The Nonprofit Sector in Interesting Times Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). School of Policy Studies, 2003 Relying upon the traditional virtues of innovation and commitment these organisations are redefining their relationship with governments forging new intrasectoral alliances learning new virtual realities and altering their behaviour to suit shifting funding and policy imperatives In The Nonprofit Sector in Interesting Times the authors capture this changing environment and evaluate its effects on voluntary organisations as they strive to serve Canadians better whether at the federal level across the provinces or in rural communities The cases explored here include internet regulation and privacy legislation conservation efforts and biodiversity the savings behaviour of NPOs the breast cancer policy community and voluntary sector government compacts Contributors include Kathy Brock Philippe Barla Universit Laval Malcolm Grieve Acadia Femida Handy York University Alison Li York University Agnes Meinhard and Mary Foster Ryerson University and Susan Phillips Carleton University Government-Nonprofit Relations in Times of Recession Rachel Laforest, 2016-04-24 Government Nonprofit Relations in Times of Recession brings together contributions by international scholars to examine how the relationships between governments and nonprofit organizations have shifted as a result of the global recession Each chapter provides a detailed analysis of the impact of the recession on government operations and on the nonprofit sector It is essential reading for academics and practitioners interested in the current policy agendas with regard to the nonprofit sector This book is the sixth volume to emerge from the Public Policy and Third Sector Initiative in the School of Policy Studies at Queen's University and is based on the Tenth Annual National Forum of the Initiative which brought together public servants experts and practitioners to discuss the evolution of government nonprofit relations Contributors include Nicholas Acheson University of Ulster John Butcher Australian National University John Casey City University of New York Gemma Donnelly Cox Trinity College John A Healy Atlantic Philanthropies Rachel Laforest Queen's University Barbara Levine Carleton University Carmen Parra University Abat Oliba Ceu Colin Rochester University of London Björn Schmitz University of Heidelberg Steven Rathgeb Smith American University The University of Washington Marilyn Taylor University of London Evren Tok Hamad Bin Kkalifa University and Meta Zimmeck Roehampton University Reconsidering the Institutions of Canadian Federalism J. Peter Meekison, Hamish Telford, Harvey Lazar, 2004 Beginning with an examination of the role of traditional institutions such as Parliament Cabinet the Supreme Court and political parties Canada State of the Federation 2002 affirms the long held belief that these bodies do not provide effective forums for interregional bargaining creating a void that has been filled at least in part by executive federalism Contributors conclude that the performance of traditional institutions taken as a whole has deteriorated over the last several decades placing more pressure on the processes of executive federalism Canadian Fiscal Arrangements Harvey Lazar, 2005-08-18 The key issues in fiscal federalism will be debated once again when the federal government the provinces and the territories return to the negotiating table Ottawa has appointed an expert panel on equalization and territorial formula financing and the provinces and territories have established an advisory panel on fiscal imbalance Both will report in the first half of 2006 after which the negotiating pace will accelerate In a timely collection contributors from the government and academia tackle these fiscal policy issues from a broad spectrum of perspectives Health Advocacy, Inc. Sharon Batt, 2017-06-15 Over the past several decades a gradual reduction in state funding has pressured patient groups into forming private sector partnerships raising an important ethical question do these alliances ultimately lead to policies that are counter to the public interest Health activist scholar and cancer survivor Sharon Batt examines the issue by investigating Canada's breast cancer movement from 1990 to 2010 Health Advocacy Inc dissects the relationship between the companies that sell pharmaceuticals and the individuals who use them drawing links between neoliberalism and corporate financing and the ensuing threat to the public health care system Combining archival analysis interviews with advocacy and industry representatives and personal observation Batt argues that the resulting power imbalance continues to challenge the groups ability to put patients interests ahead of those of the funders A movement that once encouraged democratic participation in the development of health policy now eerily echoes the demands of the pharmaceutical industry Batt's thorough account of this shift defines the stakes of activism in public health today

