Practising Feminism Identity Difference And Power:

Practising Feminism Nickie Charles, Felicia Hughes-Freeland, 1996 In Practising Feminisms contributors drawn from a range of backgrounds in anthropology sociology and social psychology explore different ways of practising feminism and their effect on gendered identities The contributors examine feminism and gender differences between different countries various feminist practices the call for the recognition of heterosexuality as a politicised identity and the practical role of feminism in nationalist struggles and finally methodological implications of feminist practices They show women to be different and that different structural influences come into play to make them different But women are not so different that a feminist politics or understanding is invalid Practising Feminisms is an important contribution to the neglected middle ground between post modern deconstructions of difference and identity and continued feminist concern with grounded power relations and the validity of experience

Deconstructing Feminist Psychology Erica Burman, 1998-01-12 How close is feminist psychology to contemporary feminism How can feminist psychological practice address issues of difference between women in meaningful ways What price has feminist psychology had to pay for attempting to engage with mainstream psychology to revise and improve it This book critiques feminist practice within psychology and reflects the diversity from across the globe of feminist struggles around psychology An international group of key feminist psychologists explore the relations between feminist politics and psychological practices in transitional and postcolonial contexts the distinct European traditions of critical psychology and women's studies and psychology's colonial centre in the United

Autobiography and the Construction of Identity and Community in the Middle East NA NA, 2016-04-30 Ranging from the early modern period to the present day this edited collection uses biography as a window into the history of the Arab Islamic Middle East The contributors reinterpret the lives of the famous such as George Antonius and Doria Shafiq and rediscover the lives of individuals previously consigned to the margins of history including the notorious individuals of 17th century Syria and the 20th century Palestinian activist Kulthum Auda The book also draws on the biographical tradition of Arab historical writing including biographical dictionaries for an understanding of the region's social and cultural history Interdisciplinary in scope and theoretically informed this volume brings to light individual lives which are essential to an understanding of Middle Eastern history

Birthing Autonomy

Nadine Edwards,2013-04-03 Birthing Autonomy brings some balance to the difficult arguments that arise from debates about home births and focuses on women s views and their experiences of planning home births It provides an in depth exploration of how women make decisions about home births and what aspects matter most to them Comparing how differently the pros and cons of home births are constructed and contemplated by mothers and by the medical profession the book looks at how current obstetric thinking and practices can disempower and harm women emotionally and spiritually as well as physically Written in an accessible style this book is enlightening for student and practicing midwives and obstetricians as well as researchers and students of nursing medical sociology health studies gender studies feminist practitioners and theorists It will also be invaluable to expectant mothers who want to be more informed about the choices they are facing and the wider context within which their birth options are considered

Eating and Believing David Grumett,Rachel Muers,2011-11-03 What are the links between people s beliefs and the foods they choose to eat In the modern Western world dietary choices are a topic of ethical and political debate but how can centuries of Christian thought and practice also inform them And how do reasons for abstaining from particular foods in the modern world compare with earlier ones This book will shed new light on modern vegetarianism and related forms of dietary choice by situating them in the context of historic Christian practice It will show how the theological significance of embodied practice may be retrieved and reconceived in the present day Food and diet is a neglected area of Christian theology and Christianity is conspicuous among the modern world s religions in having few dietary rules or customs Yet historically food and the practices surrounding it have significantly shaped Christian lives and identities This collection prepared collaboratively includes contributions on the relationship between Christian beliefs and food practices in specific historical contexts It considers the relationship between eating and believing from non Christian perspectives that have in turn shaped Christian attitudes and practices It also examines ethical arguments about vegetarianism and their significance for emerging Christian theologies of food

Defending Our Dreams Shamillah Wilson,Anasuya Sengupta,Kristy Evans,2005-10 This book brings together analyses by feminists of diverse identities on themes including women s rights and economic change new technologies sexuality feminist organizations and movements It presents key issues arising out of the experiences of young women living in both North and South the challenges confronting young feminists and the agenda for a new era of feminist leadership and activism

Political Opportunities Social Movements, and Democratization Patrick G. Coy,2001-08-02 Presents a series of papers that discuss political opportunity and social movements This book includes case studies of specific social movements comparative case studies of social movements and comparative case studies of transnational issue networks

