The Chatham House Version Elie Kedourie, 2004-03-29 No better guide than Profesor Kedourie s book can be fond to the pitfalls awaiting those who seek to control the Middle East to their own advantage Asian Affairs The Blue Book ,1973

Whole Men Kai Jensen, 1996 Kai Jensen takes a provocative look at masculinity in New Zealand literature He argues that New Zealand writing around the Second World War was shaped by excitement about masculinity as a way of challenging society Inspired partly by Marxism writers such as A R D Fairburn Denis Glover John Mulgan and Frank Sargeson linked national identity to the ordinary working man or soldier and attempted to merge artistic activity and manliness in a new ideal the whole man This masculine excitement forged a literary and intellectual culture which was powerful for thirty years and which discouraged women writers Jensen suggests that the aftermath of masculinism still influences the way New Zealand intellectuals see themselves and that the masculine tradition survives in the writing of Owen Marshall Sam Hunt Maurice Shadbolt and even Maurice Gee At the same time he argues that masculinism underwent a process of change after its high point in the 1940s Frank Sargeson s closeted homosexuality posed a complex problem for the masculine tradition and its historians and James K Baxter s symbolic Jungian poetry was also hard to reconcile with the idea that men s writing must be based on robust experience Yet Baxter prepared the masculine tradition for the 1960s and 1970s by renovating the whole man as bohemian lover Whole Men is not just about one literary movement but about how literary culture works and how New Zealand intellectuals construct their identities Subject-index of the London Library, St. James's Square,

Tomorrow Perhaps the Future Sarah Watling, 2023-05-09 A NEW YORKER BEST BOOK OF THE YEAR An extraordinary account of the women artists and activists whose determination to live and to create with courage and conviction took them as far as the Spanish Civil War Now as certainly as never before we are determined or compelled to take sides Nancy Cunard An attempted insurrection a country divided a democracy threatened It was the Spanish Civil War of 1936 surprisingly that Sarah Watling found herself drawn to when confounded by the tumultuous politics of our present day This was a conflict that galvanized tens of thousands of volunteers from around the world to join the fight For them the choice seemed clear either you were for fascism or you were against it Seeking to understand how they knew that the moment to act had arrived Watling sifts through archives for lost journals letters and manifestos discovering a trove of work by writers and outsiders who had often been relegated to the shadows of famous men like Ernest Hemingway and George Orwell She encounters the rookie journalist Martha Gellhorn coming into her own in Spain and the radical writer Josephine Herbst questioning her political allegiances She finds the novelist Sylvia Townsend Warner embracing a freedom in Barcelona that was impossible for queer women back at home in England and by contrast Virginia Woolf struggling to keep the war out of her life honing her intellectual position as she did so She tracks down the stories of Gerda Taro a Jewish photographer whose work had long been misattributed and Salaria Kea a nurse from Harlem who saw the war as a chance to combat the prejudice she experienced as a woman of color Here were individuals seizing an opportunity to oppose the forces that frightened them From a variety of backgrounds and beliefs these women saw history coming and they went out to meet it Yet the reality was far from simple When does tolerance become apathy Where is the line between solidarity and appropriation Is writing about the revolution the same as actively participating in it With profound personal insight Watling reveals that their answers are as relevant today as they were then

Tomorrow Is Another Day Stuart M. Kaminsky, 2011-12-13 Frankly a killer doesn t give a damn about offing Clark Gable or Toby Peters in this fast paced and colorful addition to a very successful series Publishers Weekly On December 10 1938 Atlanta burned again In the back lot at David O Selznick s studio sets from a dozen old pictures were pushed together and set ablaze to provide a backdrop for the climax of what Selznick promised to be the movie of the century Gone with the Wind. Toby Peters then just a studio security guard was on hand to help keep the Confederate extras in line. When the fire was over he found one of them dead impaled on his own sword. Five years later Peters scratches out a living as a private detective for Hollywood's best known stars. Now it's Clark Gable who needs his help. He's been getting death threats. On the back of a cryptic poem the sleuth finds a list of people on scene the night the extra died. Two are already dead and the rest are next. Sure enough one of those marked for death is Gable. The other is Toby Peters. Nostalgic readers with a yen for the good old days will find Kaminsky's story entertaining, clever, eminently readable and chock full of snippets from Hollywood's Golden Age.

Booklist See You Tomorrow Jeremy Evans, 2021-05-01 Marco Siffredi was the first person to make a complete snowboard descent of Mount Everest in 2001 and was regarded by many as the world's best snowboarder. But the following year in 2002 Marco mysteriously disappeared on Everest while attempting a more difficult route known as Hornbein Couloir, an unrelentingly steep difficult to access route with a high failure rate. Using exclusive never before granted interviews with family and friends Evans aims to solve Everest's greatest mystery in nearly a century while exploring Marco's pursuit of a dream, his love of freedom and adventure and how his French family was forever altered by his loss.
