Noche Insular:

Antología de la poesía hispanoamericana actual Julio Ortega, 1987-01-01 Selección cuyo sentido radica en la actividad del lector en esa lectura que organiza los textos como un proyecto de su propia aventura y goce creadores No se supedita ni al medio ni a la historia ni siquiera a las tendencias literarias Quiere ser fiel a esa experiencia nica que es la lectura de poesía a su escenario de un habla compartida que la convierte en un ritual primitivo tanto como en una operación disolvente de los códigos restrictivos

Muerte de Narciso José Lezama Lima, 1988 Esta antología presenta una de las aventuras más singulares de la lengua española en el siglo veinte la escritura imaginativa del cubano José Lezama Lima 1910-1976 uno de los maestros más intensos de la fabulación verbal en nuestro tiempo Guía secreta de muchos escritores narradores y poetas espíritu aislado que mostraba el vertigo del sedentarismo en sus páginas y en su conversación

The Poetry of the Americas Harris Feinsod, 2017-09-08 The Poetry of the Americas offers a lively and detailed history of relations among poets in the US and Latin America spanning three decades from the Good Neighbor diplomacy of World War II through the Cold War cultural policies of the late 1960s Connecting works by Martín Adán Elizabeth Bishop Paul Blackburn Jorge Luis Borges Julia de Burgos Ernesto Cardenal Jorge Carrera Andrade Allen Ginsberg Langston Hughes José Lezama Lima Pablo Neruda Charles Olson Octavio Paz Heberto Padilla Wallace Stevens Derek Walcott William Carlos Williams and many others Feinsod reveals how poets of many nations imagined a poetry of the Americas that linked multiple cultures even as it reflected the inequities of the inter American political system This account offers a rich contextual study of the state sponsored institutions and the countercultural networks that sustained this poetry from Nelson Rockefeller's Office of the Coordinator for Inter American Affairs to the mid 1960s avant garde scene in Mexico City This innovative literary historical project enables new readings of such canonical poems as Stevens's Notes Toward a Supreme Fiction and Neruda's The Heights of Macchu Picchu but it positions these alongside lesser known poetry translations anthologies literary journals and private correspondences culled from library archives across the Americas The Poetry of the Americas thus broadens the horizons of reception and mutual influence and of formal historical and political possibility through which we encounter midcentury American poetry recasting traditional categories of U S or Latin American literature within a truly hemispheric vision

Assimilation/generation/resurrection Ben A. Heller, 1997 Cuban author José Lezama Lima 1910-76 produced some of the most enigmatic and important poetry in the Spanish language He did this during a turbulent moment in Cuban history a period of social unrest radical change in political systems and attempts at cultural self definition While some have argued that his poetry evades these circumstances Assimilation Generation Resurrection adopts a contextual approach and reveals the extent of Lezama's engagement with the defining political and cultural issues of his day It also lays bare the underlying connection of this poetry to a weave of intertexts Lezama's productive interaction with several traditions Intimidating in its philosophical scope and linguistic complexity Lezama's poetry has received far less critical attention than his prose The present study rectifies this critical imbalance foregrounding the poetry while discussing three issues that link disparate areas of Lezama's literary production. These issues: cultural assimilation, generation, and resurrection are central elements in Lezama's poetics yet are also pertinent to wide-ranging debates on Latin American cultural identity. This study reads key poems from each of his published books of poetry using an interpretive approach forged from diverse yet cohering sources including Lezama's own theories on reading and writing. After a brief methodological excursus and a first contextualization of Lezama's poetics vis-à-vis a number of other Cuban writers, this study considers Lezama's early assimilation of a number of initiatory texts as well as his indirect but crucial response to the social concerns of the 1930s. Assimilation, Generation, Resurrection makes clear that Lezama's poetry owes its existence to an engagement with cultural artifacts and social circumstances more generally. Yet it is far more than a response. It constantly attempts to go beyond, generating the new at the intersection of the old and the as yet uncreated. The result of this practice is a poetry that claims the power both to translate over distance and to resurrect by virtue of the image.

Transatlantic Travels in Nineteenth-Century Latin America Adriana Méndez Rodenas, 2013-12-12. Transatlantic Travels in Nineteenth-Century Latin America. European Women Pilgrims retraces the steps of five intrepid lady travelers who ventured into the geography of the New World: Mexico, the Southern Cone, Brazil, and the Caribbean at a crucial historical juncture, the period of political anarchy following the break from Spain and the rise of modernity at the turn of the twentieth century. Traveling as historians, social critics, ethnographers, and artists, Frances Erskine Inglis (1806-82), Maria Graham (1785-1842), Flora Tristan (1803-44), Fredrika Bremer (1801-65), and Adela Breton (1849-1923) reshaped the map of nineteenth-century Latin America. Organized by themes rather than by individual authors, this book examines European women's travels as a spectrum of narrative discourses ranging from natural history, history, and ethnography. Women's social condition becomes a focal point of their travels. By combining diverse genres and perspectives, women's travel writing ushers a new vision of post-independence societies. The trope of pilgrimage conditions the female travel experience, which suggests both the meta-end of the journey as well as the broader cultural frame shaping their individual itineraries.
