Challenges and Issues in Knowledge Management Anthony F. Buono, Flemming Poulfelt, 2005-09-01 Challenges and Issues in Knowledge Management the fifth volume in the Research on Management Consulting series presents sixteen chapters that explore these various perspectives focusing on knowledge management within the context of the management consulting industry the dynamics associated with knowledge sharing and dissemination methodological approaches to studying knowledge in organizations and reflections on knowledge management and management consulting As the chapters underscore it is important to ensure that KM initiatives are aligned with the needs of the organization and its members that the KM system is owned by organizational members with particular emphasis on executive sponsorship and team member acceptance and that it be understood as an ongoing process rather than simply another management objective or faddish consulting tool The focus therefore should be on how knowledge processes can be facilitated leveraged and utilized in organizational value creation Developing Knowledge and Value in Management Consulting Anthony F.

Buono,2002-07-01 The second volume in the Research in Management Consulting series focuses on developing knowledge and value in management consulting While there has been an exponential explosion in both the presence and role played by management consultants the exact nature of their contribution to client organizations to our understanding of management and organization to our comprehension of the increasingly complex dynamics associated with business in a global marketplace and to the development of their own firms remains ambiguous Just as the business world is experiencing rapid and at times volatile change the consulting industry itself is also facing unprecedented change and challenge Over the next decade forecasts suggest a world of difference for management consulting from different competitors and different types of projects and assignments to different skill sets and different fee structures to different client expectations Management of Data Processing Equipment United States. Managing The Professional Service Firm David H. Maister, 2012-12-11 Professional service firms differ from other business enterprises in two distinct ways: first, they provide highly customised services; thus, cannot apply many of the management principles developed for product-based industries. Second, professional services are highly personalised, involving the skills of individuals. Such firms must therefore compete not only for clients but also for talented professionals. Drawing on more than ten years of research and consulting to these unique and creative companies, David Maister explores issues ranging from marketing and business development to multinational strategies, human resources policies to profit improvement, strategic planning to effective leadership. While these issues can be complex, Maister simplifies them by recognising that every professional service firm in the world regardless of size specific profession or country of operation has the same mission statement outstanding service to clients satisfying careers for its people and financial success for its owners Practice Management for Design Professionals John Philip Bachner,1991-09-03

In the mid 1960s geotechnical engineers paid the highest liability insurance of any profession and by 1969 were virtually uninsurable As a result the ASFE was founded and helped these engineers not only lower their insurance rates but get to the point where by 1980 they were the least liability prone members of the design profession Now John Bachner and the ASFE tell all other design professionals how to accomplish the same task This book which incorporates the ASFE s Introduction to Professional Practice program for advancing architects and engineers knowledge of professional practice issues addresses almost every aspect of the design professionals practice as they relate to liability from procedures for verifying the accuracy of technical output to steps for improving client and project selection workscope development personnel training and dispute resolution The Merlot
