Beyond Early Writing David Waugh, Adam Bushnell, Sally Neaum, 2025-02-28 This essential text for primary trainees and teachers examines the key skill of writing beyond the earliest school years Teaching writing involves much more than simply teaching the mechanics of spelling grammar and punctuation important though these are There are particular issues around writing in school including the fact that children s writing consistently lags behind their reading in external tests such as SATs boys relative lack of success and teachers lack of confidence in modelling writing This book addresses these topics as well as focusing on other pertinent practice issues such as working with proficient writers engaging disengaged writers and working with children who have EAL and SEN

Just Imagine James Carter, 2013-08-21 First published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Teaching Speaking and Listening in the Primary School Elizabeth Grugeon, Lorraine Hubbard, Carol Smith, Lyn Dawes, 2014-06-03 This newly revised second edition looks at ways in which teachers can develop children's abilities in speaking and listening as required by the National Curriculum. The authors discuss the links between language and learning, offer case studies and suggestions for classroom practice and provide stimulating activities to help pupils to become more articulate, coherent and effective in standard English. The book is a suitable text for students taking primary initial teacher training courses. It will also be welcomed as a practical handbook for primary teachers. Improving Teaching and Learning In the Core Curriculum Kate Ashcroft, Professor Kate Ashcroft, John Lee, 2005-08-16

How can teachers respond creatively to the demands of the literacy and numeracy hours? Can children be taught to behave like scientists? How can teachers remain reflective and independent during this period of government direction? Non-Fiction Guided Reading Handbook, 2004-03

Developing Language and Literacy 3-8 Ann Browne, 2009-01-19 I would thoroughly recommend this as a book which enables and empowers at many levels of experience. Every staff room should have a copy. English Four to Eleven. The Third Edition of Developing Language and Literacy 3-8 is an insightful introduction to teaching and learning English in the early years. The new edition has been fully updated to reflect requirements for teaching English in the early years, including the new curriculum guidance for the Early Years Foundation Stage and the new Primary Framework. It covers all aspects of language and literacy and draws on contemporary ideas, research and classroom expertise to guide practice. The book includes chapters on Speaking and Listening, Reading Resources for Language and Literacy, Writing, Spelling, Handwriting and Punctuation, Bilingual Learners, Language, Literacy and Gender, Children with Difficulties, Involving Parents and Carers, Assessment, Planning. Along with activities to promote reflective practice, the author provides suggestions for further reading and useful websites. Further resource material for each chapter accompanies the book on the SAGE website www.sagepub.co.uk. Browne. This book will be an essential guide for early years and primary trainee teachers.

Practical Steps to the Research Process for Elementary School Deborah B. Stanley, 2001-12-15

The third and final book in Stanley's three-volume group for all grade levels, this work simplifies teaching the research process with step-by-step instructions that are adaptable and comprehensive, geared especially for your youngest students. If Stanley's practical steps to the research process for middle and high schools are already a hit with your students, reach for this book next.

Resources in Education, 2001-10 Primary Teaching Assistants Curriculum in Context Carrie Cable, 2014-03-18

Teaching assistants are uniquely placed to support children's involvement with learning through the curriculum. This book explores those issues that are central to that process. Specifically, it examines strategies for supporting learning and assessment in English, maths and science, inclusive and imaginative practices in all areas of learning, home and community contexts for learning, working practices which support professional development. This book is written primarily for learning support staff.

Primary English Curriculum Guide Christine Moorcroft, Ray Barker, 2013-11-26

First Published in 2001. The purpose of this curriculum guide is to help student teachers and newly qualified teachers to make a start on learning how to become competent teachers of English. Despite the emphasis given in training courses to the teaching of English newly qualified teachers often feel underprepared for it and frequently mention their concerns about this. These concerns can be partly explained by a general lack of confidence in this key area and partly by widespread media and political criticism of the teaching of literacy. It is also because it is often difficult for a student to make the connection between observation of key teaching strategies and his or her own personal practice.

