalous burial of two people at Park Street presenting something of a mystery This volume presents insights into the early industrial past of this important city and is an invaluable record covering eight hundred years of occupation Oxford Symposium on Food & Cookery, 1988 Tom Jaine,1989 The history evolution and use of cooking pots from diverse places such as Syria Papua New Guinea China and Spain are discussed

London's Waterfront 1100-1666: Excavations in Thames Street, London, 1974-84 John Schofield,Lyn Blackmore,Jacqui Pearce,2018-04-30 This book presents and celebrates the mile long Thames Street in the City of London and the land south of it to the River Thames as an archaeological asset Four Museum of London excavations of 1974 84 are presented Swan Lane Seal House New Fresh Wharf and Billingsgate Lorry Park Here the findings of the period 1100 1666 are presented

Capital Histories Patricia L. Garside,2019-01-15 First published in 1998 this book reprints eight articles from The London Journal covering the history of London from the middle ages to the twentieth century Each is an extensive bibliographical essay updated by the individual contributors for this anthology The book comes with a new introduction from a previous editor of the journal Patricia Garside and also with a specially commissioned guide to sources for London history and the libraries and special collections that house them The London Journal was founded in 1975 to provide a forum for the study of London history an eclectic and multi disciplinary field As well as articles based on original research The London Journal has carried notes and comments viewpoint and review articles and general surveys of particular aspects of London life In the past few decades the specialist literature on London has become extensive intricate and dense The opportunity for a systematic review of this literature presented itself on the twentieth anniversary of the founding of The London Journal and the core of the work presented here first appeared in Volume 20 2 November 1995 Each of the authors specialists in one of seven periods from Roman to contemporary times was asked to evaluate the literature that had appeared in their field of London expertise during the last 20 years For this book each contribution has been updated where possible to take account of the very latest publications Coventry's Medieval Suburbs Paul Mason,Danny McAree,Iain Soden,2017-04-30 Reports the results of 2003 2007 excavations at Hill Street Upper Well Street and Far Gosford Street three suburban streets which stood directly outside the city gates of Coventry for much of the medieval period Medieval Dublin Excavations, 1962-81 ,1988 St. Bride's Church London Gustav Milne,2014-06-30 One of the first English attempts to mount the total research excavation of an urban parish church at blitz damaged St Bride s in Fleet Street in the City of London is recorded in this report St Bride s foundation date is earlier than indicated by surviving documentary records and highlights the complexity of its subsequent development Moreover it demonstrates how archaeology can significantly extend the history of such a relatively well documented building Professor Grimes died before completing his definitive report this report is as an attempt to make good that omission It is an assessment of the surviving field records and a re evaluation of 1950s finds together with an account of building recording at St Bride s in 1992 3 conducted by a team from University College London These excavations prove to be of more than local significance to medieval archaeologists It was on the site of St Bride s that the concept of a parish church s research excavation was first evolved after the rubble from dozens of churches bombed during the Second World War were usually carted away with little or no thought for archaeological recording Among many problems faced were the logistics of opening up a large internal area and exposing large groups of burials Evidence was found not only at foundation level in the ground but also in the standing fabric of the medieval building elements of which survive in the present standing building Detailed study of the finds recovered in 1952 4 also proved rewarding and reports on the pottery moulded stones tiles grave covers glass and coins are included
