Picturing home Hollie Price, 2021-02-09 Picturing home examines the depiction of domestic life in British feature films made and released in the 1940s It explores how pictorial representations of home onscreen in this period re imagined modes of address that had been used during the interwar years to promote ideas about domestic modernity Picturing home provides a close analysis of domestic life as constructed in eight films contextualising them in relation to a broader offscreen culture surrounding the suburban home including magazines advertisements furniture catalogues and displays at the Daily Mail Ideal Home Exhibition In doing so it offers a new reading of British 1940s films which demonstrates how they trod a delicate path balancing prewar and postwar traditional and modern private and public concerns

Commemoration Clara Calvo, Ton Hoenselaars, 2019-07-16 Memory and commemoration play a vital role not only in the work of Shakespeare but also in the process that has made him a world author. As the contributors of this collection demonstrate, the phenomenon of commemoration has no single approach as it occurs on many levels, has a long history, and is highly unpredictable in its manifestations. With an international focus and a comparative scope that explores the afterlives also of other artists, this volume shows the diverse modes of commemorative practices involving Shakespeare. Delving into these cultures of commemoration, it presents keen insights into the dynamics of authorship, literary fame, and afterlives in its broader socio-historical contexts.

Behind the Wireless Kate Murphy, 2016-04-28 Behind the Wireless tells the story of women at the BBC in the 1920s and 30s. Broadcasting was brand new in Britain, and the BBC developed without many of the overt discriminatory practices commonplace at the time. Women were employed at all levels except the very top, for instance as secretaries, documentary makers, advertising representatives, and librarians. Three women held Director-level posts: Hilda Matheson, Director of Talks; Mary Somerville, Director of School Broadcasting; and Isa Benzie, Foreign Director. Women also produced the programmes aimed at female listeners and brought women broadcasters to the microphone. There was an ethos of equality and the chance to rise through the ranks from accounts clerk to accompanist. But lurking behind the facade of modernity were hidden inequalities in recruitment, pay, and promotion, and in 1932 a marriage bar was introduced. Kate Murphy examines how and why the interwar BBC created new opportunities for women.

You've Come a Long Way, Baby Lilly J. Goren, 2009-05-22 Provocative and diverse essays on the image and the reality of feminism in the twenty-first century. Christine A. Kelly, author of Tangled Up in Red, White and Blue. No matter what brand of feminism one may subscribe to, one thing is indisputable: the role of women in society during the past several decades has changed dramatically and continues to change in a variety of ways. In You've Come a Long Way, Baby, Lilly J. Goren and an impressive group of contributors explore the remarkable advancement achieved by American women in a historically patriarchal social and political landscape while examining where women stand today and contemplating the future challenges they face worldwide. As comprehensive as it is accessible, You've Come a Long Way, Baby appeals to anyone interested in confronting the struggles and celebrating the achievements of women in modern society. Some of the articles are down to earth, some are down and dirty, some are matter of fact, others deliberately argumentative in tone. The book itself is a treasury.

Romantic Love in Cultural Contexts Victor Karandashev, 2016-12-24 This volume presents a conceptual, historical, anthropological, and sociological review of how culture affects our experience and expression of romantic love. What is romantic love, and how is it different from and similar to other kinds of love? How is romantic love related to sex and marriage in human history and across contemporary cultures? What cultural factors mediate attraction in love? These are some of the questions the volume explores through its interdisciplinary yet focused lens. Much of the current research evidence suggests that love is a universal emotion experienced by a majority of people in various historical eras and in all the world's cultures. Yet love displays in different ways because culture has an impact on people's conceptions of love and the ways they feel, think and behave in romantic relationships. This volume summarizes classical knowledge on love and culture while at the same time focusing sharply on recent studies and cutting edge research that has advanced the field. Divided into three parts, the volume begins by defining and analyzing the concept of romantic love and interdisciplinary approach to its study in cultural context. Part II traces the origin and evolution of romantic love both in various places throughout the world and various time periods throughout history. Part III presents the revolutionary expansion of romantic love ideas and practices in the late 20th and early 21st centuries in various parts of the world, focusing particularly on the development of romantic love as a cultural ideal of the modern cultures. Finally, the book concludes by summarizing the major achievements in this field of study and predicts future development. A timely and thoughtful addition to the literature, Romantic Love in Cultural Contexts delivers thought-provoking insights to researchers in relationship scholarship, sociology, anthropology, and cultural studies, and all those interested in the universal human concept of love. Overall, I find Dr Victor Karandashev is an excellent and fine scholar who has a firm grasp of both the fundamental principles of cross-cultural research and of anthropology. In our increasingly connected world, Romantic Love in Cultural Contexts updates and adds to the descriptions and explanations of similarities and differences in romantic love across generations and cultures. Romantic love encompasses the life span rather than being a phenomenon largely confined to youthful years. The topic of this project concerns the deepest of our sentiments and pervades life from birth to death. This book contributes to better knowledge of this phenomenon across generations.

Nicola Bishop, 2020-12-10. Lower Middle Class Nation provides an unparalleled interdisciplinary cultural history of the lower middle class worker in British life since 1850. Considering highbrow, lowbrow, and middle brow forms across literature, film, television, and more, Nicola Bishop traces the development of the lower middle class from the mid 19th century to the present day, tackling a number of pressing, consistent concerns such as automation, commuting, and the search for a life-work balance. Above all, this book brings together ideas about class, nationhood, and gender, demonstrating that a particularly British lower middle class identity is constructed through the spaces and practices of the everyday. Aimed at undergraduate, postgraduates, and scholars working in media and social history, literature, popular culture, cultural studies, and sociology, Lower Middle Class Nation represents a new direction in cultural histories of work, labour, and leisure.