Gender and Political Identities in Scotland, 1919-1939 Annmarie Hughes,2010-05-15 This work offers a unique contribution to gender and Scottish history breaking new ground on several fronts there is no history of inter war women in Scotland very little labour or popular political history and virtually nothing published on women the home and family This book is a history of women in the period which integrates class and gender history as well as linking the public and private spheres Using a gendered approach to history it transforms and shifts our knowledge of the Scottish past unearthing the previously unexplored role which women played in inter war socialist politics the General Strike and popular political protest It re evaluates these areas and demonstrates the ways in which gender shaped the experience of class and class struggle Importantly the book also explores the links between the public and private spheres and addresses the concept of masculinity as well as femininity and pays particular reference to domestic violence The strength of the book is the ways in which it illuminates the complex interconnections of culture and economic and social structure Although the research is based on Scottish evidence it also uses material to address key debates in gender history and labour history which have wider relevance and will appeal to gender historians labour historians and social and cultural historians as well as social scientists

Philosophy and the Sciences of Exercise, Health and Sport Mike McNamee, 2004-06 This investigation into the rationale and validity of prevailing research methodologies used in sport exercise and health science calls on researchers to reflect critically on the nature and aims of scientific enquiry in these disciplines

Aspasia Francisca de Haan, Maria Bucur, Krassimira Daskalova, 2007-09 Aspasia is an international peer reviewed yearbook that brings out the best scholarship in the field of interdisciplinary women's and gender history focused on and produced in Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe In this region the field of women's and gender history has developed unevenly and has remained only marginally represented in the international canon

Romancing the Margins? Gabriele Griffin, 2000 Romancing the Margins Lesbian Writing in the 1990s explores the range of critical responses to lesbian writing on issues of gender sexuality and lesbian identity in the final decade of the 20th century Discussing contemporary texts such as Sarah Schulman's novel Empathy Native American lesbian writing biographies and autobiographies and other texts by and about lesbians this volume stresses the diversity of gender and sexual identity in the 1990s and raises questions about the politics of those positions

The Kurdish Question in Turkey Cengiz Gunes, Welat Zeydanlioglu, 2013-09-23 Almost three decades have passed since political violence erupted in Turkey's south eastern regions where the majority of Turkey's approximately 20 million Kurds live In 1984 the Kurdistan Workers Party PKK initiated an insurgency which intensified in the following decades and continues to this day Kurdish regions in Turkey were under military rule for more than a decade and the conflict has cost the lives of 45 000 people including soldiers guerrillas and civilians The complex issue of the Kurdish Question in Turkey is subject to comprehensive examination in this book This interdisciplinary edited volume brings together chapters by social theorists political scientists social anthropologists sociologists legal theorists and ethnomusicologists to provide new perspectives on this internationally significant issue It elaborates on the complexity of the Kurdish question and examines the subject matter from a number of innovative angles Considering historical theoretical and political aspects of the Kurdish question in depth and raising issues that have not been discussed sufficiently in existing literature this book is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of Nationalism and Conflict Turkish Politics and Middle Eastern politics more broadly Women We Love SooJin Lee, Kate Korroch, Liew Kai Khiun, 2023-09-19 Women We Love Femininities and the Korean Wave is an edited volume exploring femininities in and around the Korean Wave since 2000. While studies on the Korean Wave are abundant, there is a dearth of thought put toward the female identifying stars, characters, and fans who shape and lead this crucial cultural movement. This collection of essays is one of the first works to focus on gender and the key female actors of this global phenomenon. Using women as an inclusive term extending to all those who self-define as women, this volume examines the role of women in K-pop and K-drama industries and fandom spaces encompassing crucial intersectional topics such as queering of gender, dissemination of media, and fan culture. In addition to the communities engaged with visual culture of the Korean Wave, the audience for Women We Love will reflect the contributors to this text. They are K-pop and K-drama fans, queer internationalists, they are also academics of Asian histories, sociology, gender, and sexuality, art history, and visual culture. The chapters are playful, intersectional, and will be adapted well into syllabi for media studies, gender studies, visual culture studies, sociology, and contemporary global history. Women We Love goes far beyond the dyad of the flower boy Hallyu star and his female fan to offer readers an illuminating discussion of plural femininities in the Korean Wave since the turn of the millennium. The essays will answer many burning yet heretofore unanswered questions about the affective resonances and political significance of Korean popular culture's gender dynamics, which have fascinated, puzzled, and at times frustrated many fans and observers. Rigorously interdisciplinary yet grounded in textual detail, historical context, and material reception practices, this is a timely and valuable contribution to the study of gender, fandom, and global media. Michelle Cho, University of Toronto. This is a provoking and fascinating book, one of the most awaited books in Hallyu studies. Drawing from a multitude of feminist theories and case studies, this edited volume not only provides captivating and much needed discussions but also critically expands the current debates in gender studies, feminism studies, and fan studies. This book is vital literature for researchers, students, and practitioners who are willing to advance their understanding of the Korean Wave from a new scope and angle. Dal Yong Jin, Simon Fraser University.