Young Researchers Margaret Mallett, 2002-02-07 Informational kinds of reading are crucial in every lesson. This book looks at how we can encourage children from the very beginning to think of themselves as young researchers using skills and strategies for clear purposes. It argues that the creative practitioner nurtures children's sense of wonder and curiosity about the world and all its phenomena. Packed full of advice on how to use the most stimulating and exciting texts and the liveliest approaches, the book celebrates the good practice of teachers and student teachers in a large number of classroom case studies. The content includes a summary of the recent developments and a framework of principles to inform good practice in this challenging aspect of literacy, chapters concentrating on particular age groups beginning with the nursery and ending with the later primary years and thus taking up an essentially developmental approach, an assessment of recent research and how findings can be put to practical and creative use in the classroom. A central message is that children benefit from collaborating with teachers and peers at every stage of finding out. The spoken language energises informational reading and writing, making the sharing of the fruits of children's research highly enjoyable. This book will inspire you and lead to the very best practice.

Teaching Through Texts Holly Anderson, Morag Styles, 2002-02-07 Drawing on many popular and literary texts, the contributors to this book write with enthusiasm about opportunities for creative teaching and learning and provide many examples of good practice both inside and outside the Literacy Hour.

Supporting Literacy Kate Grant, 2002-01-22 Classroom assistants are increasingly relied upon to support the most needy pupils and they have had significantly less training than their colleagues with qualified teacher status. It is clear that these assistants need some very practical materials. This book provides photocopiable resources so that classroom assistants can get to work. The book covers all they need to know about literacy; it explains in very simple terms what is expected from them and how the National Literacy Strategy works; how to support reading, writing and spelling; how to select fiction and non-fiction; how to help children use computers. It also covers issues such as how to help children for whom English is not their first language; how to help children with special needs; how to set targets and monitor progress. As well as providing an invaluable manual for assistants, Supporting Literacy will be useful for SENCOs and English Co-ordinators who are training support staff and volunteers in primary schools. Learning Support Assistants and others following recognised courses, e.g. Specialist Teacher's Assistants, will find the book helpful in the study of children's literacy.

Promoting Reading for Pleasure in the Primary School Michael Lockwood, 2008-06-24 Winner of the UKLA Author Award 2009. Lockwood has written a useful supportive book which will help teachers and librarians. He describes the background and summarises the research and then proposes thoroughly practical programmes. Carousel

Michael Lockwood has produced an excellent practical overview and analysis of what works in the primary school to promote reading for pleasure Lockwood's work is grounded and valuable to those who need it most teachers in the classroom working hard to engender a love of reading English Drama Media This book is first class It puts the matter very clearly and succinctly and presents a great deal of evidence to support the argument that pleasure is not a frivolous extra but the very heart and essence of what reading is about It also gives readers plenty of ideas for carrying the principle into the classroom and for justifying it This is an excellent piece of work which I hope will find a place on every staffroom bookshelf Philip Pullman

English primary school children are less likely to read for pleasure than their counterparts in many other countries This practical and focused book discusses the background to this situation and looks at how government initiatives have tried to address it Drawing on the author's own research project in order to identify good practice in promoting reading for enjoyment the book presents specific activities which teachers can use to develop their own whole school and classroom practice enabling them to put the fun back into reading Each chapter features case study material and provides examples of planning from schools that have successfully created thriving reading cultures through schemes such as reading assemblies book clubs library loyalty cards school book evenings and quizzes There is also an extensive annotated list of print and internet based resources Topics covered include Becoming a reading for pleasure school Promoting a love of reading in the early years Developing reading enjoyment in the later primary years Getting boys reading Promoting Reading for Pleasure in the Primary School is written for all those involved in education who would like to see as many children as possible develop a love of reading It will be particularly relevant for primary teachers teaching assistants trainee teachers advisers and consultants as well as teacher educators and researchers
