Searching And Researching On The Internet And The World Wide Web:

Searching & Researching on the Internet & the World Wide Web Karen Hartman, Ernest C. Ackermann, 2005

Hartman and Ackermann both Mary Washington College offer a work on how to search for information on the Internet. They thoroughly overview Internet searching and discuss search tools and strategies, directories, search engines, and specialized tools searching for news and multimedia, and citing and evaluating Internet information. The strength of this book is the hands-on chapters that contain examples meant to appeal to students from a variety of disciplines. Each chapter contains practice exercises designed to allow readers to master fundamental search skills. Additionally, the chapters are compartmentalized, allowing readers to skip materials they feel are unnecessary or with which they are already familiar. The target audience for this book is readers with little knowledge of Internet searching and those who desire a primer on this topic. However, this book is also a helpful resource for any level of Web searcher because it contains in-depth information on current search engines and their features as well as other relevant Internet search tools.

Searching and Researching on the Internet and the World Wide Web Ernest C. Ackermann, Karen Hartman, 2000. The second edition of this textbook for an Internet research course takes a cross-browser approach that provides for both Netscape Navigator and Internet Explorer. PC and Mac. The disk contains HTML versions of the exercises. Annotation c. Book News, Inc. Portland, OR: booknews.com.

The Information Specialist's Guide to Searching and Researching on the Internet and the World Wide Web Ernest C. Ackermann, Karen Hartman, 1999-01-01. Written by a professor of computer science and a reference librarian, this guide covers basic browser usage, e-mail, and discussion groups; discusses such Internet staples as FTP and Usenet newsgroups; presents and compares numerous search engines; and includes models for acquiring, evaluating, and citing resources within the context of a research project. The emphasis of the book is on learning how to create search strategies and search expressions, how to evaluate information critically, and how to cite resources. All of these skills are presented as within the context of step-by-step activities designed to teach basic Internet research skills to the beginner and to hone the skills of the seasoned practitioner.