Corporate Strategy Angelique Du-Toit, 2006-09-27 This book takes a fresh look at corporate strategy, exploring it from a feminist perspective. Challenging male dominated theory, Corporate Strategy looks at unquestioned assumptions held about strategy in practice and academia, including whether women approach strategy differently from men, and if so, how their approach differs. Reviewing the histories of strategy and feminism, the book explores the reasons why so few serious works on strategy have been written by women and investigates the continued lack of women at senior levels within many organizations. Angelique du Toit draws on postmodern arguments to illustrate the claims made for the necessity of diversity within organizations and challenges the fact that positions of power both in society and organizations remain the exclusive right of men. Corporate Strategy argues that if an organization is to survive and succeed in the global economy, it has to pay more than lip service to issues surrounding diversity. Mothering the Self Stephanie Lawler, 2002-01-04 The mother daughter relationship has preoccupied feminist writers for decades but typically it has been the daughter's story at centre stage. Mothering the Self brings together these maternal and daughterly stories by drawing on in-depth interviews with women who speak both as mothers and as daughters. This study examines the ways in which these mothers and daughters participate in their understanding of class, gender and race, locations both using and resisting them. The result is a fresh start from which to consider the far-reaching implications of this relationship not simply for mothers and daughters but in terms of how we understand the shaping of the self and its place within the social world.

Capricious Borders Olga

Demetriou, 2013-04-01 Borders of states, borders of citizenship, borders of exclusion. As the lines drawn on international treaty maps become ditches in the ground and roaming barriers in the air, a complex state apparatus is set up to regulate the lives of those who cannot be expelled yet who have never been properly rooted. This study explores the mechanisms employed at the interstices of two opposing views on the presence of minority populations in western Thrace: the legalization of their status as tablis established and the failure to incorporate the minority in the Greek national imaginary. Revealing the logic of government bureaucracy shows how they replicate difference from the inter-state level to the communal and the personal.

Class Work: Mothers' Involvement Diane Reay, 2005-08-16

First Published in 1998, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informal company. Class Work Diane Reay, 2023-05-12 This text looks at the ways in which women as mothers are positioned in society in terms of ethnicity, social class and marital status. Using case study material, the author expands her assessment to analyse the way women's educational experience influences their involvement in their children's schooling. The book examines the support of the mother in her child's schooling to reveal the part she plays in social reproduction and to recognize her centrality to an understanding of social class. The book should be of interest to undergraduates in the sociology of education, gender studies and to those studying PGCE primary education.

Baudrillard's Challenge Victoria

Grace, 2002-01-04 This controversial book is the first systematic feminist reading of the work of Jean Baudrillard, one of the most pivotal figures in contemporary cultural theory and is essential reading for students of feminist theory, sociology and cultural theory. Drawing on the full range of Baudrillard's writings, the author engages in a debate with the work of Luce Irigaray, Judith Butler and Rosi Braidotti on identity, power and desire. The feminist concern with difference as an emancipatory construct, writings on transgenderism and the performance of gender, feminist concerns about the objectification of women. Through this critical engagement, Grace reveals some of the limitations of some contemporary feminist theorising around gender and identity, patriarchy and power and in so doing offers a way forward for contemporary feminist thought.