Education University of Toronto Sherida Ryan is the co ordinator of the Community University Research Alliance on Social Business for Marginalized Social Groups at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Human Security as Statecraft Nik Hynek,2012-02-20 This book critically investigates the discourses and practices of human security and aims to delve below the stereotypical imageries representing them Drawing on Foucault and Deleuze the author approaches human security from a new perspective with the aim of ascertaining what has been behind and underneath a certain spatio temporal articulation of human security and with what political implications and consequences Each human security assemblage is composed of messy discourses and practices which are loosely related and sometimes even disconnected This book examines the Canadian and Japanese articulations of human security and establishes the kinds of structural terrains have enabled shaped or blocked the unfolding of these versions of human security The pivotal contention of the book is that Canadian and Japanese articulations of human security have been different because they have grown from completely different domestic economies of power governing the relationship between the state apparatus and the non profit and voluntary sector While the Canadian human security assemblage has been shaped by transformations in the country s advanced liberal model of government the Japanese has been shaped by the continuities of Japan s bureaucratic authoritarianism A novel approach is employed for the related process tracing a general series linking structural conditions with actual articulations of the human security projects and their further development including analysis of their unintended consequences This book will be of much interest to students of Critical Security Studies human security global governance foreign policy and IR Security studies High Ideals and Noble Intentions Peter R. Elson,2011-01-01 The relationships between governments and the voluntary sector in Canada are long standing and complex Beginning with an historical overview of developments in voluntary sector government relations from 1600 to 1930 High Ideals and Noble Intentions goes on to explore more recent events and to bring present day policy and practice into focus Peter R Elson examines critical historical events in the relationship between the federal government and the voluntary sector which continue to exert their influence He demonstrates through in depth case studies that these events are critical to understanding contemporary voluntary sector government relations Elson explores the impact of the regulation of charities based on amendments to the 1930 Income War Tax Act the shift from citizen based program funding to service based contract funding in the mid 1990s and advocacy regulation changes in the 1980s Elson s case is strengthened by an important and timely comparison between voluntary sector and central government relations in Canada and England This historically informed comparative analysis provides the basis for practical recommendations meant to improve the future of voluntary sector government relations across Canada Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index ,1975 Mobilizing Mercy Sarah Glassford,2016-11-01 For more than a century the Canadian Red Cross Society has provided help and comfort to vulnerable people at home and abroad In the first detailed national history of the organization Sarah Glassford reveals how the European born Red Cross movement came to Canada and took root and why it flourished From its origins in battlefield medicine to the creation of Canada's first nationwide free blood transfusion service during the Cold War Mobilizing Mercy charts crucial organizational changes the influence of key leaders and the impact of social cultural political economic and international trends over time Glassford shows that the key to the Red Cross's longevity lies in its ability to reinvent itself by tapping into the concerns and ambitions of diverse groups including militia doctors government officials middle class women and schoolchildren Through periods of war and peace the Canadian Red Cross pioneered new services and filled gaps in government aid to become a ubiquitous agency on the wartime home front a major domestic public health organization and a respected provider of international humanitarian aid Opening a window onto the shifting relationship between voluntary organizations and the state Mobilizing Mercy is a compelling portrait of a major humanitarian organization its people and its ever evolving place in Canadian society

Collaborative Governance Janine O'Flynn, John Wanna, 2008-12-01 Collaboration has emerged as a central concept in public policy circles in Australia and a panacea to the complex challenges facing Australia But is this really the cure all it seems to be In this edited collection we present scholarly and practitioner perspectives on the drivers challenges prospects and promise of collaboration The papers first presented at the 2007 ANZSOG Conference draw on the extensive experience of the contributors in either trying to enact collaboration or studying the processes of this phenomenon Together the collection provides important insights into the potential of collaboration but also the fiercely stubborn barriers to adopting more collaborative approaches to policy and implementation The collection includes chapter from public servants third sector managers and both Australian and international academics which together make it a stimulating read for those working with or within government It adds considerably to the debate about how to address current challenges of public policy and provides a significant resource for those interested in the realities of collaborative governance

Choice of Force David Last, Bernd Horn, 2005-05-01 Twenty years from now security issues may dictate that counter terrorism is more important than operations to secure stability and rule of law Security at the border ethnic demography and the perspective of the next generation will determine what strategic choices Canada will make about special military operations and the elite forces developed to carry out special missions
