Lessons Learned in the Classroom Elizabeth Baker Murphy, 2008-06 LESSONS LEARNED IN THE CLASSROOM Inspiring upbeat and optimistic yet honest and hard hitting when necessary Into the mix of issues and people she takes on Murphy constantly brings the joy of her vocation her very special love of the classroom and of her students a commitment that has kept her working hard for thirty one years despite many challenges personal and public Murphy creates an unforgettable cast of characters and always she remembers the students who have touched her heart and motivated her teaching Author Dianne Aprile Her chronicle of heartbreaking struggles and heartfelt passion gives readers insight into the heart soul passion and lifeblood of what it means to be a teacher IUS Writing Project Director Dr K S Bailey The Business Model Innovation Factory Saul Kaplan, 2012-03-23 Business model innovation is the new strategic imperative for all leaders Blockbuster s executives saw Netflix coming Yet they stuck with their bricks and mortar business model losing billions in shareholder value They were netflixed Business models don t last as long as they used to Historically CEO s have managed a single business model over their entire careers Today all organizations must be capable of designing prototyping and experimenting with new business models The Business Model Innovation Factory provides leaders with the survival skills to create a pipeline of new business models in the face of disruptive markets and competition Avoid being netflixed Your organization must be a business model innovator to stay competitive in today s turbulent world Author Saul Kaplan is the founder and chief catalyst of the Business Innovation Factory BIF a real world laboratory for exploring and testing new business models and social systems BIF has attracted a global community of over five thousand innovators and organizes the internationally renowned BIF Collaborative Innovation Summit None of Our Business Crystal M. England, 2003 At last an insider s look at the insidious intrusion of corporate interests into American classrooms Former middle school principal Crystal England makes it perfectly clear that schooling as business is no schooling at all When bottom lines are more important than developing minds then students families and teachers pay and pay big Her book examines the assertion and assumption that with more front end management and an increasingly open market schools could experience the success of corporations an assertion that begs the real questions Is education an art or an industry What matters most product or process In each of her seven chapters England explores exactly how and why the school business model does not and cannot work She addresses such issues as expectations marketing standards the education audience assessment nontraditional environments and choice legislation Balancing practical wisdom with current research England makes a consistently strong case against what amounts to assembly line education using the business model Quality principles sound marketing and other basic business tenets might mold products But in the complicated community of diversity that is today s classroom it is the individual teacher who creates harmony out of chaos and ensures real learning despite threats and ultimatums
